BYRD PRAISES CHICAGO AIDS AS CITY HAILS HIM

Reveals Plans for New Expedition.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and members of his polar exploration party sat at a banquet table in the Stevens hotel last night and listened to words of praise spoken by a score of Chicago notables. The formal reception, attended by more than 1,500 persons who crowded into the grand ballroom of the hotel, climaxed Chicago's greeting to the explorer and his men.

Earlier in the day the admiral and his comrades paraded through the loop and were cheered wildly where they passed in the street. Crowds jammed loop sidewalks and pushed out into the street, shouting and whistling. Ticker tape and confetti showered down from tall buildings along Jackson boulevard and La Salle street.

But Admiral Byrd did not come as a conquering hero, although Chicago accepted him as such. He came—and he emphasized this in his speech last night—to do honor to the Chicago man who spent more than a year with him in Little America, who helped add new discoveries to science and a new empire to the world.

Crowd Cheers Admiral.

The crowd rose and cheered the admiral for five minutes when he was introduced last night at the banquet, which was sponsored by the Press club. He smiled graciously and waved them to silence. His first words were: "I am here as a representative of my men. They share the honors equally with me."

He asked for the privilege of introducing the Chicago men to the audience, remarking, "They are a splendid bunch, and one of my principal reasons for coming here today was to join in paying them honor." The Chicagoans were George Thorne, C. O. Peterson, Capt. Alton Parker, and Lloyd Grenlie. Another who was introduced was Walter Perkins of Kenosha.

Of "Mike" Thorne Admiral Byrd said:

"He was the chief surveyor and driver of the dog teams on the 1,500 mile trip to the Queen Maude range of mountains to make a geological survey and establish the emergency base 300 miles from the south pole. It was the longest overland dog trip ever made in the interests of pure science.

"Radio the Big Romance."

"The biggest romance of the expedition was the radio. We took along four radio engineers and were always in touch with our men on the ice, with New York, and with our ships in New Zealand. If we had been made to pay for this communication it would have cost us $1,000,000.

"Radio and aviation and the dogs, I believe, did more than anything else to make our venture a success. They were extremely efficient. But I found that what counts more than efficiency on a venture of this kind is loyalty and character, and these qualities we found in the two radio men from Chicago, Lloyd Grenlie and Carl Peterson.

"Capt. Parker, pilot of the plane when the discovery was made of new antarctic land, was a resident of Chicago before he left on the expedition. This land is now claimed for the United States. He was with me before on the north polar expedition, and I hope he is with me when I make another trip.

South Polar Region Lonely.

"The south pole is situated on a vast plateau 10,000 feet above sea level. Where the north pole abounds in animal life, the antarctic supports no living thing aside from a few native plants. tI is silent and dead and lonely.

"Those who stayed in Little America did not see land for 16 months. We were clothed in the skins of reindeer, seals, polar bears, and wolves, which the Eskimos wear in the arctic. Our little city was situated on the great Ross ice barrier, and our homes were dug in the snow.

"We had a dozen dwellings all connected by tunnels under the snow, and these we used when the blizzards raged outside. Our gymnasium was a large room tunneled in the snow, and there the temperature was 40 degrees below zero when it was 72 below on the surface."

Other Speakers at Banquet.

Among those who spoke at the banquet were Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce; Ald. George

BRUNKER PLAN OF INQUIRY IS REFUTED BY TWO

Misled by Proposal, Says F. J. Loesch.

DEVELOPMENTS

1 Discovery that the Julius Rosenheim murder still is an open matter before a coroner's jury and that the murder hearing was postponed at a time when it was not yet known that Rosenheim was a police, vice, and crime investigator for the Chicago Daily News.

2 Repudiation by Frank J. Loesch and Augustus Peabody of their support of a movement to interfere with the conduct of the Lingle investigation by State's Attorney Swanson through Assistant State's Attorney Rathbun.

Two civic leaders whose names were attached to a demand for the ouster of Charles F. Rathbun, member of THE TRIBUNE law firm and assistant state's attorney in charge of the investigation of the murder of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, TRIBUNE reporter, indignantly repudiated the demand yesterday afternoon as soon as it was published.

One of them said he never signed the demand; the other said he had been led by false pretenses to permit his name to be attached to it.

A third individual, Albert R. Brunker, who was revealed as one of the instigators of the demand, insisted that the demand had not even been sent to State's Attorney Swanson, to whom it was supposedly addressed, and that the proposition was "simply under consideration."

Brunker Denies Intent.

Brunker professed to be mystified as to how the letter came to be published yesterday afternoon in the Chicago Daily News, and he declared further that he could not understand how the editors of the Daily News could interpret his letter as a demand for the removal of Mr. Rathbun. The Daily News printed the story with great display and other afternoon papers followed suit.

The two civic leaders whose names were used in the letter as published by the Daily News are Augustus Peabody, president of the Citizens' association, and Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission.

Hearst Story Also Altered.

Mr. Hearst's Herald and Examiner followed the lead of the afternoon papers, printing the Brunker letter as fact in its early editions. After THE TRIBUNE'S publication of the repudiation by Messrs. Loesch and Peabody of their part in the letter the Herald and Examiner altered its story.

Augustus Peabody, interviewed by reporters in the late afternoon, expressed anger over the use of his name. He said:

"Mr. Brunker came to me with a suggestion that I join in the demand, and I stated to him that the matter would be taken up at the meeting of the Citizens' association board of directors next week.

"I gave no one authority to use my name on the letter to State's Attorney Swanson and I repudiate it."

Story Is Changed.

The Daily News in its home editions used the name of Mr. Peabody as a joiner in the demand and in later editions altered their story by dropping Mr. Peabody's name and using the following explanation:

"Directors of the Citizens' association also met this noon to discuss joining in the movement. The meeting adjourned until Tuesday, next without action. Earlier announcement that Augustus S. Peabody, president of the association, had signed the letter was erroneous."

Mr. Loesch irately declared that he had been imposed upon by Brunker.

Mr. Loesch's Statement.

"Brunker came to me with a story that Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce; Augustus Peabody, President W. P. Sidley of the Chicago Bar association, and others desired me to join in the petition to Judge Swanson," Mr. Loesch said. "We discussed the letter by Col. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE, in which he suggested to the state's attorney that Mr. Rathbun was too busy in the Lingle inquiry to take up other investigations which have presented themselves as necessary.

"I have felt no distrust of THE TRIBUNE law firm, nor of Mr. Rathbun, whom I regard most highly. I am perfectly satisfied with the way in

VOLIVA BEATEN IN PROPOSAL TO SPLIT TOWNSHIP

The Lake county board of supervisors on Thursday defeated the proposal of Overseer Wilbur Voliva of Zion City to divide Benton township into two townships. Independents yesterday rejoiced over their first political victory over Voliva.

He proposed that Zion City comprise a township to be known as Zion township and the rest of the political unit function under the old name. His motion was lost by a vote of 18 to 15, three of the latter votes being cast by supervisors who had been elected with his support. State's Attorney A. V. Smith declared that the decision of the board cannot be appealed.

Independents said that Voliva made his proposal because the influx of new voters into the township outside of the city threatens his balance of votes.

NAB SALTIS' PAL WITH GUNS AFTER AUTO ACCIDENT

The county highway police at Morton Grove early this morning were holding a gunman seized in a chase after his automobile had sidewiped and knocked into the ditch the car of Edward J. Tooke, 1164 South Elmwood avenue, at North avenue and the River road. Tooke said the man had threatened him and his brother, William, with a pistol after the accident.

The prisoner refused to give any name but John Doe, but boasted that he was returning from a visit to Joe Saltis, south side beer gangster, at Eagle River, Wis. Two pistols and a pint of liquor were in his car, the police said, and they found $1,000 in currency in his pockets. He will be taken to the detective bureau today in an effort to determine his identity.

Returning home from the funeral of her sweetheart, William Kelly, 19 years old, who was drowned in her presence Monday at Joliet, Miss Pauline Summerfield, 17 years old, 2921 North Fairfield avenue, attempted suicide with poison yesterday. Physicians at the Belmont hospital said she would recover.

Act to Start $12,000,000 Car Jobs Now

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The city council local transportation committee expects to take action at a special session next Monday on tentative decisions toward improved Chicago transit service, made during the last three days, as follows:

1. An ordinance will be approved permitting the surface and elevated lines to spend $12,000,000 at once on improvements.

2. Walter L. Fisher will be made chief counsel for the committee.

3. Robert Ridgway, chief engineer of the transit board of New York, will be appointed consulting engineer on Chicago subway construction and George A. Mason will be special counsel on subway special assessments.

4. President Michael J. Faherty of the board of local improvements has agreed to accept the subway design of the committee. R. F. Kelker Jr., engineer for the committee, will be placed in immediate charge of the subway plans.

Chairman Wires Engineer.

To get the wheels going as soon as possible Ald. Joseph McDonough, chairman of the local transportation committee, yesterday wired Mr. Ridgway to be in Chicago Monday morning for a conference. Ridgway previously told Mr. Kelker he would be ready to discuss with the city his employment as consultant.

Some time ago Corporation Counsel Ettelson objected to the employment of Mr. Mason as special assessment attorney. The Simpson Citizens' committee urged the aldermen to employ the best man available and McDonough is said to have obtained Ettelson's consent to the hiring of Mason.

Much of yesterday was devoted to the proposed ordinance by which the companies will go ahead with improvements without waiting for their formal acceptance of the franchise approved by the electorate on July 1. On this subject two conferences were held in Attorney Fisher's office. Others present were Ald. McDonough and Attorneys Harry P. Weber, Harry J. Dunbaugh, Patrick J. Lucey and William J. Touhy for the companies.

Deductions Are Provided.

In the franchise the companies agreed, after consolidation, to spend $65,000,000 in the following three years. They ask that improvements made before the merger is effected shall be deducted from the $65,000,000. The companies have 120 days in which to file formal acceptance. The conferees agreed yesterday that the companies shall undertake to spend $12,000,000 within that period, or before Nov. 1. The text of the ordinance was practically agreed upon, although it will be reread and changed Monday, if deemed advisable.

"The ordinance will do nothing more than permit the companies to spend $12,000,000 on extensions and improvements, and if they spend it, to deduct that amount from the $65,000,000 to be spent in the first three years under the grant," said Mr. Fisher.

Wants Specific Plans.

"Before asking the city council to adopt this ordinance at its regular meeting next Wednesday," added Ald. McDonough, "the aldermen are entitled to know what improvements are contemplated. In the present unemployment situation I would be delighted to have work start anywhere in Chicago, but I would like for it to begin where the maximum improvement in transportation will be given.

"The object of the improvements is to get better transportation, and everybody wants that as soon as it can be gotten."

Dry Agents Seize Third Car of Moran Gang Liquor

Special prohibition agents under Alexander Jamie yesterday seized another shipment of fine liquor believed to have been intended for the north side gang headed by "Bugs" Moran, the third such seizure in ten days. Billed as embossed paper, the shipment, 1,728 imperial quarts of Scotch whisky, valued at $15,000, was found in a car in the Baltimore and Ohio yards at California avenue and Taylor street. Sent from Boston, the liquor was consigned to J. H. Spencer & Co., 1037 Roosevelt road, where a cigar store, but no Spencer, was found.

GIRL UNCONSCIOUS FIVE MILES UP; MAY HAVE NEW RECORD

San Diego, Cal., July 11.—(AP)—Losing consciousness five miles above the earth, Ruth Alexander, young San Diego aviatrix, today awoke to find herself gliding to the landing field still 18,000 feet below—and a few minutes later she was informed she probably had set an altitude record of around 26,600 feet.

The record for light planes piloted by women was 20,000 feet set by Miss Alexander July 4 in the same 90 horse power low wing monoplane.

Exhaustion of her oxygen supply was the explanation given by the flyer for her lapse from consciousness, when she landed still dazed at Lindbergh field.

"The last thing I noted was 22,000 feet," she said. Then I looked at my altimeter and it showed 18,000 feet. Then I realized I had been 'out'."

Midwest Heat Ends 72 Lives; Chicago Cool

With 72 persons and hundreds of live stock reported to have perished in the heat wave prevalent over the central states for the last five days, a lake breeze again kept Chicago cool yesterday.

The city's temperature from dawn to dusk was 73 degrees, a mark as low as any recorded at mountain or seaside resorts and about 30 degrees lower than the scorching marks reported elsewhere in the area of the hot wave. At 9 a. m. it was 74 degrees in Chicago, highest for the day.

72 Dead in Central West.

An Associated Press tabulation last night blamed the heat for 25 deaths in Iowa, 24 in Missouri, at least eight in central and lower Illinois, ten in Minnesota and the Dakotas, three in Nebraska and two in Kansas. None have been reported recently in Chicago.

Sunrise found the Chicago temperature at 72 degrees yesterday and, with the skies unclouded, it appeared for a time as if the city was due for a sweltering day. At 9 a. m. the mercury had crept up 2 degrees, but by this hour the water cooled breeze from the northeast became manifest.

At 10 a. m. the temperature dropped to 73, a point from which it varied not a degree until 7 p. m., when it dropped a point. The prediction for today was fair and slightly warmer.

Mercury at 92 in Denver.

At Denver, in the Rocky mountain region, the temperature soared to 92 degrees. Yellowstone park had a slightly better record of 82 degrees.

The eastern resorts had their ocean breeze, but the Atlantic failed to function as efficiently as Lake Michigan. At Atlantic City the maximum was 78 and at Bar Harbor, Me., 82. At Montreal the temperature was above 80.

It was in the central states, however, that the heat wave proved most intense. Harrisburg and Duquoin were the hottest towns in Illinois, according to the records, the official thermometers in both places having registered 110.

All records were broken at Quincy and firemen turned out to provide the children free shower baths as the mercury touched 106. Other extreme readings in the state were Mount Vernon with 108; Canton, 104; Peoria, 103, and Centralia, 105.

Thirteen Dead at St. Louis.

St. Louis and environs were hard hit, thirteen deaths being reported and 21 prostrations. It was the hottest day in thirty years, a maximum of 103 being attained in mid-afternoon.

In Iowa the temperature range was from 80 in the early morning hours to 105 at noon. Two deaths were recorded in Sioux City and garden truck was parching under the sun and scorching southwest wind. Forenoon mail deliveries were discontinued in Sioux City.

Hundreds of draft horses in the territory surrounding Sioux City have perished from the heat in the last few days, dispatches said. Forty succumbed in Ida county, Iowa, alone, according to a correspondent.

SLAIN IN AUTO IN FRONT OF DETROIT HOTEL

Detroit, Mich., July 12.—(AP)—An unidentified man was shot and killed early today in front of Montecello apartment hotel on East Jefferson avenue. Witnesses said the assassins used a machine gun.

The victim, a man about 30 years old, was driving a small sedan. Two men in another car drove in front of him and forced him to stop. One of them opened fire. Ten bullets entered the victim's chest.

HE WON'T YIELD TREATY DATA; FOES HIT BACK

Urge Reservation to Bar Secret Clauses.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—[Special.]—President Hoover formally refused today to submit to the senate the secret documents bearing on the negotiation of the London naval limitation treaty and thereby precipitated a new conflict between senators and the administration.

No sooner had the President's refusal of the papers been read to that body than Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.] offered a reservation providing that in view of the withholding of the secret documents the senate, in ratifying the treaty, does so with the understanding that there is no secret agreement modifying the terms of the pact.

With administration senators pronouncing this reservation an affront to the President, other protreaty senators asserting they will not vote for the measure without such a reservation and still others urging postponement of a vote until the secret documents are submitted, the first week of debate on the London pact closed tonight with administration leaders frankly worried.

Quorum in Jeopardy.

They admitted that as a result of unfavorable reaction to the President's refusal of the documents there may be difficulty in maintaining a quorum of the senate when the debate is resumed Monday. Only a bare quorum has been in attendance up to date and if half a dozen senators were to absent themselves because of the President's refusal of the documents it would be impossible for the senate to proceed. In that event a movement to postpone action on the treaty until autumn would gain great headway. In view of these dangers the leaders tonight were telegraphing pleas to absent administration supporters to attend by Monday.

In his reply to the senate resolution adopted yesterday the President refused to submit the documents on the ground that to do so would be "incompatible with the public interest." The papers, he said, contain confidences the publication of which would render him "guilty of a breach of trust." Senators, however, the President added, are being allowed to peruse the secret documents on a pledge to hold their contents in confidence.

Some of "Secrets" Oozing Out.

Copies of the secret papers are in the hands of Senators David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.] and Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], members of the American delegation to the London conference, and are being shown to senators asking the privilege and promising not to reveal the contents. As more and more senators avail themselves of the privilege more and more gossip spreads regarding the secrets the President is attempting to guard.

Most of the gossip revolves around the character of the confidential reports made to the President by Charles G. Dawes, ambassador to Great Britain. These reports are described as extremely Dawesian. They are said to characterize men and measures with that frankness and picturesqueness of phrase for which the ambassador is celebrated. It is said they contain cuss words compared with which his favorite "Hell and Maria" is mild and innocuous.

Some of the proposals put forward by the British negotiators are said to be referred to in the Dawes dispatches in particularly sulphurous language, while Prime Minister MacDonald is spoken of in terms far from complimentary.

"Old Scotch bluffer" is one of the alleged Dawesian characterizations of MacDonald that is being bandied about by senators who have read the documents. One official said that publication of the Dawes dispatches would precipitate the recall of the ambassador and take the Hoover administration six months to explain to the British government.

Norris' Move a Bombshell.

The Norris reservation took the administration leaders completely by surprise. It is based on the consideration that without the secret documents the senate is unable to act on the treaty with full knowledge of its negotiation. Its text is as follows:

"Whereas, in the consideration of said treaty the senate, on the 10th day of July, 1930, requested the President of the United States to submit to the senate all letters, cablegrams, minutes, memoranda, instructions, and dispatches, and all record files and other information touching the negotiations of said treaty;

"And, whereas, the President of the United States has declined to comply with said request and the senate, therefore, in acting upon said treaty, has been compelled to do so without any opportunity to give consideration to the letters, memoranda and other documents and communications leading up to the drafting of said treaty and in negotiating the same.

Reservation Set Forth.

"Therefore, be it resolved by the senate, that in ratifying the said treaty the senate does so with the distinct and explicit understanding that there are no secret files, documents, letters, understandings or agreements which in any way, directly or indirectly, modify, change, add to or take from, any of the stipulations, agreements or statements in said treaty; and that the senate ratifies said treaty with the distinct and explicit understanding that there is no agreement, secret or otherwise, expressed or implied, between any of the parties to said treaty as to any construction that shall hereafter be given to any statement or provision contained therein."

Called Affront to Hoover.

Senator Reed, with Senator Henry J. Allen [Rep., Kas.], another administration leader, pronounced against the Norris reservation at once, pointing out that the President, in his message to the senate says there is no secret commitment connected with the treaty, and that the proposed reservation would put the senate in the attitude of not accepting the President's word on this matter.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], another of the administration captains, said that if the preamble were eliminated he would support the reservation.

Senator Norris, who has intended to vote for the treaty, said upon hearing that administration senators were opposed to his reservation that he would vote against the measure unless this proviso were included. Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.], another supporter of the treaty, made the same statement. Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], chairman of the foreign relations committee, indicated that he favors the reservation.

Thomas Deserts Treaty.

Senator Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.], who had intended to vote for the treaty, said that he has changed his mind as a result of the refusal of the President to submit the documents.

"I am not going to vote for this treaty unless I know all about it that the President knows," he said. "Unless the information is forthcoming I shall vote against it. As matters now stand, I think it would be better to debate the treaty another week and then take a recess till fall, to enable the people to consider the matter."

Senator Walter F. George [Dem., Ga.] said he still intends to vote for the treaty, but doubted that a quorum can be maintained next week under the circumstances. Senator Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.], who is also for the treaty, said that in view of the President's refusal of the documents he would vote to postpone action until autumn.

"Upon what times has this republic fallen, upon what series of incidents has the senate developed such a futility that it cannot be permitted to have for its information that which it must have in order to act with wisdom and intelligence!" exclaimed Senator Hiram W. Johnson [Rep., Cal.] when the President's refusal of the documents had been read.

"What is it that here we are met with? Secret diplomacy, the old world diplomacy; the diplomacy that we thought years ago our country was rid of. We are back again, under this administration, with secret diplomacy and the denial of the right of those who participate in treaty making to the documents and the papers which lead to that treaty making."

Earlier in the day Senator Frederick Hale [Rep., Mo.], chairman of the naval affairs committee, delivered a two hour speech in which he analyzed the treaty and pronounced it inimical to the best interest of the United States.

Senator Hale asserted that not only under the treaty do we fail to obtain parity with Great Britain, but "turn over the control of the seas, in all but our own home waters, to Great Britain."

Weakens Fleet, He Charges.

"The navy that the treaty allows us at the expiration of the year 1936," said Hale, "is practically the same in size and cost of maintenance as the present navy with our building programs completed and our replacement of obsolete vessels carried out, but the cruiser provisions in the treaty make it an incomparably weaker navy for our purposes.

"The treaty gives to Japan, in return for no consideration whatever except that of signing the treaty, a substantial increase over the ratio provided for capital ships in the Washington treaty and still leaves us under the handicap agreed to in the Washington treaty not further to fortify our island bases in the western Pacific. This agreement, to which we reluctantly acceded at the Washington conference, was the direct price of holding the Japanese down to the ratio of 5-5-3 at that conference.

"As a result of the increase of the Japanese ratio, in the event of hostilities with Japan, where the seat of operations must inevitably be in the far east, according to the unanimous testimony of our naval officers before the committees of the senate, we shall be forced to engage on less than even terms for ourselves."

Senator Reed Replies.

"I hope," said Senator Reed, "when senators argue that we have given up the ratio of 10 to 6 with Japan, when they argue that we have surrendered to Japan the right to have seven to ten of the smallest of the auxiliaries, they will remember that we had no such thing to surrender.

"Japan had us better than 10 to 7 in both categories of cruisers; it was she who surrendered, and in substance what the treaty does is to provide that both Great Britain and Japan either stand stock still or else reduce their tonnage during the treaty period, while the United States builds up in both of those categories until it has passed Japan and has parity with Great Britain. That in substance is what the agreement effects."

WHAT HOOVER TOLD SENATE

Washington, D. C., July 11.—(AP)—The text of President Hoover's message to the senate today follows:

"I have received senate resolution No. 320, asking me, if not incompatible with the public interest, to submit to the senate all letters, cablegrams, minutes, memoranda, instructions, and dispatches, and all records, files, and other information touching the negotiations of the London naval treaty.

"This treaty, like all other international negotiations, has involved statements, reports, tentative and informal proposals as to subjects, persons, and governments, given to me in confidence. The executive, under the duty of guarding the interests of the United States, in the protection of future negotiations and in maintaining relations of amity with other nations, must not allow himself to become guilty of a breach of trust by betrayal of these confidences.

"He must not affront representatives of other nations, and thus make future dealings with those nations more difficult and less frank. To make public, in debate or in the press, such confidences would violate the invariable practice of nations. It would close to the United States those avenues of information which are essential for future negotiations and amicable intercourse with the nations of the world. I am sure the senate does not wish me to commit such a breach of trust.

"I have no desire to withhold from the senate any information having even the remotest bearing upon the negotiation of the treaty. No senator has been refused an opportunity to see the confidential material referred to, provided only he will agree to receive and hold the same in the confidence in which it has been received and held by the executive.

"A number of senators have availed themselves of this opportunity. I believe that no senator can read these documents without agreeing with me that no other course than to insist upon the maintenance of such confidence is possible. And I take this opportunity to repeat with the utmost emphasis that in these negotiations there were no secret or concealed understandings, promises or interpretations, nor any commitments whatever, except as appear in the treaty itself and in the interpretative exchange of notes recently suggested by your committee on foreign affairs, all of which are now in the hands of the senate.

"In view of this, I believe that to further comply with the above resolution would be incompatible with the public interest.

"HERBERT HOOVER."

Central Didn't Answer, So a Flock of Cops Had To

New York, July 11.—[Special.]—Fred Röth today went into a cigar store and dropped a nickel into the telephone slot. Central did not answer. He said a few words and dropped another nickel. No answer. He said a lot of words and dropped a third nickel. No answer. Result: One phone and booth smashed; one cigar clerk's eye punched and one patrolman's nose battered. Fred is on bail, accused of assault and malicious mischief.

SENATE DELAY PERILS HOOVER'S TRIP TO WEST

Vacation Plans Hinge on Treaty Action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—[Special.]—President Hoover's plans for a vacation trip through the national parks of the far west hung in the balance today as the senate neared the end of its first week of debate on the London naval treaty with no signs of a vote on ratification in sight. Unless the senate adjourns within the next ten days or two weeks the chances of the President making the western pilgrimage will be remote.

Deadline Is Late in July.

Unless President Hoover can leave Washington by the last week of July the trip will be abandoned, an official said. The President wants to spend at least four weeks in the west but he thinks he must be back in Washington by the first week of September.

White House attachés have been apprehensive that the western trip would have to be abandoned. It was admitted that the lack of progress by administration senators in gaining a vote on the treaty makes the President's plans more and more uncertain.

One Report Current.

Reports have been current that President Hoover's advisers had urged him to postpone his trip west until the farm situation improves. According to these rumors, the presidential advisers warned Mr. Hoover against traveling through the wheat belt at a time when prices for wheat are extremely low.

White House officials scoffed tonight at reports that the President would give up his trip for political reasons. It was said in this connection that the President planned the trip as a vacation and would only give it up in event the senate situation made it impracticable.

JAPAN'S FIGHT OVER TREATY RATIFICATION DUE TO BEGIN JULY 18

(Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.)

TOKIO, July 11.—The government decided today to take a firm stand and submit the naval treaty to the privy council for ratification before July 20, probably on July 18, whether approval of the defense plans by the high military and naval officers has previously been obtained or not.

The government's decision to hasten action on the treaty may partly be ascribed to the fact that the American senate is now considering the treaty and Japan does not want to be too far behind, as well as the fact that many newspapers have been editorially urging the government to go ahead and disregard the navy element, if necessary, since the treaty has the backing of public opinion.

Premier Hamaguchi still hopes by the time the government is ready to submit the pact to the privy council the naval authorities will have reached an agreement regarding the defense plans, but he has decided the treaty and defense plans henceforth are going to be dealt with as two separate issues.

CURTIS ARRIVES TODAY; WILL BE GUEST OF LASKER

Vice President Charles Curtis will arrive at the Grand Central station at 10 a. m. today to spend the week-end at Mill Road farm, the Everett, Ill., estate of Albert D. Lasker. The visit is purely a social one, according to Mr. Lasker. The Vice President, who is a racing fan, will attend the Arlington Park race this afternoon.

CASTLE ATTACKS JAPANESE 'BOGIE' IN NAVAL TALK

Official Says Far East Fears United States.

The London naval treaty and the Japanese "bogie" were discussed by W. R. Castle, Jr., assistant secretary of state, at the Union League club yesterday. Mr. Castle was sent to Japan by the President to watch the development of sentiment there during the treaty making.

"Many enemies of the treaty," he said, "have built out of their imagination a strange menace in the far east, which menace actually is nonexistent. Those who denounce the treaty denounce it in the same terms, whether they happen to live in the United States, in England or Japan.

"Some of the Japanese admirals bitterly oppose the agreement and if they still believe that the original demands made by Japan were the minimum necessary for defense they have a far better case to put before the public than have our own admirals, who worry about the caliber of guns on three ships.

Fear of U. S. Attack.

"Throughout the negotiations Japan had the American navy in view. There was continual fear that we might attack because of some disagreement, for example, over China. It is amazing to me, once more at home, to find the anti-treaty people still harping on the Japanese bogy. Japan could hardly live except for her exports to America, amounting to nearly $400,000,000.

"War with America would be ruin to Japan.

"I was impressed all the time I was there by the fact that Japan looks to us for so much that makes life worth while, that Japan considers us, perhaps ahead of all nations, a friend on whom she must depend.

"I remember that one day a correspondent asked Baron Shidehara, the foreign minister, whether it was true that there was fear in America that Japan might attack the Philippines. He answered that I had told him there were people in America who felt just this and then he pointed out that, of course, it was exceedingly difficult for any Japanese to understand this fear, since, although they might have initial success, war could only mean eventual ruin.

No Fear of Attack.

"The treaty, I believe, gives Japan security in its own waters, as it gives us security in our waters. Surely nobody of peaceful intent is going to object to that.

"The navy department thinks in terms of war. The department of state thinks in terms of peace. The President and congress combine the two and add thought for economy. All points of view were represented in the making of this treaty and only a prejudiced man can see anything but good in its adoption."

TAXES WILL FIX REALTY VALUES FOR COURT BONDS

Inflation of real estate values for Criminal court bonding purposes is to be stopped by a new scheme worked out yesterday by State's Attorney Swanson and his assistant, Albert C. De Witt, who is in charge of the bond department. The new system will also dispense with the services of a group of real estate valuators now employed in the prosecutor's office and will be a saving to the taxpayers.

"From now on we will accept the values as fixed by reassessment staff for the purposes of taxation," said De Witt. "We are determined that bonds put up in criminal cases be sufficient and that a check be placed on the unscrupulous professional bondsman.

"Recently a bondsman placed a value of $50,000 on his property when it was put up for bond. We find that he filed a protest of overvaluation when the reassessment staff fixed the value at $22,000 for taxation purposes."

ACIDOPHILUS MILK

N-O-W there is a better Acidophilus Milk!!! This pleasant-tasting beverage has long been recognized and recommended by physicians as a tonic drink, and as a valuable aid in the relief of chronic constipation and intestinal putrefaction, as well as a curative agent in many cases of intestinal and stomach disorders.

But, until N-O-W, there has been no Acidophilus Milk available containing the amount of aciduric health units required for maximum effectiveness.

That is why ACIDURO containing over 500 million aciduric health units per cubic centimeter, fills a real demand!

If you are now an habitual Acidophilus Milk drinker—and know the benefits of this good drink that's so good for you—try this better preparation.

Or if you're simply feeling below par—bothered with headaches, listlessness, indigestion, or other effects of intestinal poisoning—ACIDURO should be tried. You'll like its wholly distinctive taste . . . and you'll find your own physician will recommend it.

The use of ACIDURO (Acidophilus Milk) is indicated for preserving vigor and for the relief of constipation and intestinal putrefaction, which is believed to cause autointoxication, interfering with longevity and the normal approach to uncomplicated old age.

$29,703,000 TAX WARRANTS SOLD TO CITY BANKERS

Citizens' Committee Finds Market Improving.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The citizens' committee, headed by Silas H. Strawn, sold $24,703,000 of tax anticipation warrants to Chicago banks yesterday and Thursday, and a few weeks ago it sold $5,000,000. These sales of $29,703,000 of warrants permit business houses and individuals to retrieve that much cash which they voluntarily pledged to meet pay rolls of the local governments for the last six months.

At the beginning of the year the Chicago and Cook county governments were without ready cash and unable to borrow any. Philip R. Clarke, president of the Central Trust company, conducted a campaign to raise $74,000,000 to relieve the situation. Pledges for the total were obtained in about eleven days.

The money was asked as needed and 70 per cent of the total, or $51,800,000, was paid in on the pledges. But the local governments were given an aggregate of $56,203,000 through the purchase of their warrants by the taxpayers' trust set up by the Strawn committee. This was possible because the committee sold $5,000,000 of the warrants it had purchased and then bought $5,000,000 more.

Now that the committee has sold a total of $29,703,000 of warrants it still has $26,500,000 invested in warrants which it is willing to sell. All the warrants bear 6 per cent interest and at present appear to be attractive to large banks with surplus funds. The sales so far may be summarized as follows:

TO FIRST UNION TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK.

Fund—	Amount.
Sanitary district, 1929	6,354,000
City corporate, 1928	3,000,000
Tuberculosis sanitarium, 1928	600,000
Library, 1928	300,000
Forest preserve, 1928	75,000
TO FOREMAN STATE NATIONAL BANK.
Cook county, 1928	1,124,000
City corporate, 1928	8,500,000
Schools, educational, 1928	4,750,000
TO NATIONAL BANK OF THE REPUBLIC.
Schools, educational, 1929	5,000,000
Total	$29,703,000

These sales present another effect of the Strawn acts passed by the special session of the legislature. Part of the citizens' committee program was the validation of the tax warrants and the appropriation ordinances on which the warrants were based. The acts also insure the payment of the warrants and interest. As a result the bankers who declined to buy these warrants last December and January now appear to look upon them as perfectly sound and a desirable investment.

Strawn Talk Is Recalled.

Mr. Strawn in a speech before the Commercial club last winter gave several views of the city's financial difficulties. He said that the city has issued, against its 1928 corporate taxes, a total of $37,965,000 in tax anticipation warrants. The interest on those warrants to July 1 last was reckoned at $3,416,850. In principal and interest the total was therefore $41,381,850.

At the same time the technicians of the citizens' committee estimated the probable 1928 corporate tax collections at $38,325,000, which was $3,056,850 short of paying off the warrants and interest earned thereon. The question was raised whether the city could legally make up this deficit from other revenues.

Later, however, the board of assessors further reduced the tax valuations and the city's corporate income was accordingly reduced. The condition, observers said, was worse than painted by Mr. Strawn.

The 1929 Tax Situation.

On the same basis of reckoning, it was pointed out, the city would be unable to meet its debts on its 1929 tax anticipation warrants by $1,005,000. The educational fund of the school board was shy $650,000 to meet its 1928 tax warrants and $137,000 short of being able to meet its 1929 warrants.

The deficit on the 1929 warrants will be larger than was represented by Mr. Strawn, for two reasons, it was said yesterday. The 1929 taxes will not be paid this year, as Mr. Strawn expected. The delinquent date was set by the legislature at next April 1, because politicians did not want the 1929 taxes collected in the middle of the mayoralty campaign.

Thus, officials said, there will be three more months of interest to be paid. The second reason involves against the valuations on which taxes will be collected. Advance information is that these valuations for 1929 will be lower than for 1928.

In addition there was a legal question regarding the validity of the appropriation ordinances passed by several local governments. It was feared that the council and the mayor by many meetings and adjournments had not complied with the technical requirements of the statute on making appropriations.

The county board presented another difficulty. It fixed the salaries of employes at one rate per month and then appropriated only enough to pay them for ten months.

All of these defects in appropriations, tax warrants and use of funds to pay tax warrant debts have been corrected by the acts of the legislature, according to the Strawn committee.

ELGIN CITIZENS JOIN HUNT FOR GIRL'S ASSAILANT

Ex-Convict Robs, Beats Woman's Escort.

CRIMINAL COURT.

George Taylor, crime against nature, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Harold Owens, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary, by Judge Otto Kerner.

Joseph Chudala, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory, by Judge Peter Schwaba.

Arthur Elke and George Brown, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; Charles F. Cohen, forgery, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; Alfred Patryas, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary, by Judge John J. Sullivan.

Citizens of Elgin have formed posses to aid police in searching the countryside for an ex-convict who criminally assaulted a young woman after robbing her escort shortly after midnight yesterday and held both prisoners in the home where he is employed as a caretaker. A warrant was issued charging the ex-convict, Bernard Betz, 33 years old, with rape and robbery, but the name of the woman is being withheld because her widowed mother is at the point of death.

The 20 year old woman was sitting in a parked automobile on McLean road west of Elgin Thursday night with Harold E. Money, a cripple, 25 years old, 300 Locust street. Shortly after midnight Betz crept up on the car and held a revolver at Money. Money gave him $1.35 and a watch. Betz then noticed the girl in the car and struck Money over the head with the butt of the revolver.

Forced to Go to House.

The blow did not render Money unconscious, and he was ordered to drive to the bungalow of Walter Erdman in Columbia Park, a suburb of Elgin. Keeping both under cover of his pistol, Betz forced them to enter the home and go into the basement. There he knocked Money unconscious with a soldering iron. Locking the woman in a coal shed, Betz carried Money to the attic and bound him with clothesline rope.

Betz returned to the basement, beat the girl and tore her clothing. The Erdman family had left their home under the care of Betz several days ago when they left on their vacation.

At 10 o'clock Money was released. Betz bathed his wounds, gave him a new shirt, and turned the woman over to him. After taking the young woman to her home, Money told his story to Lieut. Louis Ackman. The police armed themselves with riot guns and tear gas bombs, expecting to find Betz barricaded in the home.

They found the house deserted. Betz had left the key of the house with a family across the street.

Lieut. Ackman said that Betz had served a term for burglary and larceny at Joliet in 1918 and had also served several terms in the Kane county jail for minor offenses. Charles Brundige, highway commissioner, and Fire Marshal Elmery Henryson organized posses.

BOOKMAKER WALTERS' ESTATE IS $2,600,000, TAX REPORT SHOWS

New York, July 11.—[Special.]—John Walters, bookmaker, who handled bets for William C. Whitney and other prominent sportsmen, left a net estate of $2,600,024, according to a transfer tax report filed in Brooklyn today. Walters died in Paris Feb. 12, 1929.

He was known to two generations of American sportsmen, and handled millions of dollars in wagers in a season. When the prince of Wales visited Belmont Park Walters took his wager on Epinard, the famous French race horse, which lost.

Walters' principal assets, the report disclosed, were cash holdings, which amounted to $869,125, and stocks and bonds valued at $1,780,774.

ROBBERS HOLD UP COUPLE IN HALL OF THEIR HOME

Two robbers, who apparently had been watching them for several days, last night robbed William P. Enzweiler, a garage owner, and his wife, Flora, of gems valued at $1,350 and $50 in cash in the vestibule of their home at 4528 North Winchester avenue. The Enzweilers' 7 year old daughter, Nancy, clung to her mother's hand in fright during the holdup.

The police believe the bandits trailed the family home from a loop theater. Enzweiler was unlocking the front door when the gunmen shoved their way into the vestibule. While one robber covered the victims with a pistol the other took three rings from Mrs. Enzweiler's fingers and the $50 from her husband. Then the bandit with the gun spoke up.

"Where's the ring with the big diamond you had on the other day?" he asked Mrs. Enzweiler. This ring she explained later to the police, is valued at $1,200. She told the robber she did not have it with her. "Too bad," he remarked; "I wanted that one." Then he and his companions fled.

$1,000,000 FIRE IN HEART OF PARIS INJURES SCORES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 12.—[Saturday.]—Parisians drifting out of boulevard theaters and café terraces, and hundreds of Americans returning to their hotels or bound for the night clubs, witnessed a $1,000,000 fire in the heart of the French capital early this morning.

The blaze started in back of the large department store, Galleries Nouvelles, in the Boulevard de Bonne Nouvelle, almost in front of the historic Porte Saint Denis. In a few minutes the four story building, which covers a whole block, was a mass of flames. A fireman was killed and scores, including several Americans, were hurt by falling walls.

Firemen battled to keep the conflagration from spreading through the maze of twisting streets around Porte Saint Denis.

CAMP MEETING OF METHODISTS WILL OPEN TODAY

No longer are the historic Des Plaines camp meeting grounds used solely for a ten day religious meeting each summer. While the 71st camp meeting, opened today under the direction of Chicago Methodism and continuing until July 19, is the heart of the program, yet the camp meeting site in the county forest preserve now is used almost at capacity from May until late September.

The Rev. Charles H. Draper, manager of the 71st camp meeting, described the recent development under the direction of the trustees of the camp meeting association. He stated that until recently the property owned by the association was used for only a few days each summer.

"The land—now worth $225,000—became too valuable to remain idle fifty weeks out of each year," he added, "and we were forced to expand. This year our activities began in May. On June 1 we opened our new $40,000 swimming pool and it has been doing a land office business every day."

The Rev. Mr. Draper told of the expenditure of $100,000 on new buildings, landscaping and other improvements. He declared that Chicago Methodism now regards the old camp meeting ground as an ideal site for conferences, institutes and church affairs of all sorts.

The Rev. Dr. Horace G. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Wilmette, is speaker at the opening meeting today.

TARDIEU CLOSES PARLIAMENT TO SAVE HIS CABINET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 11.—Faced with a growing viciousness in the socialist attacks in the chamber of deputies and in the senate, Premier Tardieu tonight hastily adjourned parliament. This timely action, observers said, probably saved the government's life.

Right up to the adjournment M. Tardieu's majority in the chamber remained faithful, although it showed signs of wavering towards the end, but the senate was in open revolt. For the last two days the senate has been frankly out to "get" Tardieu, and undoubtedly it would have gotten him if the adjournment had not been called.

The premier won a vote of confidence, 316 to 268, in the chamber today, routing the opposition for the fourth time in three days.

U. S. HAMMERS AT OLIVER STORY OF $9,000 INCOME

Assessor Questioned on Expenses at Tax Trial.

The prosecution in the trial of County Assessor Gene G. Oliver on charges of evading income taxes yesterday sought to ascertain how far a salary of $9,000 will go. Oliver was cross-examined throughout the day in Federal Judge Woodward's court by Assistant United States Attorney Cassius Poust.

Mr. Poust asked how Oliver was able to bet thousands of dollars on the horse races and to write the 500 checks totaling more than $200,000 introduced by the defense, if his story that his salary was his only income is true. Oliver did not waver in his story.

Attacks Oliver Testimony.

The prosecution also attacked Oliver's testimony that an $18,731.55 certificate of deposit which went into his account came from Butch Douglas, a gambler now dead, and represented winnings on the races. The government contends that William Nichols, also indicted for income tax evasion, purchased this certificate with part of $42,000 worth of checks made payable to him by Werner A. Wieboldt, president of the Wieboldt Stores, for tax adjustments.

Oliver repeated his testimony given on direct examination that the certificate was accepted with enough cash to make a little over $19,000.

Oliver was asked if Douglas usually paid him in cash. He said mostly always. He said he didn't think he had any other checks representing transactions with Douglas.

Questioned on Indorsement.

Q—Didn't you know the certificate was made payable to and indorsed by William Nichols? A—No, I only looked at the amount.

Q—If you had to write your name right under the indorsement and you had a good light, didn't you? A—I did not notice the indorsement.

Oliver said he put up $6,000 with Douglas as an operating account and let his winnings accumulate until the $19,000 was due.

Q—Did you put up that $6,000 out of your salary of $9,000 a year? A—Yes, that came out of my salary.

Q—Didn't you tell Mr. Blocker and Mr. Elmore (internal revenue agents) that that $18,731.55 was money you were asked to hold for a man? A—I did not.

Q.—And didn't you later tell them that it was the repayment of a loan? A.—I did not.

Oliver was asked if the $2,500 he lent to Paul Weidel, former chief clerk of the assessors' office; the $5,000 he lent to Charles Karleskind, a bookmaker; the $6,000 he spent on a summer home in Minnesota, the $1,000 he invested in stock of a skid chain concern, and a $2,500 check given to Weidel for a bet all came from his salary. He said they did.

His Expenses Recapitulated.

Q.—You made all those bets on the races, losing more than you won; collected all those campaign contributions, paying out more than you collected, built a summer home, maintained two automobiles, a Cadillac and a Buick; paid the grocer, the baker and the candlestick maker, fed and clothed your family, all out of $9,000 a year?

A.—Yes, I did that out of my salary.

The government contends that Oliver's gross income for the years 1926, 1927 and 1928 was more than $450,000, while he paid income taxes on $43,000.

The trial was adjourned until Monday, with only two or three rebuttal witnesses to be heard.

Police Critic Tells Judge of Carroll Cast Scanties

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 11.—[Special.]—Capt. James J. Coy wears thick lensed glasses and an innocent smile, but he gets about quite a bit at night and sees a lot. He tells about it, too, for Capt. Coy is the ace dramatic critic of the police department. Today he told a judge an earful about the stage technique of adjusting scanties and what may be seen from an $11 seat in the tenth row when an interpretive dancer interprets in her birthday suit.

The discussion of dressed and undressed females was held in Jefferson Market court before Magistrate Maurice Gotlieb and as many other persons as could get into the room. The occasion was the hearing of the case of Producer Earl Carroll, Jimmy Savo, his comedian, and eight gorgeous young women of the cast of the current "Vanities"—all charged with giving an indecent performance.

Describes Nude Dancer.

After a three hour description of a nude dancer and what went on in a show window during scene 12, act 1, Magistrate Gotlieb adjourned the hearing until next Tuesday, warned the cops to keep an "eye on the show" and let himself out the back way for a breath of fresh aid. The eight gorgeous young women left by the front way for photographic purposes and the New Amsterdam theater.

"Yes, sir," said Capt. Coy as he scratched his gray locks and teetered in the witness chair, "it was a shocking exhibition. Now take act 1, scene 5. The curtain rose and there was a number of females lying on their backs, waving fans.

"Then I see this defendant Faith Bacon come down through the center of them with two big feather fans. She danced and made other movements and then she turned her back and I saw her from head to her heels, and she was nude."

"Completely nude?" asked Magistrate Gotlieb.

"Absolutely," He Says.

"I say she was, absolutely nude," said Capt. Coy, who was not speaking from an editorial viewpoint.

A lot of lawyers tried to confuse Capt. Coy, but he had had his baptism of fire in the "Pleasure Man" trial and had learned about women from Mae West.

"Did the fans cover her body?" asked a lawyer.

"Except when she went backstage," answered Coy. "If I had the fans I would show you what she did."

Unfortunately, no one could find the fans. Somebody called attention to Coy's thick glasses, but he explained he only used them for reading and that, anyhow, he had seen the show three times, once backstage.

"Was there any general exodus?" Coy was asked. This puzzled him for a minute, but he finally answered: "I didn't notice any."

The skit called "Modes—A Window in Merl'a" brought the observation from Critic Coy that a gentleman, or even an actor, should go just so far in adjusting the garments of a lady playing the part of a wax model.

"That was in scene 12, act 1," said the policeman, "when the five young girls were standing in a show window like wax models. Then this Mr. Savo and a lady actress named Naomi Ray came in and Miss Ray said, 'I'll teach you how to dress a model. Take off that one's stocking.'

"Well, Savo did it, but he went too far."

"How do you know it was too far?" asked the magistrate.

"Well," said Coy, "my experience of female hosiery——" but the lawyers would not let him measure the height on his own ample leg.

Could Do Better, He Says.

"Then," resumed Coy, "this Mr. Savo tried to put bloomers on one of the models. She fell down and they fell down and he tried to adjust them. He didn't have to use the actions he used. I could adjust a pair of bloomers without doing that."

"You were shocked?" asked the magistrate.

"O, yes," said Coy.

Magistrate Gotlieb, thereupon, adjourned court.

Up on 42d street the "Vanities" is still showing with, it must be stated, slight alterations.

12th Street Beach to Be Opened to Public Today

The 12th street bathing beach on an island off Grant park opposite the Field museum will be opened to the public at noon today, Supt. George T. Donoghue of the south park system announced yesterday. Lack of funds, now relieved by the legislative program, has delayed opening of the beach. Lifeguards will watch the beach and in addition a motor boat patrol will cruise along the lake front to protect bathers at street end beaches from Grant park to 51st street.

HURT BY HAMMER; DIES.

Patrick Halpin, 51 years old, 13933 South Wabash avenue, died yesterday at the Roseland community hospital of blood poisoning which developed from an injury suffered two weeks ago when a hammer fell upon his ankle at the Field museum.

COOL WAVE COMING

Today relief from the heat, and cooling breezes are indicated for thousands of people in and near this city. The source of this welcome news has been traced to the arrival last evening of a large delegation of Polar Cubs. This morning, in many parts of the city Polar Cubs have been observed in large numbers, and according to reliable reports from other cities the advent of Polar Cubs never fails to bring quick relief from heat. A detailed story appears on page 7

BRUNKER PLAN OF INQUIRY IS REFUTED BY TWO

Misled by Proposal, Says Frank J. Loesch.

which the matter was being conducted. However, it was represented to me that other civic leaders desired to have a broader inquiry set afoot, which Mr. Rathbun was too busy to handle, as stated by Col. McCormick, so I fell in with what I supposed to be a proper movement.

"I authorized Brunker to use my name on his absolute representation that Mr. Randolph, Mr. Peabody and Mr. Sidley had also signed the petition. I now withdraw my signature and my support from the petition. Brunker sold me a couple of gold bricks.

"I had been away, and from what Brunker said I gathered that Rathbun wanted to be relieved of extra duty and that the bar association would appoint some one to take general charge of the entire set of matters which has arisen from the circumstances surrounding the Lingle murder.

"I thought it might be wise for some one to investigate not only the Lingle murder, but the murder of Julius Rosenheim, the stool pigeon, the charges of racketeering in the newspaper world made by Harry Brundidge of the St. Louis Star, and other information tending to link reporters with gangsters.

"These all ought to be investigated thoroughly and without fear or favor.

"I might add that I will resign immediately from Brunker's civic safety commission."

Rejected by Randolph.

Col. Randolph, interviewed last night as he attended the dinner in honor of Commander Byrd, said:

"I was approached by Brunker and asked to sign the petition. I refused flatly to join in the movement, and I am opposed to it."

A reporter going to interview Brunker was met by Gregory T. Dillon, a former reporter for the Daily News, and Dillon was asked what he knew concerning the petition.

"Why, I suggested it to my boss, Brunker," Dillon replied. "The boss acted on my suggestion, which I made to him several days ago."

Brunker was described in the Daily News as the executive chairman of the "civic safety commission," which is an organization started by Brunker. He greeted a reporter and, during the course of the interview, said:

"The letter has not been sent, and was not to be sent. There were only two signatures to the letter, mine and that of Mr. Loesch.

"I don't know how the letter got into the hands of the Daily News, but I certainly did not authorize its publication. It was not intended in the letter to bring about the removal of Mr. Rathbun. How the editors of the Daily News construed the letter to mean the ouster of Rathbun, and how they came to use such a headline, is beyond my conception.

"If the letter is ever sent to Swanson, I am willing that it shall include a recommendation for investigation of the Rosenheim murder and all of the Brundidge charges, and even to go back to the St. Valentine's day massacre of 1929.

"I have no desire to obstruct the investigation into the murder of Lingle. I believe the inquiry should be conducted by the public prosecutors with public funds."

"Have you any fault to find with the investigation as it has been conducted thus far?"

"I have not."

Makes Further Denials.

Brunker declared that he understood the agreement entered into by the publishers of the six Chicago newspapers had been abandoned, and that the publishers now didn't agree. He denied that he had been inspired by the Daily News to present the petition to State's Attorney Swanson.

Informed of Dillon's statement that he had suggested the move to Brunker, the latter denied the fact, and declared that Dillon had not been employed by him for six months, although previously, he admitted, Dillon had done some work for him.

State's Attorney Swanson said:

"I have not received such a petition, and have received no demand of any kind, nor notice of any except those printed in the newspapers. I will not discuss the matter until it is before me."

"Are you in any way dissatisfied with the manner in which Mr. Rathbun is conducting the investigation?"

"I have never said so, and when I am dissatisfied I will say so," Mr. Swanson replied.

"Have you decided when to call Leland H. Reese, reporter for the Daily News, who now admits that Rosenheim, before being murdered, obtained information on gangs for the Daily News?"

"Not yet."

State's Attorney Swanson earlier in the day in an interview with representatives of all newspapers, in which he said he hoped to make clear the present status of the inquiry, declared that there would be no change in its present conduct.

Asked whether he would have witnesses in the Lingle murder investigation brought before the grand jury Mr. Swanson said he would not at this time.

"At this time we have nothing with which to proceed before the grand jury," the state's attorney said. "I cannot say as yet whether developments will warrant any witnesses being taken before the July grand jury.

"There is nothing tangible at the present time which would justify calling former Police Commissioner Russell, former Chief of Detectives Stege, or William 'Boss' McLaughlin before the jury.

"When we have the facts, we shall go before the jury, and not before."

The Brunker Letter.

The Brunker letter to the state's attorney, as published in the Daily News, and which Brunker admits is an authentic copy of his letter, follows:

"The presidents of the various organizations signing this letter believe that new and vital facts pertaining to the Lingle murder can be developed in a comparatively short time to a sufficient extent to warrant their feeling that it may easily lead to the discovery and punishment of the person or persons guilty of the crime.

"Without the slightest reflection upon the integrity of the members of Chicago Tribune law firm now charged as special state's attorneys with the duty of discovering the perpetrators of this murder, we are firmly convinced, from the standpoint of public confidence, that the investigation should be conducted by persons who were in no way connected with Lingle, or with the paper upon which he was employed at the time of his death.

"The greatest confidence can only be felt in an investigation proceeding from independent and authoritative sources.

Ask Special Force.

"Further, in view of the controversy which has arisen among various of the larger papers of the city, we feel that from that standpoint alone it would be advisable to have the investigation conducted by people in no way connected with any paper.

"We concede the imperative necessity of conducting the investigation through a special force, whose duty it shall be to follow every clew and every avenue of information to the end that every person responsible for Lingle's death shall be apprehended and punished. Such an investigation requires an independence of action which will not permit itself to be influenced by any consideration except the public good.

Wants Sidley to Act.

"In that view of the matter we earnestly request that the president of the Chicago Bar association, W. P. Sidley, be asked to nominate an entirely independent prosecutor, to be appointed by you as an assistant state's attorney, and that such person be empowered to nominate his own investigating force, to be paid out of public funds.

"To such a prosecutor we will present the information which we think is readily procurable, and we are confident that through an impartial and fearless prosecutor the whole sordid tale leading up to the Lingle killing will be fully developed and the guilty parties brought to answer for their crime at the bar of public justice."

THE ROSENHEIM MURDER

No definite progress was announced yesterday in connection with the investigation of the murder of Julius Rosenheim, vice and gang investigator for the Chicago Daily News.

Rosenheim was shot to death in the street near his home, 3510 Dickens avenue, by unknown assassins, on Feb. 1, last. At that time it was reported in the newspapers, including the Chicago Daily News, that Rosenheim was known to have been an investigator for former Police Chief Healy, former State's Attorney Hoyne, Frank J. Loesch, and others, and it was thought his murder might have been in connection with these activities. It was not reported that he was attached to the Daily News.

However, it has now been revealed, through a signed article by Leland H. Reese, published in the Daily News, that Rosenheim was a paid informant for the News, and that he worked for the News under Reese's instructions.

This brings the murder of Rosenheim into its new significance, the killing of a newspaperman, the first such in Chicago, and investigators have been seeking facts surrounding Rosenheim's connection with the Daily News, and any possible connection there may be between his murder and that of THE TRIBUNE'S reporter, Lingle.

Rosenheim, it has been charged by a St. Louis correspondent, used his position with the Daily News to collect tribute from saloon keepers and vice mongers, and this is being investigated as a possible cause for his murder.

Reporter Tells of Threats.

Reese in his article stated that since Rosenheim's murder he has received threats of death and injury to himself, and that he had been informed he was to be "the next to go." Investigators believe the grand jury would be interested in questioning Reese as to the source of these threats, and as to what motive there may be for killing him.

State's Attorney Swanson was asked yesterday if he has decided when to call Reese before the grand jury, to establish definitely the extent of Rosenheim's financial affairs so far as Reese knows them.

"Not yet," Mr. Swanson replied.

The investigators pointed out that the coroner's inquest into the death of Rosenheim should have included the testimony of Reese, and the newly disclosed circumstances that Rosenheim was employed by the Daily News, and it was proposed that Coroner Bundesen resume the inquest to put in this evidence and to develop what other facts may be turned up as a result of Reese's testimony or the testimony of other Daily News witnesses.

State's Attorney Swanson said he had not altered his opinion that the testimony of Harry Brundidge, reporter for the St. Louis Star, must be given to him before being given to the grand jury.

Appeal to Swanson Repudiated

Albert R. Brunker, executive chairman, civic safety commission, whose unauthorized use of the name of Augustus S. Peabody, coupled with his own, brought indignant denials when he asked for change in conduct of Lingle murder inquiry.

Gregory Dillon, former Daily News reporter, who took responsibility of inducing Albert R. Brunker to make appeal to State's Attorney Swanson in connection with which the names of Frank J. Loesch and Augustus S. Peabody were used without their knowledge.

LAWYER CALLS CAPONE'S MIAMI TRIAL "FRAMEUP"

Asks Witness if He Has Not Been Coached.

Miami, Fla., July 11.—(AP)—A charge that the state's testimony in the perjury trial of Al Capone, Chicago gangster, was a "frameup" was made by the defense today during a sharp cross-examination of state witnesses.

J. F. Gordon, of defense counsel, made the charge while questioning V. H. Hilton, secretary to Police Chief Guy Reeve. Hilton had testified that he had gone with other police officers to the office of Special Prosecutor Richard Hunt several days ago in reference to the case.

"Wasn't that visit to get your instructions as to what to say at the trial?" Gordon asked.

The state objected.

Shouts "Frameup."

"I was trying to bring out what I firmly believe—that this whole case, and the state's testimony, is a frameup," Gordon shouted.

The witness was excused without answering the question.

Capone is charged in three instances with perjury in connection with his testimony in a false arrest case he brought some time ago against S. D. McCreary, Miami public safety director. He is on trial now on one of the counts, which asserted that he testified falsely that he was denied use of the police station telephone to communicate with attorneys or relatives at the time of his arrest, and that McCreary threatened to arrest members of his family on sight.

Seven State Witnesses.

Seven witnesses were summoned by the state today as County Solicitor George McCaskill prepared to close the case early tomorrow. Each testified that Capone had not asked to use the police station telephone while he was there.

However, one witness, Police Chief Reeve, testified that Director McCreary had ordered that Capone be denied the use of the police station telephone. He added that Capone had not sought the accommodation.

BORROW GUNS TO ROB STORE; LOAN IS THEIR UNDOING

Using borrowed pistols for robbery proved a costly error yesterday for Harold Birnbaum, 1215 East 53d street, and his Negro accomplice, Ernest Simpson, 4721 Indiana avenue.

The pair held up a Schulte cigar store at 150 North Wabash avenue. They took $300 from the clerk, Louis Hersch, and $225 from a customer, Louis Arons, proprietor of a haberdashery at 59 East Randolph street, and escaped.

Half an hour later they called on Robert Hartnett, a Negro of 4646 Federal street, who had loaned them weapons. Having divided the loot with Hartnett, the robbers were departing, when Hartnett, dissatisfied with his share, pursued them to the street. Hartnett had them covered with one of the borrowed pistols when Police Sergeant Frank Reynolds and his squad happened by and arrested all three.

Frank Foster's Bodyguard Held on Narcotic Charge

Los Anegels, Cal., July 11.—[Special.]—George Davis, Bugs Moran gangster and body guard for Frank Foster, was held under $25,000 bail here in federal court today, as fugitive from Detroit on a narcotics charge. Davis, who was booked on this charge under the name of Harry Kirschenbaum, is also held here with Foster for investigation in connection with the murder of Jake Lingle.

"KING OF BOMBERS," ON LIST OF PUBLIC FOES, ARRESTED AGAIN

James Belcastro, termed the "king of bombers" by the Chicago crime commission, and included in the commission's list of 28 public enemies, was arrested again yesterday by Detectives John Howe and William Drury.

The two detectives saw Belcastro at Dearborn and 24th streets and captured him with a companion who gave the name of Samuel Roti, 215 West 23d street.

Neither man was carrying a weapon, but both were taken to the detective bureau for questioning.

GANGSTER HELD AS SUSPECT IN HOLDUP SLAYING

Allister H. O'Brien, north side gangster and brother of William J. O'Brien, who was president of the Fairview dog track, was held in a cell at the detective bureau last night in connection with the shooting to death in a holdup on Wednesday of Mandel Berger, jeweler at 1317 Milwaukee avenue.

Berger was killed by a lone bandit, who fired after Berger, in resisting the holdup, set free a caché of tear gas concealed beneath a showcase. The bandit fled in an auto.

Just what the nature of the evidence, if any, against O'Brien in the shooting might be was not revealed last night. O'Brien is said to have offered an alibi and to have declared he now is employed by his brother in a west side electrical firm. O'Brien, suspected in connection with the St. Valentine's day massacre last year, was mysteriously shot in an apartment at 910 Dakin street in October, 1929. He refused to discuss his four bullet wounds.

WRIT FINDS TARDI UNDERGOING LIE DETECTOR TESTS

Patsi Tardi, gangster and vice monger, who has been in the custody of the police and of Coroner Bundesen for several days, pending investigation of his possible connection with the Lingle murder, yesterday sought his freedom through a writ of habeas corpus obtained from Chief Justice Normoyle of the Criminal court by Attorney Roland Libonati.

The writ was directed at the police, but John Norton, chief of detectives, asserted Tardi was not at the bureau. Libonati finally found Tardi at the office of Coroner Bundesen, where he was undergoing a lie detector test conducted by Dr. Bundesen and Leonard Keeler, perfector of the instrument.

Chief Justice Normoyle then notified the coroner that Tardi, who has a long record as a killer, thief and hoodlum, must be booked by 10 o'clock this morning, or he would free him.

REPORTER GIVEN YEAR IN JAIL FOR EXTORTION PLOT

Los Angeles, Cal., July 11.—[Special.]—One year in county jail and a maximum fine of $5,000 was the sentence imposed on Morris Lavine, former reporter for the Los Angeles Examiner, when Lavine appeared before Superior Judge Rey Schauer today for sentence.

Lavine was convicted of the crime of attempting to extort $75,000 from Charles H. Crawford, a local politician, on threat of having alleged deals in the collapsed Julian Oil company exposed in newspaper articles.

Miss Leontine Johnson, former secretary to S. C. Lewis, president of the Julian Petroleum corporation, and Lavine's co-defendant, was sentenced to nine months in county jail. Judge Schauer overruled their motions for new trials.

HOME IS RANSACKED.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 11.—[Special.]—While she was mowing the lawn today, Mrs. Louis Somerberg, 1706 5th street, told police a burglar ransacked her home, taking $200 in cash and jewelry valued at $30.

ARCHDUKE GOES TO TOMBS CELL TO SPEED TRIAL

New York, July 11.—[Special.]—Archduke Leopold of Austria, sometime bologna salesman, who formerly resided at 151 East 56th street, was at home today and probably will be until October at 101 Center street, which, in some circles, is known as the Tombs prison.

The archduke, who on April 23 was indicted for grand larceny in connection with the sale of the Napoleonic necklace belonging to the Archduchess Marie Therese of Austria, to D. M. Michel, New York jeweler, made the change in residence voluntarily "for the honor of the Hapsburgs."

He appeared before Judge Otto A. Rosalsky in general session, accompanied by his attorney, with the request that his bail of $7,500 be canceled and that he be committed to the Tombs.

The request, which was granted, was accompanied by the explanation that quick trials are granted to persons unable to raise bail. The archduke said he wished a quick trial for several reasons. He wants his good named cleared here and in Austria. His permit to stay in this country expires Aug. 23. He wishes to return to Austria, he explained, because of the recent death of his brother and because conditions there indicate that a growing number of persons wish the return of a monarchy.

His trial, it was indicated, will start about Oct. 1, the original date.

Peter Von Frantzius, Gun Dealer, Is Sued for $50,000

Peter von Frantzius, 608 Diversey parkway, dealer in firearms, was named in a $50,000 damages filed in Superior court yesterday. The suit, charging false arrest and malicious prosecution, was brought by Elliott Wisbrod, formerly known as Louis Weisbrod, at one time an agent for Von Frantzius. According to Attorney Harry A. Abrams, representing Wisbrod, Von Frantzius had Wisbrod arrested for keeping a machine gun which he had agreed to sell. Wisbrod was subsequently dismissed by Municipal Judge Curran when he exhibited a bill of sale for the weapon.

IRISH FREE STATE TO JUNK STATUE OF KING WILLIAM

BOYLE, County Roscommon, Irish Free State, July 11.—(AP)—At last the statue of William, prince of Orange and king of England, erected by an Earl of Kingston 50 years ago, has reached the final stage of its chequered career. It has been sold to a metal dealer for a few shillings and will be melted down and used for building purposes.

The statue, which originally stood on the bridge in the center of this little town, was known locally as "King Billy." For half a century it stood as a challenge to the inhabitants, few of whom adhere to the same faith as did William the third.

Many a time in recent years the statue has overnight been tarred and feathered and painted in the new national colors. Finally it was thrown into the River Shannon, from which Orange partisans rescued it, painted it white, and set it up on a high monument in the local tennis club ground.

BUS PASSENGER WINS $100,000 FOR INJURIES

Jury Returns Verdict in Fifteen Minutes.

A jury in Superior Judge Marcus Kavanagh's court late yesterday returned a verdict of $100,000 damages in favor of John M. Princell, 46 years olds, 1205 Sherwin avenue, against the Pickwick Greyhound Lines company, motorbus operators. The verdict is one of the largest ever won in a personal injury suit in Illinois. The jury was out 15 minutes.

Princell was represented by Attorney Joseph D. Ryan. On Aug. 10, 1929, according to testimony, he was a passenger on one of the company's buses en route from Omaha to Kansas City. While traveling at a speed of 45 miles an hour, near Auburn, Neb., the bus struck a depression in the road, throwing Princell and the seat cushion against the top of the coach. He fell back on the iron seat, receiving several fractured vertebrae and permanent injuries to his spine.

Rests on Couch in Court.

Since the accident Princell has been unable to continue his occupation as a bond salesman. Much of the time during the trial of the suit, which began Wednesday, he was compelled to recline on a couch in the judge's chambers.

Two deaths in Cook county yesterday raised the motor toll for the year to 603. The victims:

Nathaniel Sallis, 83 years old, 7444 East End avenue. Fatally injured when struck by an automobile while crossing 74th street at East End avenue. John Valdkamp, 35 West 109th street, was held by the Grand Crossing police.

Elizabeth Biedenkopf, 2537 Cochran avenue, Blue Island. Died at the Jackson Park hospital from injuries received in an auto accident last Monday at Western avenue and 119th street, Blue Island.

Seized on Tipsy Charge.

Daniel Fitzgerald, 45 years old, 124 West 113th street, was held at the Fillmore street police station charged with operating a street car while intoxicated. According to police, he tried to shove aside three autos which were standing in the car tracks waiting for the traffic signal to change. All three machines were damaged and Miss Elsie Patches, 1705 West 14th street, a passenger in one of the cars, received a broken ankle.

Ill Fated Cherry Mine to Be Reopened and Worked

Cherry, Ill., July 11.—[Special.]—The Cherry mine, scene of a great disaster years ago, will reopen on a large scale this fall. Old workings will be abandoned and new entries made.

GETS DIVORCE

EVELYN LAYE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 11.—Evelyn Laye, British musical comedy star, now in Hollywood, was granted a divorce today from "Sonny" Hale, her actor husband, on grounds of adultery with the actress, Jessie Mathews. The latter collapsed and was carried from the court as her letters, which the judge called the product of an "odious mind," were read into the records.

Miss Laye's deposition charges that she discovered the flaming letters from her husband's divorcee paramour in 1928, and that Hale then admitted adultery. He agreed to give up Miss Mathews if he were taken back, she said, but he did not stay more than a few days before the pair were seen together again, frequently at his West End flat.

Miss Mathews, intervening in the suit, denied adultery after the reconciliation.

CONVICTED 'ATTIC SLAYER' FREED IN CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles, Cal., July 11.—(AP)—Otto Sanhuber, who as the "attic lover" of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, was convicted of the manslaughter eight years ago of her husband, Fred, wealthy manufacturer, was freed today when the state concurred in a defense motion the statute of limitations had nullified the jury's verdict, returned a week ago.

War Veteran of 85 Wins Divorce and Alimony

Montrose, Colo., July 11.—(AP)—Emory C. (Dad) Brooks, 85, civil war veteran, sued his wife, Eva, 63, for divorce and $100 alimony. He won both in a court decision today. The charge was desertion and cruelty.

JUDGE ORDERS COP TO EXPLAIN SLUGGING OF BOY

Assails Tactics Used in Arresting Youth.

Policeman Wellington W. [Two Gun] Britton of the detective bureau is to appear this morning before Judge Francis Allegretti of the Boys' court and explain the slugging of Walter Sund, 17 year old caddy master at the Butterfield Country club in Hinsdale.

"Hitting the boy across the mouth with a revolver is one of the most outrageous things I ever heard of," said Judge Allegretti after summoning Deputy Chief of Detectives John Ryan, "and if you don't do something to punish Policeman Britton, I will." Ryan immediately reported the case to Acting Commissioner John H. Alcock, with recommendation that the policeman's conduct be investigated.

How Slugging Occurred.

With his brother, Fred, who is the assistant professional at the Butterfield club, Walter, a Peoria high school sophomore, had a holiday Thursday and came to Chicago for the first time in his life. After bowling at White City in the evening, they went to the loop to a taxi dance hall. After dancing a while Walter went to the street and was standing in a doorway at State and Van Buren streets waiting for his brother when two men approached him.

Walter had never seen a colored policeman before, so the star flashed by Patrolman James Howland, colored, Britton's partner, did not reassure him, he told Judge Allegretti. With his first week's pay in his pocket he could think of nothing but a robbery, he said.

Strikes Youth with Gun.

Walter stepped back into the doorway, he said, and Britton struck him with his pistol. Then the policemen took him to the detective bureau, questioned him briefly and locked him up on a charge of disorderly conduct. Judge Allegretti tore up the complaint after hearing the boy's story.

Britton denied striking the boy with his gun and said the boy's face must have been cut when he attempted to bite the policeman in the hand. Howland admitted in his statemen to Acting Commissioner Alcock that Britton used the gun.

Wales Gives U. S. Mothers Autographed Diaries

SOUTHAMPTON, England, July 11.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales today presented each of 36 American Gold Star mothers a vellum covered diary bearing his autograph before they sailed for home on the steamship Republic. The women's section of the British Legion gave each of the mothers a bouquet of corn flowers and marigolds.

CALL WITNESSES IN SENATE QUIZ ON PRIMARY COST

Nye to Open Hearing Here Monday.

Sixty subpoenas were being served yesterday summoning persons as witnesses before the senate investigating committee headed by Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota which opens its hearings at the federal building Monday upon expenditures in the April senatorship primary campaign.

One of the writs served late in the day was upon B. W. Snow, Republican county chairman, who may be one of the first on the stand.

Other Subpoenas Served.

Henry C. W. Laubenheimer, United States marshal, announced that those already served include the following: W. R. James, president of the west park board and Cook county manager for Ruth Hanna McCormick; Col. R. R. McCormick, editor of THE TRIBUNE; Earl W. V. LeGrant, of the Voters' Progress club; Chris Paschen, city building commissioner; E. T. Brekke, west park commissioner; Charles Mugler, chief bailiff Criminal court; James E. Snyder, a downstate manager for Mrs. McCormick; James E. Evans, of Edison Park; Mabel Rush, an official of the Railway Men's and Women's McCormick league; John Dedic, Leslie A. Weinrott, Clarence J. Avildsen, and other leaders in the Young People's Movement for Mrs. McCormick.

Continues Kirk Contest.

Judge Thomas Taylor yesterday continued Wallace F. Kirk's contest against State Senator John T. Joyce for the Republican nomination for senator in the 29th district until Sept. 22. Until then the winner will not be known. Kirk is asking that all ballots in the 18th precinct of the 42d ward be thrown out on the ground that voters were illegally "assisted" in marking their ballots. In this precinct Joyce had a plurality of 230.

Joyce carried the district by 271 on the original returns, and the recount reduced this to 171.

G. O. P. LEADERS EXPECT HUSTON TO RESIGN POST

Nutt and Burke Confer with President.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C.—July 11.—[Special.]—Complete confidence was felt by many Republican leaders today that Claudius H. Huston would resign as chairman of the national committee following the adjournment of the present special session of the senate, although in some quarters there continued to be a belief that he would try to hang on.

J. R. Nutt, treasurer of the national committee, and James Francis Burke, general counsel, conferred this morning with President Hoover, reviewing yesterday's meeting of heads of the party committees at which the demands for the retirement of Mr. Huston were discussed.

While no statement was issued from the White House it is understood that the President was given to understand that Mr. Huston will resign as soon as the senate adjourns.

Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] appears to be definitely slated for the chairmanship and Robert H. Lucas of Kentucky, commissioner of internal revenue, for chairman of the executive committee.

There seems to be some question as to whether Mr. Huston definitely promised yesterday to resign, but in any event he gave the impression to the party leaders that he would do so.

It is believed that the calling of a meeting of the executive committee will be announced simultaneously with the announcement of Mr. Huston's resignation.

Murder Proves Fine Art in Van Dine Book

While C. R. Jones' Effort Is Less Studied.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The Scarab Murder Case," by S. S. Van Dine. (Scribner's.)
"The Torch Murder," by Charles Reed Jones. (Dutton.)

If you are feeling like unraveling a mystery over the week-end these two volumes offer you allurements. S. S. Van Dine has been the most spectacularly successful example of a writer succeeding in a milieu apparently foreign to his literary nature in the history of American literature, I should say.

S. S. VAN DINE.

No writer of his day was for years so wholly high brow as Willard Huntington Wright. He could dash off a volume on the science of esthetics that became a textbook, a history of modern art that antedated the millions of words that have been expended upon it subsequently. He wrote learnedly of culture in the real, not the synthetic, sense of the word. He wrote one novel which was so good that only a few read it, but which had the most extravagant praise from those few.

Then suddenly he was laid low by a nervous breakdown. In sheer desperation, because his doctor refused him all implements of writing and all books on any of the subjects which interested him, he began to read mystery stories. Then to write one, with permission of a doctor, who thought it a harmless pursuit—"The Benson Murder Case," and immediate and immense kudos.

There have followed "The Canary," "The Greene," and "The Bishop" murder cases, all with the central figure of Philo Vance, all written under the assumed name of S. S. Van Dine, jocularly chosen by Mr. Wright as a mask for his first literary indiscretion. They all have been written with the same formula—a psychological twist of the murderer. The detective hero always is a gentleman and a scholar. In this latest of the Philo Vance mysteries he is a scholar indeed, a little thing like Egyptian hieroglyphics is to him, less than a dash of French on a menu to a traveler.

The person murdered was a very wealthy old man, who had contributed the funds for the very museum in which he was found murdered and for the very missile which did him in.

The investigation is carried on without any rubber hose, and only the intensely keen observation of the hero brings to light the real murderer. It is a clever ruse, which throws the reader off the trail of the murderer. These assorted murder cases by Mr. Wright are written for intelligent readers rather than emotional ones, and they are written well. Mr. Vance has become by this time slightly cloying as a person, but as a detective he is as exciting as he was in his first case.

"The Torch Murder" is the first of a new series of mysteries published by E. P. Dutton—an amusing experiment in publishing. When all of the clews to the culprit or culprits have been presented to the reader there is a page inserted in the book inviting him to send his guess to the publishers about the identity of the murderer. If his guess is correct he will receive from the publishers a card saying so. When he has received three such cards from Dutton Clew Mysteries he will be presented with a Dutton Clew mystery free.

"The Torch Murder" is the second mystery by Charles Reed Jones—he wrote "The King Murder," and it, too, has a gentleman amateur sleuth, one Leighton Swift by name, who has an annoying habit of calling himself Papa Swifty.

I am not a reader of mystery stories and I am the sort of person who, if fifty people know a whisper of gossip, is the fifty-first to guess it, so I was not surprised when I had made all of the wrong guesses possible about who popped off old Benjamin H. Kyle. But I was very surprised to find that I guessed the trick almost at once in "The Torch Murder," although the details of the murder escaped me.

BLUNDEN BOOK ABOUT LEIGH HUNT EVOKES SWINNERTON PRAISE

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—There is no doubt that the book which is attracting most attention in England at the moment—of course, apart from that strangely entitled life of William Cowper, "The Stricken Deer," which has just been given the Hawthornden prize—is Mr. Edmund Blunden's biography of Leigh Hunt. Mr. Blunden has been working upon this book, on and off, for ten years. It was announced while Mr. Blunden was contributing notes on the early nineteenth century to The Nation under the editorship of H. W. Massingham. He began to be known to those who care for letters when Siegfried Sassoon first enthusiastically discovered Mr. Blunden's privately printed poetry.

EDMUND BLUNDEN.

Thereafter Mr. Blunden followed Robert Nichols as professor of English literature at Tokio university, and his contributions to letters became editorial. Now the life of Leigh Hunt is with us. It is commendably free from the effort to write biography in the Strachean manner.

For most people, of course, the most familiar version of Hunt's character is that given by Dickens in "Bleak House," where Harold Skimpole reproduces a number of Hunt's mannerisms, without, however, providing a true portrait of the man. Further, Hunt's "Autobiography" is well known. But Mr. Blunden has taken trouble to clear up a number of points upon which the world has been led to misjudge Hunt. He has pictured him as, no doubt, he was—a sort of hard working butterfly. And his book is very entertaining.

Only Penguins Cold to Byrd at Putnam Fete

Several Books to Tell Explorers' Story.

BY ALTA MAY COLEMAN.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The Antarctic contributed the high spot to mid-summer literar; festivities, by wa of the luncheo for Rear Admira Richard E. Byr given by Georg Palmer Putnan at the new Bar bizon-Plaza hote on Monday. It wa a most swell-ele gant affair, give friendly ease b the delightfull forthright person ality of the gues of honor. It brought big news in the revelation that several books by members of the expedition will share with the public the thrills, the beauty, and the scientific data of the two year adventure.

RICHARD E. BYRD. [P. & A. Photo.]

Of prime interest to the general reader will be Byrd's own book, "Little America," subtitled "Aerial Explorations in the Antarctic; the Flight to the South Pole." This, according to Mr. Putnam, will set forth "the great main story" and will be issued in November.

Prof. Lawrence Gould, assisted by the six other scientists who accompanied the expedition, is scheduled to have ready in the spring of 1931 four volumes dealing with the scientific findings.

Paul Siple [If you don't know who he is, ask any Boy Scout] will see in print this fall his story, "A Boy Scout with Byrd." And Russell Owen, the New York Times reporter who sent back daily dispatches from Little America, will give us the "word pictorial side of the Antarctic" in a book to be issued next year.

The luncheon abounded in metropolitan excitements—flashlights, gate crashers, a song dedicated to "Our Heroes of the Air," a menu featuring selle d'agneau Admiral Byrd and les pingouins du pole sud, the penguins realistically modeled in ice cream, being perched on an ice sculpture of crags dominated by a life size bird.

A close up of Admiral Byrd adds to his widely known pictures a touch of gray at the temples and an easy grace in his erect bearing. Reams of publicity have left no patina of the patterned hero on the natural directness and simplicity of his individuality. Not a glib talker, his words have the authentic stamp of the genuine. He made no formal address—"I'm tired of hearing myself talk"—but greeted by name "these old friends of mine who are present," introduced various members of his expedition. He presented to Mr. Putnam a flag of the Explorers' club, which he was "glad—proud to carry."

Mr. Putnam, vice president of the Explorers, stated that the flag would take its place in the clubhouse with trophies of Peary, Amundsen, and other explorers.

The half hundred guests included Amelia Earhart, Clarence D. Chamberlin, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Reid, Ray Long, Corey Ford, Ruth Nichols.

Stories of Animals Told with Science for the Children

BY AGATHA L. SHEA.

[Director of children's work for branches Chicago Public Library.]

"The Stir of Nature," by William H. Carr. (Oxford.)
"The White House Gang," by Earle Looker. (Revell.)
"Little Pilgrim to Penn's Wood," by Edna Albert. (Longmans-Green.)

An excellent book for the young naturalist, to whom vacation days bring happy hours with friends in fur and feathers, is William Carr's "The Stir of Nature." Both boys and girls will find it not only a source of information, but a most fascinating, true story as well. The author is assistant curator of education in the American Museum of Natural History. Very dull indeed must be the boy or girl in whom this story of the magic world of nature arouses no thrill.

In the last chapter Mr. Carr has given his young readers in each section of the country a list of various animals, birds and reptiles which they may find in their own localities, and a brief description by which they may identify them. The book is illustrated with photographs and drawings, has brief bibliographies for those who would read further, and is exceedingly attractive throughout. One cannot but wish that this wealth of material so fascinatingly presented might find its way into the hands of every child over ten, and especially that it might find the "problem" child who so often needs only a wholesome interest in things about him to cease being a problem.

Young people who enjoyed Theodore Roosevelt's "Letters to His Children" probably will be interested in Earle Looker's "The White House Gang," a story of the little group of schoolboys, led by Quentin Roosevelt, who spent many happy hours at the White House during the Roosevelts' residence there. It is a tale of boyhood, its pranks and thoughtlessness, its chivalry and ideals, and of the intangible influence upon it of the busy man who was never too absorbed in affairs of state to keep in touch with his boy and the gang to which he belonged. The author was a member of that gang.

Girls, especially, will like Edna Albert's "Little Pilgrim to Penn's Woods," a story of the early German immigrants who sought liberty of conscience in William Penn's colony, fifty years before the revolution. There is the story of the happy life in the homeland with its kindly people and its simplicity, of the long sea voyage saddened by the death of the little sister, and the exciting adventures of the new land. The story is interesting, the historical background good and the heroine a genuine little girl. It is for children of 10-11 years.

Meetings and Lectures

On Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock Prof. Leonard Bloomfield, University of Chicago, will lecture on "Our Earliest Speech." Prof. Walker Starkie, University of Dublin, will talk about "Spain in the Eighteenth Century: Literature, Art, Music," at the same time on Wednesday afternoon. "Little Men and Great Events in History: Thomas Paine, Idealist and Revolutionary Thinker," will be the subject of Prof. William E. Dodd's discussion on Thursday at the same time, while on Friday at the same hour Prof. Hayward Keniston will lecture on "Some Modernist Poets in Spanish." All four lectures will be held in the Harper assembly room of the University of Chicago.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS

WITH THE LITERARY EDITOR.

FICTION.

French Leave, by Jeannette Phillips Gibbs [Little-Brown], is the story of an expatriate American artist who has become more Parisian than the natives, and a girl, the daughter of a rich American business man, who live together in Paris, and the ensuing complications.

Rhododendron Pie, by Margery Sharp [Appleton], is a pleasant tale of a family of dilettantes and one offspring that was practical rather than precious.

By the Waters of Manhattan, by Charles Reznikoff [Paper Books], is a story of three generations of a Jewish family in Russia, as immigrants in America, and finally as native born New Yorkers.

Domitila, by Paulo Setubal [Coward-McCann], is a translation of a fictionized picture of a brilliant period in Brazilian history, written by the most popular modern Brazilian novelist.

MYSTERY.

Green Ice, by Raoul Whitfield [Knopf], is a thriller about how the big guys in the gun toting business operate, written by one of New York's Four Hundred, social, not machine gun.

The Yellow Crystal, by Anthony Wynne [Lippincott], is another mystery unraveled by Dr. Hailey, Mr. Wynne's fearless detective.

The French Powder Mystery [Stokes] is by Ellery Queen, whom the London Times once nominated as "the logical successor to Sherlock Holmes."

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Andromeda in Wimpole Street, by Dormer Creston [Dutton], is the true story of one of the greatest loves of all romance, that of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning.

Isaac Jogues, by Martin J. Scott, S. J. [Kenedy], is the life of the first saint to be canonized from the United States.

D. L. Moody, by W. R. Moody [Macmillan], is a biography of that great evangelist written by his eldest son.

NONFICTION.

Black Manhattan, by James Weldon Johnson [Knopf], is a scholarly, illuminating history of New York's black population.

Man and His Universe, by John Langdon-Davies [Harpers], is a brilliant survey of man's emergence from ignorance to at least partial knowledge of what makes up his world and his universe.

A Rumanian Diary, by Hans Carossa [Knopf], is the diary of a German army doctor on the Rumanian front in 1916—a frank, intense and at times beautiful record of the war.

The Rural Negro, by Carter Gowdin Woodson, is a survey on the subject sponsored by the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History.

Investment Fundamentals, by Roger W. Babson [Harpers], tells the ordinary man in the street what Roger Babson has been telling a lucky few for years.

The Future of Drinking, by Gilbert Seldes [Little Brown], is a half serious volume on the subject made frivolous by illustrations by Don Herold.

Heaven, by Frank Townshend [Knopf], is a long poem following the philosophic way set by his "Earth."

NATURALLY, we do not recommend these books to you, simply because they are best-sellers or because everyone is talking about them. We do feel, however, that, according to your taste, you, too, will find in these books that "indefinable something" which has made thousands of others read them with so much enjoyment.

So different from each other, covering such a variety of tastes, but each possessing an irresistible appeal that has made them tremendously popular with the American press and reading public.

AMERICAN TELLS WEIRD STORY OF HORROR ASYLUM

Beaten and Forced to Use Narcotic, He Says.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 11.—John F. Phillips, 40 year old property owner of Great Neck, Long Island, who had always led the life of a normal American business man until he suffered a nervous breakdown following his market losses last fall, has just returned from the place he thinks very few people have ever left except in a coffin or a straight jacket.

He is almost hysterically happy to be back in the free world. One of the ill effects he shows as a result of his nightmare adventure is a tendency to scream when he sees a certain type of fountain pen which reminds him of a hypodermic syringe, and general nervousness, which he attributes to the daily forced use of a strong narcotic over a period of two months.

Tells of People He Met.

During his involuntary two months' stay in Switzerland in what he calls a prison house of horrors—the institution is officially known as a private sanitarium—he said he made the acquaintance of a number of wealthy aristocratic Europeans whose families had decided they were insane and who had them incarcerated. In particular he said he had met an Italian countess whom he says is perfectly sound in mind and body but whose parents keep her imprisoned at the sanitarium because she refused to marry an octogenarian rake. All of the inmates, according to Mr. Phillips, are terrorized and kept under the influence of powerful drugs and every effort to communicate with the outside world is frustrated.

This fantastic story, which is more like one of the wilder dreams of Edgar Wallace than a real life episode of the 20th century but is possible under the loose continental insanity laws, he personally told THE TRIBUNE correspondent today in a Paris hotel. Although haggard and nervous as a result of his harrowing experience, Mr. Phillips related his story in perfect coherence and in an unemotional voice.

Plans Damage Suit.

George C. De Lacoyne, one of the most respected attorneys in the American colony here, summed up the case by saying:

"Maybe Phillips is crazy. If he is, I am crazy, too, and so is Curtis Everett, the American consul at Geneva, who secured Phillips' release from the sanitarium near Vevey, Switzerland, and so is the firm of Swiss lawyers to whom we have explained the case and hired to bring suit in the Lausanne courts.

Mr. Phillips came to France in December to recuperate from a nervous breakdown. He was recommended to the sanitarium and went there in March to rest. He left a sum with a French lawyer to cover his weekly bills at the sanitarium. Early in May he decided he was cured so he notified the doctors that he was leaving and told the lawyer to discontinue the payments.

Forced to Remain.

"But while packing my bags," declared Phillips, "three attendants entered and removed my identification papers from my bags. They gave no explanation. They then locked the doors and windows and left the room.

"I stayed in that room until June 11, when I succeeded in dropping a letter out through a crack in the window which eventually reached the American consul. At all times I was subjected to every sort of ill treatment. I was kicked, beaten, starved and forced to take a strong narcotic which is one of the fiendish ways the sanitarium discipline is enforced. The idea is to break down the morale completely so the patient will become a real lunatic.

"All of my mail was confiscated. I lost track of my daughter, Mrs. Beatrice Phillips Bowden, and am still trying vainly to locate her in New York. I suppose she thinks I have disappeared."

JAIL M'DONALD, STATE WITNESS IN MOONEY TRIAL

Baltimore, Md., July 11.—[Special.]—John McDonald, object of a nation-wide search in a renewed effort to obtain a pardon for Thomas Mooney, was located in Baltimore tonight.

Recognized by John C. Taeuber from a newspaper photograph as a former boarder at his home, McDonald was taken into custody by the police. He reiterated a statement made several years ago that his testimony in the trial of Mooney and Warren K. Billings was perjury.

Mooney and Billings now are serving life sentences for the bombing of the San Francisco Preparedness day parade in 1916 that took a toll of ten lives. At their trial McDonald testified he had seen them carrying a suit case near the scene.

Held for investigation, McDonald made this statement:

"I, John McDonald, aged 58 years, residing in Baltimore city, testified as a witness for the state of California versus Thomas Mooney and Warren K. Billings. I never saw Mooney until taken to the Hall of Justice in San Francisco and was told by an officer that this was Mooney (pointing him out to me).

"My testimony in the various cases was untrue and false. I desire to undo the wrong done by me in sending Mooney to prison, regardless of personal consequences. The authorities got me to testify that I identified Mooney, but this is an absolute falsehood."

FEDERAL GRAPE DRIVE WORKER SLAIN; 2 SHOT

Fresno, Cal., July 11.—(AP)—Randal Matignon, federal grape control campaign worker, was shot and killed tonight as he drove into the ranch property of A. Egeoleo, east of here, to seek a contract signature. Wilbur Berry, accompanying Matignon, and Mrs. Egeoleo were wounded. Matignon and Berry, Sanger business men, were grape drive volunteer workers.

Treasury Official Here for Postoffice Parley

Ferry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury, arrived here yesterday for a series of conferences with local federal and railroad officials and business men in connection with the erection of the new postoffice building. The conferences will be held next week when Mr. Heath will be joined by John W. Philp, fourth assistant postmaster general. Negotiations will be conducted with the Union Terminal company for air rights over the property bounded by Harrison, Canal and Van Buren streets and the Van Buren Parcel Post building.

WORKERS GIVEN CONTROL OF BIG FOOD BUSINESS

No Bosses; Married Men Get Pay and Half.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 11.—(AP)—In celebration of the thirteenth anniversary of a social-industrial experiment in business management, employés of the Columbia Conserve company, a food products concern, today took over fifty one per cent of the stock of this company, which last year did $1,600,000 worth of business.

The 150 employés, through their stock ownership, were placed in a position whereby they might discharge the company president, William P. Hapgood.

The employés acquired the stock without paying for it. Accumulated profits were used to purchase the stock, which was given outright to the employés.

Hapgood and his two brothers, Norman Hapgood, the editor, and Hutchins Hapgood, inherited the plant in 1917. They made a contract with their employés as a group for purchase of the business.

There are many unusual features in the operation of the plant.

A married man receives fifty per cent higher wages than a single man and he gets $2 a week more for each child up to three.

The plant has no "bosses." There are "leaders," who may give directions.

Man Dies from Effects of Bite by Pet Kitten

Kewanee, Ill., July 11.—(AP)—Harry Leadley, 63, farmer of Wyoming, Ill., died last night of a spinal infection that resulted from the bite of a pet kitten several days ago.

Soviet Food Regime Faces Crisis, Church Survey Says

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

New York, July 11.—[Special.]—The race in Russia is between success on a grand scale of the soviet plan of socializing the nation and possible catastrophe, according to a survey of the Russian situation made public today by the department of research and education of the federal council of churches.

The survey, it is asserted, is based upon wide, first hand observation of Russian events extending over a period of years and furnishes what the authors believe to be "the most accurate, balanced and recent report available to our readers."

First Practical Test.

Without undertaking to make predictions as to the ultimate result of the present efforts of the soviet government toward the industrialization of the country, the authors of the survey declare that this year will witness the first practical test of the communist theory that their program of collectivization will prove successful in overcoming the chronic shortage of agricultural products and foodstuffs in Russia, a shortage which is manifesting itself in the persistent rationing of the urban population.

Asserting that the chronic food shortage "is not due to war or any exceptional natural catastrophe," the survey attributes it to "the new revolution involved in the collectivization of agriculture which, thus far, has destroyed the surplus production of the richer peasants faster than it has created new stores of surplus produce through the state and collective farms; the rapid growth in demand for food connected with the expansion of the cities and the big building projects which the soviet government is pushing forward with such feverish energy; the continued exportation of such food products as eggs, butter, fruit, caviar, etc.; the frequently unsatisfactory functioning of the transport and coöperative distributing system."

Food Supply Critical.

After reviewing what the survey presents as the actual facts in the industrial, agricultural and general economic situation of soviet Russia, the anonymous authors say:

"The imposing new soviet industrial structure is being reared on a narrow basis as regards food and raw material. The average laborer or office employe cannot do his best work on the food that is to be obtained now. And, if the human element in production is dependent upon agricultural food products, the machines and factories in many cases are almost equally dependent upon agricultural raw material. So, from whatever angle one attempts to study the present Russian situation one must always come back to the peasant producer as the basic factor in the success or failure of the five-year plan."

Food Always Scarce.

What the difficulties in the domain of food supply are may be gleaned from the following facts presented in the survey:

Manual workers can buy two pounds of bread a day and members of their families and other holders of food cards, one pound. Manual workers also are favored in the distribution of meat, of which they can buy one-half pound a day as against one-quarter of a pound for other citizens. There are, however, eight or ten meatless days every month. The meat ration sometimes consists of salt or canned meat.

Woman Shot to Death at Home; Hunt for Husband

Mary Jenkins, 55 years old, white, was shot three times and fatally wounded in the doorway of her home at 5103 Federal street last night. She was dead up on arrival at the Chicago hospital. The woman's husband, Paul Jenkins, a Negro, from whom she was separated, is sought.

RUSSIA REDUCES BUYING ABROAD BY $100,000,000

Forces Factories to Use Home Made Machinery.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, July 11.—A revision of the import plan of the soviet government, resulting in a $100,000,000 reduction in purchases abroad, has been affected, according to Commissar of National Economy Ordshonikidsie, who claims he has discovered that Russia is able to supply many of the wants of bolshevism's industries.

Commissar Ordshonikidsie is disguested because all soviet industrial institutions are insisting that they be supplied with American or German machinery, especially boilers and turbines, instead of being willing to accept Russian made articles. He said that while the foreign machines are undoubtedly better, still the home-made goods can be substituted.

According to Moscow Economic Life the commissar's claims were scouted by a director of one of the industrial plants who showed him figures proving that machinery made in the Gary, Ind., rolling mills could be shipped to Russia at a price lower than that quoted by the Leningrad factories.

The director claimed the machinery made in Russia is not usable and that it is still necessary to import hundreds of millions of dollars' worth from abroad before Russia's heavy industries could begin to supply the needs of the nation.

Indict Airport as Nuisance; Say Dust Raised Ruins Homes

New York, July 11.—[Special.]—On the ground that dust raised by arriving and departing airplanes damaged property and polluted the air, the Westchester county grand jury at White Plains today indicted the Westchester Airport Company, Inc., for maintaining a public nuisance at Armonk, N. Y., where the company's landing field is located. The case is the first of its kind on record and recalls similar actions raised many years ago against railroad stations where locomotives belched tons of soot and cinders.

District Attorney Frank H. Coyne started the action after Armonk residents had complained that the dust raised by planes settled over their homes, dirtied and damaged their property, and so clogged the air that they were forced to sleep at night with their windows closed.

A summons, returnable July 22, was served on Daniel J. Barrett, president of the airport.

Protest Altitude Ruling.

Cleveland, O., July 11.—(AP)—A federal court ruling setting 500 feet as the minimum height at which airplanes may fly over property adjacent to airports was described today by Maj. Louis G. Meister, Cleveland manager of the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, as a "menace to aviation." The ruling was given by Federal Judge George P. Hahn of Toledo.

Maj. Meister asserted that more than 3,500 feet of ground space is needed for pilots to bring their planes down from an altitude of 500 feet and that very few airports in the country are large enough for this.

Judge Hahn's ruling was in connection with the suit brought by Raymond L. and Frederick H. Swetland seeking to have the airport at Richmond Heights village adjoining their estate declared a nuisance.

TENNESSEE SLIPS PAST 3 RIVALS IN STATE CENSUS

Washington, D. C., July 11.—(AP)—Tennessee, the "Volunteer State," had a population growth during the last ten years which took her past he neighboring state of Kentucky and her rival states of Iowa and Minnesota in the middle west.

As a result of her 271,752 increase in population, bringing her total to 2,609,637, Tennessee may take rank as the fifteenth state unless Alabama keeps its old 10,000 lead.

If Alabama retains her lead, Tennessee will be exceeded only by Texas, Georgia and North Carolina among southern states.

PLEA OF CHICAGO SLAYERS FACING DEATH IS DENIED

Springfield, Ill., July 11.—[Special.]—The state parole board today denied clemency in the case of Leon Brown and Lafon Fisher, colored, sentenced to be electrocuted at Chicago on July 25 for the murder of Martin French in the holdup of the Franklin Trust and Savings bank. Pleas in behalf of the men were made at a session of the board recently.

The case of Leonard Shadlow, the third member of the gang, who has also been sentenced to die July 25, has not been presented to the board. The case was set for hearing, but Shadlow did not appear.

LEADS IN THE GANG MURDERS.

State's Attorney Swanson will not call Harry T. Brundidge of the St. Louis Star before the grand jury unless the usual procedure of presenting evidence is followed. He says the reporter must be examined in the state's attorney's office first. The management of the newspaper will not permit its reporter to be examined in this fashion, but did consent to have him appear before the grand jury for questioning there.

The prosecutor insists that he must pass upon the nature of the information and its worth, which is reasonable. The newspaper's position is also reasonable in this particular instance. It fears that its reporter very likely will be coming into an atmosphere of hostility and it considers the possibility of finding him, and itself, discredited without reaching the grand jury at all. The witness is out of the jurisdiction of the state and his testimony must be voluntary.

Mr. Brundidge was assigned to an investigation of the Lingle murder, and in his articles, two of which were reproduced in THE TRIBUNE, he made certain definite accusations against Chicago newspaper employés. He said that Julius Rosenheim, killed Feb. 1, had been an underworld crime informant of the Chicago Daily News. This was the first public statement of his connection with the Daily News, which has since been acknowledged.

The Brundidge articles mentioned another newspaper man who had been Capone's guest in Florida and in Havana, where this gangster and his followers were arrested, and they charge other crimes.

These are leads in the investigation. A break in the wall of secrecy protecting gang murders must be found. In disclosing Reese as a valuable witness in the Rosenheim case Brundidge has done a valuable service.

The unnamed man who was Capone's guest may have information when he has been identified. Every trail into the woods must be followed if anything is to be made of this exceptional opportunity to break down organized crime, thus far immune. A means should be found to make Mr. Brundidge's information available.

THE BOY SCOUTS.

The canoe trip of the selected group of Boy Scouts, in charge of Bob Becker, seems to have been a great success. THE TRIBUNE hopes not only that it has been an enjoyable and profitable experience for those who have taken part but that it will advertise the splendid organization of American youth, the Boy Scouts, where it will do the most good to all concerned. We hope it will bring new recruits to its ranks and new adult friends to the movement. There is no association for the happiness and character making of young America more deserving of generous support.

The boy of our generation has had to meet difficult conditions. If he lives in a more secure and comfortable world than his parents and predecessors, that very fact has its offset. He has been rapidly losing the wholesome contacts with wild nature, the stimulus to initiative, industry, and self-reliance which the boy of the farm and village of early days found a part of his daily living. Substitutes were few and not easy to find. The Boy Scout movement is an inspired effort to restore to youth its heritage of adventure and the resources from which the pathfinders and builders of our world drew strength and competence to meet its great opportunities. To keep physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight are the objectives of the Scout; to do his duty to God and his country and to help others are his ideals. What better could be offered youth?

On this foundation the many interesting activities of the Scouts are developed. The pity is that all American boys are not in the organization. Its membership is large, but not large enough; it is growing, but not fast enough. Especially for boys of the great cities and among these chiefly those whose parents cannot provide for them the privileges of country life, of special camps and expeditions, the Boy Scout organization should be made as available as practicable. There is, we know, no lack of zeal and enterprise among its managers, but they should have all the material means and all the aid and cooperation of which they can make use. The Boy Scout movement is one of the most important and effective phases of national conservation. It is conserving the best in American opportunity. It is building success on the highest and surest foundation. It is building citizens and through them the happiness and greatness of the nation.

SUPPOSITITIOUS CORRESPONDENCE.

The confidential correspondence relating to the naval treaty and the requirements of the senate and the department of state regarding it presented a nice problem of conduct. It was one view that the treaty itself contained everything necessary for a senate decision. That was the first position taken by the administration. It was another view that the agreement could be understood only in the light of intentions and that they would be found in the exchanges of opinion. The senate was asked to ratify an agreement which the preponderant opinion of American naval men held to be unsatisfactory. What then were the other reasons, if any, which would outweigh the expert naval advice to the senators? Seemingly a rational inquiry.

The correspondence was said to contain dynamite. Many government exchanges do. It was possible that Gen. Dawes, the American ambassador, had been free and easy in his reports on the British government and that a publication of his comments would create bad feeling and force his recall. There was a more serious possibility, that he had reported conversations with Mr. MacDonald and other British officials dealing with other nations.

Mr. MacDonald might, let it be imagined, have said that nothing could be expected of France and Italy in the naval conference, which must be prepared in advance to make a three party agreement; that Mussolini was creating impossible conditions in Europe which would require his deflation very soon; that he was really quite mad and it was a mistake to construe his speeches as parts of home theatricals; that France was prepared to abate the nuisance before it was entirely out of hand and had all of Europe embroiled again.

Mr. MacDonald might have said that it was thought best to permit France to clean up the Mediterranean situation whenever it concluded that the time had arrived, and for this reason it must be allowed to refrain from an agreement with Italy. The French would make the disagreement in some fashion in London and it must be understood in advance to save the conference, which, in the light of these facts, had become more necessary than ever. The United States and Great Britain would be required to control the situation and localize the war, to keep Germany from taking the Danzig corridor, Silesia and the old parts of the Austrian empire, to keep Russia out of the Indian revolt and Japan out of Shantung or to put Japan in Manchuria if needed against Russia.

If Mr. MacDonald had asked Gen. Dawes to communicate these views to his government it might explain the American willingness to conform to British naval policy. It might, known to the senate, have resulted in the immediate ratification of the treaty with virtually no debate or it might have brought about the rejection without much explanation, conceding the possibility that the senate would act so decisively with so much discretion. The explosion of such information publicly could have immediate consequences in Europe. The withholding of the correspondence might have unpredictable consequences later.

BOULDER AND BOLDER DAMS.

Secretary Wilbur has signed the first order for construction work on Boulder dam. The word was telegraphed to the engineers already on the ground and they have begun to lay out the roads and railroad and town needed by the workers. Mr. Wilbur says the government will make new geography and start a new era, new irrigation districts, new mines and new industries, new growth for Los Angeles and other cities. Southern California has caught the biggest sucker ever enticed into a real estate deal, the United States.

When the government is spending money to make agriculture pay on land now under cultivation and to get American farmers a price for what is now produced it has been also induced to spend money to make the desert arable and add more crops to production now looking for consumers. It has been induced to subsidize private enterprise in one section with power that it may use in competing with private enterprise in other regions taxed to make this competition possible. Other cities have worked out their own engineering problems at their own expense to provide their water supply and keep it pure, in luck if the federal government did not try to prevent them. The southern California cities have drawn on the national treasury for their water fund and will use it to grow grass on new subdivisions for private profit.

As Mr. Wilbur of California says: "By increasing the water supply of Los Angeles and surrounding cities, homes and industries are made possible for millions of people." This is not being done by the enterprise and activity of the people themselves in carving their prosperity out of the conditions in which they live, but by their success in carving their way into the federal treasury.

Before the dam is completed one of the greatest engineering accomplishments may be required, and it may be successfully delivered, but, great as it may be thus, it will never be so stupendous as it has already been in political engineering. In that it is unparalleled.

Editorial of the Day

WHY THE MAILS ARE SAFE.

[Kansas City (Mo.) Times.]

A review by the chief postoffice inspector of five years of activity against theft, robbery, and fraudulent use of the mails makes an impressive showing. It reveals a high percentage of arrests and convictions of persons charged with this form of lawlessness. But it reveals that, whereas crime supposedly has been on the increase, there has been no recent growth of these forms of offenses, but in some instances a decline. There continue to be mail robberies, holdups, and other similar crimes. Yet in comparison with the volume of money or other valuables handled in the mails, the losses are almost negligible. It is said, for example, that in the war period nearly 50 billion dollars in Liberty bonds was carried through the mails without the loss of a single dollar.

The condition is not an accident. The criminal lets the mails alone because he knows that the chances of getting by with robbery, holdup, or theft are extremely slight. He not only is pretty certain to be run down and arrested but convicted and punished. Law enforcement in this particular affords an excellent example. It may be too much to expect such efficiency in all other cases. But a vast improvement in most other instances can be expected.

A MANY LINKED DISEASE.

FROM the public health standpoint malaria is what is known as a many linked disease. The mosquito is one link; the susceptible man, another; the sick man, a third; the carrier, a fourth. In order that the disease shall continue to exist it must travel back and forth among these links. Break any link, and there is no continuity of the chain; the disease dies out. Time and again in the history of society malaria has died out in one country or another.

Various methods of breaking the chain by destroying one or more links have been put in operation. Among these are: Major drainage, minor drainage, oiling water, treating water with larvacides, killing mosquitoes that have recently fed, screening houses, curing the sick, and treating the carriers. Each method accomplishes results. One method is best in one place or at one time. Another is better suited for other circumstances.

In Mississippi they are especially interested in screening of houses. They have invented a cheap, well built, durable, effective screen door which they are having installed. This door is made with H mesh galvanized iron screening. It is securely put together and is so constructed that it is not easily broken nor perforated. It can be installed for two dollars a door and one dollar a window. The health inspector of a county makes the rounds in a summer season and secures orders for screen doors and windows. Later in the season he measures up the doors and windows, and orders doors and screens to be delivered after the crops have been gathered. He next visits the houses to see that the doors and windows are properly installed. Dr. Coogle says it is even more important that a door should be well hung than that it should be well made. The interior of the house is papered. The total cost of making a small house mosquito proof—screen doors, windows, and papered walls—is less than ten dollars.

To prevent mosquitoes from coming through the fireplace they hang a bag of naphthalene in the chimney. The bag is made of cheese cloth. The naphthalene may be in flakes or in so-called moth balls. Mosquitoes will not come down a chimney which is filled with the emanations of naphthalene. Perhaps the same powder could be used in closed spaces against bedbugs, lice, and other insects as well as mosquitoes, fleas, and moths against which it is now employed.

So successful have these health officers been that in one county one-half the rural homes are now screened. A few other counties have records that approach those of Leflore, the banner county.

HAVE A PHYSICIAN EXAMINE.

J. A.-C. writes: I am a sufferer from a nervous disorder. Oftentimes, after retiring at night, I am taken with a nervous twitch centered in about the left shoulder and the upper left armpit. Just before the twitch takes effect in the form of a jerk, the high tension of nerve action is plainly noticeable in the muscle section of the upper arm; a second later the jerk comes. This jerk can be avoided only by the speedy motion of the hand, with the entire length of arm straightened outward, to utilize the entire nerve force behind this action. A sense of relaxation is had for a minute or two. Also noticeable is the weakness of muscles in the entire upper arm and armpit. Soon to follow is another such jerk. This sort of thing is continued over a period of one hour or more, sometimes lasting as long as two hours, until I am so worn out and weak that there is no more force to be used. After this I soon fall asleep, worn out, and sleep for about 14 hours. On awakening I am weak and sleepy until I get my coffee and my shoulder and upper arm are very sore. What do you think causes these twitches?

REPLY.

Have a physician examine you for a spasmodic disorder due to disease of spinal cord or nerves of shoulder. If these be ruled out then the condition is voluntary, probably hysterical. The one calls for medical treatment, the other for mental and social treatment.

TRAINING FOR BASHFUL ONE.

Tiny Tim writes: To tell a sick person he looks very ill will make him worse, yet why do some people remind a bashful person of his bashfulness? I was born self-conscious and it makes me worse to be reminded of it all the time.

REPLY.

All you can do is to train yourself to disregard these people.

LEAKY HYDRANT.

Chicago, July 7.—[Friend of the People.]—Can the fire plug at the northeast corner of Cass street and Chicago avenue be repaired without further delay? The crossing is very bad, due to the emission of the constant streams of water. It has been in the present condition for months and may not be in condition for fire protection as it now stands. S. C. A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

IF I WERE CONAN DOYLE.

If I were Conan Doyle,
At last set free from earth,
I wouldn't waste any time calling up people
Over here.
The central girl across the Styx
Is probably just like the ones we have here
On earth. Why, if I crossed the Styx
And tried to call up the folks back home
And held the receiver to my ear
For what would be a couple of hours over here
(They don't count time over there),
And the Styx operator finally said,
"Say, party, that number doesn't answer,"
I'd almost wish I weren't dead.
Or if they have the dial phones installed
Over there, do you think I'd want to sit around
Picking out numbers and spinning that thing
When I could go outdoors and Talk with old Charon the boatman,
Who rowed me over, and ask him
If he had any trouble when he Brought Captain Kidd across, or if Noah
Made a row because he Couldn't bring his animals with him
Two by two?

No, when I get over there
No fat and blowsy medium over here
Can say she's got me on
The ouija board and that after reaching the land
Of spirits, the greatest adventure that any soul
Could undergo, all I could find to say
Was, "I am very happy here—
And I hope you are the same."
If after I have left this earth
For good
Any medium says I sent that message, then you
Tell her she's holding out on you,
Because if an earth medium
Ever gets me on the ouija board
When I am over there, what I'll say to her
For bothering me just when I am sitting down
To drink a cup of sack
With old Bill Shakespeare, P. T. Barnum,
Charlemagne, and Benedict Arnold
Would certainly be nobody's business.
I'd tell her to leave me alone
And go and put on a clean wrapper
And wash her face and smooth
Her frowsy hair,
And that the world across the Styx
Was too full of all sorts of interesting people
To allow me to waste a moment
Kicking tambourines, ringing bells,
Or doing other stunts for which
She grabbed down two bucks per head
From all the suckers
She could pull into the show.

No, once again and most Positively, no!
When I get to a land where there's no
Stock ticker, no 85 cent wheat, no farm board,
No book agents or bond salesmen;
No people that want you to do this or that or
The other thing they know damn well
You don't want to do; no honking automobiles
Swooping down to take your life;
No dust or noise or heat (at least I hope there'll
Be no heat)—I just want to ramble around
And have a nice long rest
And satisfy my curiosity about so many things
That bothered me here on earth.
I'd hunt up Alexander
That men called the Great Commander,
And I'd say, "Alex,
You were so smart in solving
That mystery of the Gordian knot,
What about crossword puzzles?
Here's one that had me stumped for two hours.
How long is it going to take
For you to work it out?" And then I'd hunt up
Queen Elizabeth and say,
"Queen (or may I call you Lizzie?),
Since you've been over here
Are you running around again
With your boy friend, Walter Raleigh?"
And while chatting with the queen
Old Nero might stroll by, and I
Would drop poor Liz quite sudden like
And introduce myself to Nero
And tell him I'd just come over
And was mighty glad to see him
And that I'd like to ask him
If he really played the fiddle
While Rome burned. And Nero very likely
Would say that fresh arrivals
Very often got too fresh, and besides that
Fiddle stuff happened quite some time ago,
And for me not to be running around
Dishing up dirt.
And then I'd tell him that back on earth people
Didn't feel so sore at him as
They used to.
And then he'd stop and grin and say,
"Well, that's good news to me;
How come?" And I'd tell him that since
So many people started playing
The saxophone
The world was ready to forgive a guy
That only played the fiddle, even if he played it
While the town was burning down.
"The Romans who got burned up,"
I'd say, "would have suffered more
If you had played
The saxophone."
And Nero would slap me on the back
And laugh and say, "Come on around
And play a round of golf
On our brand new nine hole course
With Henry the Eighth and Confucius
And George Washington."
And after the golf game was finished I think
I'd drop around to the Grande Hotel
De Styx
And have dinner with champagne while
Mozart or Strauss
Led the Styx Syncopated Scallywags
In music that just made me
Want to dance, and so between courses I'd Waltz around with Mary Queen of Scots, Lucrezia Borgia,
Joan of Arc, sweet Nell Gwyn,
Marie Antoinette, Charlotte Corday, and Cæsar's wife.

You see, I'll have so much to do
When I've left the earth forever
That when some fat medium calls me
From back here and says some one is paging me
On the ouija board and wants
To know how I am getting on
I'll tell the boy to send back word that I
Have said a last good-by
To earth,
And to consider that as final. And then
I'll try to make a date with Cleopatra
Or Anne Boleyn.

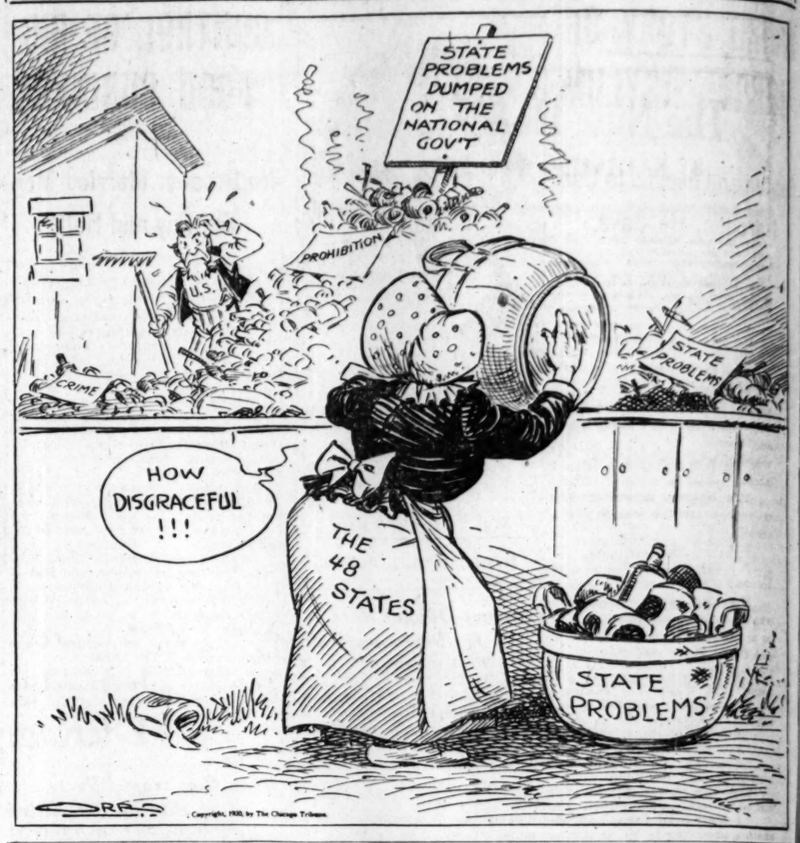
AND STILL SOME FOLKS WONDER WHY UNCLE DOESN'T KEEP HIS BACK YARD CLEAN



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 12, 1865.

NEW YORK.—George W. Bickley, president of the Knights of the Golden Circle, issued an executive general order from his place of confinement in Fort Warren in which he suspends the labors of the several departments of the Golden Circle until July 1, 1870, when the congress of the order will assemble in Washington. All members of the military department are released from allegiance to the order and from all obligations of secrecy.

DETROIT.—The great commercial convention began its sessions here yesterday. The Chicago delegation is making its headquarters at the Biddle house. Among its members are Charles Randolph, B. F. Shepard, J. Y. Scammon, William Mason, John V. Farwell, J. T. Bowen, R. S. King, W. F. Coolbaugh, R. S. Jennings, B. F. Culver, P. T. Underwood, J. W. Finley, Joseph Medill, Charles Walker, H. McLennan, J. C. Dore, R. McChesney, L. Haven, Murry Nelson, N. K. Fairbank, J. Cummins, Ira Y. Munn, J. H. Burnham, H. W. Hinsdale, W. G. Hibbard and B. F. Jacobs. Gen. Walbridge of New York was appointed president. There is great dissatisfaction among the delegates, because it is believed the convention is controlled by a clique of political mountebanks and commercial and stock jobbing adventurers, the leadership of which is in New York. Under the rules each board of trade represented will have one vote, thus giving Illinois two votes, while Michigan gets 10 or 12 and Canada about 20.

CHICAGO.—C. F. Swift and Jane B. Hoge were married on July 11 at the residence of the bride's father by the Rev. Dr. Fred T. Brown.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 12, 1900.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary Hay demanded of the Chinese government through Mr. Wu, the Chinese minister, that the state department be put in communication with Minister Conger at Peking without delay. Secretary Hay has grown impatient at the delay in hearing from an authentic source the truth about conditions in Peking.

WASHINGTON.—The following cablegram, dated July 10, has been received at the navy department from Admiral Remey at Chefoo: "Arrived yesterday. Two battalions, 9th infantry, and one battalion marines, Col. Meade, landed today at Taku to proceed to Tientsin."

AKRON, O.—Charles Dick, chairman of the Republican national committee, practically admitted that the story of a plot to kill President McKinley was true, although he intimated that he did not attach much importance to it.

CHICAGO.—The Sheridan Road Day association was organized by a number of men who are interested in celebrating the opening of Sheridan road as far north as Fort Sheridan, which will take the form of a two days' coaching drive up the north shore. Lloyd G. Kirkland was elected president, Dr. P. L. McKinnie, treasurer, and J. M. Glenn, secretary. The anniversary of Sheridan's ride from Winchester, Sept. 19, probably will be the date for the celebration. The uncompleted portions of the road will be finished soon.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 12, 1920.

SPA.—Poland will sue the soviet government for peace immediately. Premier Gadsky has secured the consent of the supreme council to conclude an armistice at once and to begin negotiations for peace.

MADRID.—The former Empress Eugénie of France died here at the age of 94. Death came from acute intestinal inflammation. With her death disappears the last remnant of that strange and tragic chapter in French history which ended with Sedan. Her story is practically that of Napoleon III. America will remember her longest for the attempt to establish Maximilian on a Mexican throne in defiance of the Monroe Doctrine—one of Louis Napoleon's errors for which his empress was responsible.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

THE TREATY DOCUMENTS.

Chicago, July 9.—The well being, the safety of a nation—a great nation such as the United States—transcends in importance the tender susceptibilities of its chief executive. Mr. Hoover has feelings that deserve consideration; one would not consciously affront his dignity or personal integrity; but Mr. Hoover, after all, is but common clay: he can err in judgment as much as the obscurest citizen, and with no intention to question Mr. Hoover's honor one might properly insist that all the cards be laid upon the table.

If a man, for example, were purchasing a piece of property it would be an act of wisdom to have the title searched to avoid any future entanglements as to prior liens, incumbrances, etc., and it is customary for shrewd buyers anxious to protect their investment so to do; accordingly, the United States of America, about to yield to the blandishments of a real estate salesman high pressuring the league of nations as the desideria of human aspiration [with the treaty under discussion as the opening wedge of a sale involving a grand block of property], might fittingly and wisely scan carefully the title of the whole idealistic premise; the professed limitation of armaments and the relation to safety and security of this nation of 120,000,000 people.

Peace is a noble thing, but blinding one's eyes to the truth while questing for the never-never land is foolhardy if it is not predicated on the activities of professional lobbyists who care less for the future of the U. S. A. than they do for their immediate living. In the latter case the short sighted ballyhoo for approval—ratification of the treaty without extended thought and discussion—is damnable!

JAMES UNDERHILL LUPTON.

ON THE OTHER HAND.

Chicago, July 10.—Senator Hiram Johnson insists that the senate, having a responsibility equal to the President's in the ratification of a treaty, should examine all documents and dispatches. Your editorial attitude indicates some sympathy with this claim.

Grant that this is constitutionally sound. Nevertheless the constitution contemplated a small senate, indirectly elected, not exclusively legislative but also advisory to the executive ["advice and consent"]—a council of elder statesmen. Today it is nothing of the sort, but a large legislative body, more radical and more often antagonistic to the executive than the house.

Senator Moses, in supporting Senator Johnson's stand, is urging the submission of delicate confidential state documents to a body several of whose members he recently designated as "wild jackasses."

The British mother of parliaments is of superior authority to the American since it can amend the British constitution instead of being a creature thereof. But it exercises no such right.

Even if Senator Johnson won his point neither the senate nor the public would get any more information about future treaties. Anticipating publication of official dispatches the secretary of state and his emissaries would simply communicate their real thoughts by informal personal correspondence [as they do to a large extent in British diplomatic practice].

Regardless of your position on the treaty itself, regardless of your general skepticism about the state department, nevertheless, as a realist and a believer in the sound conduct of foreign affairs you should expose this demand for "all the documents" for what it is, 100 demagogy. GRAHAM ALDIS.

JELLICOE AND BEATTY.

Maywood, Ill., July 8.—In answer to A. M. Lemaitre I would like to say that Beatty and Jellicoe are qualified all right as naval experts to the British parliament, as Beatty gave Von Hipper and Von Spee such a whipping at the battle of Jutland that they never came out again. Yes, they did, when their whole fleet surrendered unconditionally and ignominiously to the British at Scapa Flow.

As for Jellicoe, they never even waited for him to come up, but ran for their harbor as fast as steam could carry them. ENGLISH-AMERICAN.

THE PENGUINS OF CINCINNATI.

Chicago, July 7.—I was attracted by your editorial, "We Want a Penguin," in your Sunday issue. Last week at the Cincinnati zoo, I saw three penguins, given by Mr. and Mrs. Julius Fleischmann. They are the hit of the zoo. Aside from interest in their unique actions, they are valuable because of their rarity. WARREN D. CHURCH.

The Nine Hundred Block

BY KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS.

To the nine hundred block, with its sordid dwellings, moved gentle, lovely Theresa Ames and her divorced and remarried mother, Mrs. Colt, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Baum, neighborhood gossip. Theresa makes friends with Katie Warner, who lives upstairs, and B. Jones, a reporter; also Johnny Deane, who left home to make good for the girl to whom he now regrets he is engaged. Billy Treadway, a wealthy beau of Mrs. Colt's girlhood, comes to call on her. She encourages his attentions to Theresa. Johnny Deane drops in to invite Theresa to the movies.

INSTALLMENT VI.

THE SEEING EYE.

Mrs. Colt didn't like him, Johnny Deane had begun to realize; and he did not know why she did not; he'd been carefully attentive. But—it rather amused him; he was so used to mothers who were tenderly solicitous about his welfare between confidences that had to do with their daughters' abilities and talents. He had to do a heap of dodging. And at the edge of the wood—having threaded it and back again—he'd picked up the crooked stick labeled "Colletta."

Mrs. Nulman tapped upon the door. "A fellah named Treadway's at the phone and he wants Mrs. Colt——" she called before Theresa could answer.

Mrs. Colt came hurrying through the room. "Good evening," she said chilly. She hurried down the stair. Johnny Deane moved toward the doorway. "I'll stop at seven," he promised. He heard, "I'll be ready."

Mrs. Colt came back beaming. "Nicest thing——" she panted; Billy wants us to have dinner with him Sunday. He'll send for us. He wants us to come early so that we can see the grounds. I told him I was enchanted and that I knew you would be. He said the kindness was ours—in coming. You can always tell a gentleman by his response. And—dearie—mother doesn't like to saying anything to trouble you, but——"

Theresa had stiffened; this "mother" delivered in the Henry Adams style always forewarned trouble.

"But—dearie, we know nothing of this young Mr. Deane!"

"I know—I like him," Theresa murmured.

"Yes, dear. Mother knows you like him, but does that mean he is worthy of your liking him?"

Theresa's cheeks flamed. She wanted to say, "I admit—I don't know his bank balance," but—one did not—could not—say things like that.

"I don't think," she said gently and after a little lull through which she'd gained quiet, "that an occasional word or going to an occasional picture show with him need—mean much. You know how it is today. Young people go around together—without the least thought of—anything serious—or sentimental——"

"Guess he didn't know," she thought, with a grim satisfaction, "that he passed his own daughter on Lambert's corner."

"Well, dearie, if mother can be assured of that——"

"I promise I won't drag him off by the hair——"

"Theresa, mother doesn't like that answer."

"I'm sorry," Theresa answered miserably. A sweep of hunger for Barrington Colt filled her. He would have known the pleasure that was made hers by looking forward to the evening; he would have been careful not to diminish, in any way, that pleasure. She would, perhaps, be able to talk of him with Mr. Treadway on Sunday.

"What time are we to go to Mr. Treadway's" Theresa asked. Her mother brightened.

"Five, dear, and he's sending for us as I said. I wish you had a new dress."

"My brown corduroy looks all right. I can put on fresh collar and cuffs——"

Katie tapped. Mrs. Colt opened the door and her manner, always variable, told of the fact that she had just spoken with Mr. Treadway. Katie looked a candle that had been snuffed. Ardently, Theresa tried to "make up for it," with smile and greeting. She did wish her mother wouldn't treat such as Katie "that way."

"I thought mebbe," said Katie uneasily, "that you'd relish a few pan-cakes. I'm makin' some anyway. It ain't no use to cook 'em for one——"

"That's so kind of you, Katie; I'll come up for them——" Theresa answered and promised.

Katie backed away.

"Really," said Mrs. Colt, frowning. Theresa laid the sheet back carefully and covered her typewriter.

Fifteen minutes later, and in response to Katie's raucous hail, Theresa hurried up the stairs. She heard him moving behind a closed door. Katie's door was open and Theresa went in to Katie's living room and kitchen.

"Set down; I'll have 'em fixed in a second. Your mother isn't feelin' so good today, is she?"

"She has a headache," Theresa faltered.

"She didn't act natural." Katie nodded toward a shelf on which was a small camera picture of a male in a conductor's garb. "My new gent'man friend," she informed Theresa.

Theresa said shyly that he looked "nice."

"Well, I guess we all like uniforms," Katie commented. "Honest to God, they set a man off. Here's your cake, dearie. And dearie, don't you get discouraged when your ma has headaches or anything. Life sometimes seems kinda messy, but it ain't. It just seems so. So long as you ain't messy inside yourself, it ain't messy. I'm goin' to the Royal Fire Cumpney's

Girls, Reputation Wise, Keep Out of Bachelors' Rooms

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Will you please answer this question: 'An attractive young girl intentionally accompanies a young man to his bachelor apartment three times. Nothing disreputable occurs, due entirely to the sportsmanship of the young man. Do you think this chap is in love with the girl, or would you judge that he merely applies common sense to a splendid, unusual character?'" P. J. M.

No grounds there for a verdict on love! I'm not such a pessimist re the male as to conclude that because a bachelor host precipitated no disreputable happening he must be in love with the girl. What a messy world it would be if such a conclusion had to be accepted! And what a messy lot of males there'd be! And females—I have to add, in fairness.

When the inquirer says "an attractive young girl intentionally accompanies, etc." are we to understand that the girl expected something not on the cards of a chaperoned girl? Was she looking for trouble and disappointed because she has nothing to report?

However, it brings up the question of girls, young and attractive, or young and not attractive, visiting bachelor apartments.

Now bachelor apartments are not necessarily dens of iniquity any more than bachelor girls' apartments are. Young men set up housekeeping quarters sometimes for the identical reason girls do. They crave a home atmosphere or they think they can beat the high cost of living problem by several chipping in on the expense of an establishment.

On the other hand, some bachelor apartments are all that the scandal mongers picture them. They are established for the expressed purpose of illicit behavior. They are dens—into which an attractive young woman would never set foot were she aware of their purpose or the real character of the male tenant.

Refuse to go out with him again until he brushes up on his etiquette.

World Has Heard of Hans Andersen, but Odense Is Unknown

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, July 11.—One hundred and twenty-five years ago Hans Christian Andersen, famous author of fairy tales, was born at Odense. The town, reputed throughout the country for its snobbishness, has hitherto refused to recognize Hans. Recently discovering that the whole world was lauding Hans' works, the city fathers finally decided to do something about his recognition.

They arranged a big fête, constructing a museum as an Andersen memorial. The three days festival which opened today drew only a couple of English tourists and a few others.

Adding to the troubles following the flat refusal of King Christian to attend the celebration, Crown Prince Christian Frederick when asked to officiate, also declined. The city fathers tonight realize that the recognition of their famous townsman has come too late.

Society Will Gather Books for the Sailors

BY THALIA ——.

Summer trips, sports, and kindred activities do not deter Chicago's philanthropically minded young matrons from taking on another project. This time it's a Chicago drive for the American Merchant Marine Library association, the first one of its nature to be conducted hereabouts, and to be staged next fall. The association is officially in charge of sailors' circulating libraries.

Mrs. John Borden has accepted the chairmanship of the committee for the collection of books. On Tuesday she is to give a luncheon for her vice chairmen. Then plans will be formulated for an intensive campaign in autumn. The guests will include Mrs. Hale Holden Jr., Mrs. John H. Hamline Jr., Mrs. James Cathcart, Mrs. John B. Drake Jr., Mrs. Morris L. Johnston, Mrs. Chauncey Borland, and Miss Dorothy Schmidt. Mrs. Borden is to depart on Wednesday for some visits in the east, and while she is there she is to confer with Mrs. Henry Howard, president of the association, as to methods used in the New York City campaign last April, when thousands of books for the use of sailors were collected.

In addition to the woman's active commitee there is an honorary committee for the drive, to include Albert D. Lasker, Congressman Fred A. Britten, Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern university; Silas H. Strawn, Burt A. Massee, the Rev. John Timothy Stone, John T. McCutcheon, John Borden, and Laurance H. Armour.

The marriage of Miss Lena Turnbull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dale Turnbull of Boston and Nahant, Mass., and Huntly Harris Gilbert will be solemnized quietly at noon today at the Leslie Lindsay Memorial chapel of the Emmanuel church in Boston. Lawrence M. Viles will be best man for Mr. Gilbert and Miss Turnbull will be unattended. Only relatives and a few close friends will attend the ceremony and the breakfast to follow at the Chilton club. After Oct. 1 the bride and groom will reside at 223 East Delaware place.

Practically every one who has ever been to the races and a lot more are expected to be at Arlington Park today for the rich Classic to make up a record breaking race crowd. Gov. Emmerson is to be the chief guest at a large luncheon to be given by Otto W. Lehmann. The Wolcott Blairs have canceled the party they were to have had because of Helen Blair's death.

Others who are entertaining at lunch at the Post and Paddock club are the Stanley Fields, the Silas H. Strawns, and the Ernest J. Lehmanns. Eastern owners who have come west for the event include Mr. and Mrs. Charles Amory of Boston, whose horses race under the name of the Sagamore stables, the Walter J. Salmons of New York City, the William E. Hitts, and the E. S. Simses.

Several of the most active members of Lake Forest's Junior Garden club, a thriving offspring of the senior club, are opening their gardens today to the public. These include Mrs. Edward K. Welles, president of the club; Mrs. William E. Casselberry Jr., whose place is called "the Berry Patch"; Mrs. Gilbert E. Porter III., Mrs. Knight Cowles, and Mrs. John H. McIlvaine.

The Welles' house is on Ahwanee road, the Casselberrys' and the McIlvaines' are on Green Bay road, the Cowles' on Sheridan, and the Porters' on Lake road. Cards with pointing arrows are posted at various intersections along the roads to Lake Forest and in the village to facilitate finding the open gardens.

Mrs. John Paul Welling, recently returned from a month's trip in Europe, has moved her household out to Lake Forest for July and August. They are occupying the Paul Moyer house as they did last year, and the Moyers are summering at Huron mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snowden Burnside announce the birth of their second son on July 2 at the Evanston hospital. The baby has been named Peter Willits Burnside. Mrs. Burnside was Miss Helen Willits before her marriage. The Burnsides are now residing in Winnetka.

Another north shore arrival is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lovell Underwood of Glencoe, who was born on July 5 at the Evanston hospital. Mrs. Underwood is the former Hope Northrup. He is named John Northrup for his maternal grandfather, who, with Mrs. Northrup, is here visiting the Underwoods.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 11.—[Special.] — The White House special guests, Senator Reed Smoot and his bride, formerly Mrs. Alice Taylor Sheets of Salt Lake City, were guests at a dinner tonight given by the senator's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Cardon, in their home in Garfield street. Mr. Cardon is on the federal farm loan board, and Mrs. Cardon is the senator's eldest child.

The other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Smoot, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smoot, and Mrs. Zella Smoot Nibley, children of the senator; Dr. Walter Sheets of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Willard Marriott of this city, the latter a daughter of the new Mrs. Smoot.

The acting secretary of the treasury and Mrs. Seymour Lowman announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine, to William N. Jardine, son of a former secretary of agriculture. Miss Lowman was a debutante two years ago, in the same set with Mr. Jardine's sister, Miss Marion Jardine.

Mrs. Herbert Haase of Chicago arrived here today to be the guest for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Shelton. Mrs. Haase was formerly Miss Evelyn King of Washington.

Telegraph Offices May Sell Theater Seats by New York Deal

New York, July 11.—[Special.]—The possibility of an arrangement between the League of New York Theaters and the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies whereby telegraph offices would serve as "box offices" for legitimate playhouses is being discussed and probably will come up for consideration at a meeting of the theater league on Monday.

Harlow D. Savage, executive secretary of the league, said the plan, as outlined to him, sounded "very promising," and that he hoped to receive detailed proposals from the telegraph companies to present at the meeting.

At the Postal Telegraph company it was said the plan to utilize telegraph offices for the reservation and purchase of tickets at box office prices plus the telegraph charge for money transfer had been proposed to Arthur Hopkins, president of the League of New York Theaters. Mr. Hopkins, it was stated, had expressed interest in the proposition and had promised to invite postal representatives to a meeting of the theater organization.

3,000 Rare Volumes Reach U. S. Congressional Library

Washington, D. C., July 11.—(AP)—Fifty cases containing 3,000 rare volumes were delivered today to the Library of Congress by Dr. Otto Vollbehr, German collector of early printing. The collection was purchased by the government for $1,500,000 under special legislation. It is said to be one of the finest groups of early printing in existence.

The gem of the collection, a Gutenberg Bible printed on vellum, still is in Europe in the custody of a monastery which has possessed it for several centuries past. Dr. Vollbehr will make a special trip to Europe to bring it over.

Business Men Conduct Gospel Meeting in Street

Business men whose proximity to the loop district would permit and whose interest in the "forward evangelism movement" prompted them gathered yesterday in Arcade court, off La Salle street, between the Y. M. C. A. and the National Life Insurance buildings for their first weekly open air meeting. The men are members of the "business men's gospel teams," an interdenominational movement, of which John S. Lincoln is president and F. W. Sheriff secretary. Noon crowds listened to the preaching.

Sally Will List Fan-Authors in Sunday Paper

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

In and about Chicago hundreds of young baseball fans are eagerly awaiting the news I shall have for them in tomorrow morning's paper, the names of those who will receive invitations to our big baseball party next Thursday when the White Sox meet the Philadelphia Athletics in a rousing game at Comiskey park.

I couldn't invite all of you, as I am permitted to bring only one hundred to the game, and I am afraid there will be disappointments for many. However, even if you aren't a winner there will be glad tidings for you because I am going to announce another party which is to be an especially good one and your may write a winning letter for it.

Your letters were extremely interesting and I enjoyed reading them. Perhaps you'd like to see one or two of them, also. This is from a boy who certainly knows his baseball:

"Dear Miss Brown: Would I like to see the ball game? And how! Boy, to see the champion Macks play the White Sox! I bet this game will be tense with excitement and thrills. To see Carl Reynolds, the fleet right fielder of the White Sox, try to steal a base on Mickey Cochrane, best catcher in the American league, would be exciting. Among the players I like to see are Reynolds, a fast man and a slugger; Smead Jolley a natural hitter; Muleavy, much talked of shortstop from Toledo, and Kamm, the best fielding third baseman in the league. On the A's I like Foxx, a home run hitter; Simmons, who socked the apple for a .365 batting average, and Mickey Cochrane, rated as the best catcher in baseball.

"H. H."

And, believe it or not, this eager fan is a 14 year old girl:

"Dear Sally: The World Champions! And the Chicago White Sox! O, Sally, it's marvelous. To sit up behind the plate and get a good look at those renowned players is my wish. Really, there are many excellent players on both teams, but after debating with myself I find Smead Jolley my favorite on the White Sox team. He's clever, optimistic and has a good 'batting eye.'

"On the Philadelphia A's I find Al Simmons and Jimmy Foxx my favorities. A few weeks ago Al led the American league for his batting average. Jimmy Foxx wasn't far behind, either. Really, Sally, I shouldn't be surprised if those White Sox should give the Athletics a good run for the championship of the American league.

"Even though I am a girl and not supposed to be interested in baseball, I'll bet I could explain it to any boy who asked me to! M. M."

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, July 11.—[Special.]—Mrs. William G. Rockefeller gave a luncheon yesterday in the Italian garden of the Ambassador.

H. Hobart Porter left today for Mandalay camp, Bohemian Grove, Monte Rio, Cal., where he will remain until the middle of next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Roome and Miss Elizabeth Roome sailed today on the Lapland en route to Baden Baden.

Mrs. Emerson McVickar of the Park Lane was among those who sailed on the Olympic last night.

Miss Zelina T. Clark is at the Savoy-Plaza before going to Bar Harbor.

Indians Will Protest Science Project for Burial Ground Probe

La Salle, Ill., July 11.—Several hundred Indians, members of various tribes of Wisconsin and Illinois, will gather at Starved Rock state park, within the next few days, to prepare protests against the practice of violating an old Indian burial ground at Utica, near the park.

Leaders of the Winnebago, Menominee and Pottawatomie tribes are to attend and will lead the fight. Chief White Bear and Chief Short Wing will lead them.

Gov. Emmerson of Illinois and Gov. Kohler of Wisconsin will be invited to attend the pow-wow. Gov. Kohler recently was initiated into the Wisconsin tribe of the Winnebagos.

For many years the old burial ground was unmolested, but recently students have been digging up the remains seeking historical and scientific knowledge.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Jack's mother heard an awful racket and, rushing upstairs, discovered he had fallen out of bed and was crying bitterly. Instead of sympathizing with him, little sister said, "No wonder he fell out of bed, mother; he slept too near where he got in.

"Aw, go on. It was 'cause I slept too near where I fell out." M. C.

Little Buddy, aged 5, was at a formal dinner. Finger bowls were passed and Buddy said to his mother, "Mama, I don't want this."

"Hush, dear," and mother turned away.

Buddy kept still and suddenly a little later pulled at mother and said, "Mama, it tasted just like water."

Summer Freedom Can Make a Child More Wholesome

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A booklet on Sex Education will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Any one who knows children knows how they love to get their clothes off. Children's senses are keen—their skins sensitive. They seem to feel with delight the air on their bodies. Don't you know how they adore frinking around naked before they put on their pajamas and nightgowns? I know one small boy who used to do the most beautiful leaps and skips and runs and imitations of animals' movements in a sort of dance every evening when he was undressed.

Children are naturally natural. It's only civilization as represented by us that makes them conscious of their bodies when they're uncovered. Of course, we have to observe conventions. But it is possible to keep your child free from self-consciousness in this respect for many years after he has passed his babyhood.

This kind of naturalness is wholesome. Summer is the time when it is threatened most, because that is the time when all the civilized world becomes more natural—a good thing, even if a few do overstep the mark.

In the first place, on beaches and in the country where mothers and others congregate, there is always a lot of conversation about the near-nakedness of both adults and children. "Would you think she would wear such a bathing suit?" or "At least she might wear a beach coat?" or "Do you think it's all right to let baby wear her sunsuit to the park?" or "Now look at that man; they banned those suits last year!" etc., etc., gives only a mild suggestion of gossipy beach comment. All of which is all right enough—only not for the children to hear. I'm a great believer in watching your step conversationally when the children are within hearing. Don't let them overhear this sort of talk.

Then, when in a public place, you have to seek seclusion with them at times, or, if they ask you why they can't go around without a sun suit or bathing suit, or pose some similar question, don't say "Because it's not nice or it's not modest." Try to find an answer which will not make them ashamed of nakedness.

I don't say it's easy. Frankly, in answering I mostly beat about the bush, saying, "It's quieter here, or it's out of the wind, or it's more sanitary to go to one side, or it's too sunny to be all bare, or it keeps you cleaner to be partly dressed, or I like the looks of a suit, it's so gay—or you need a little warmth, even in summer"—all of which carry a little truth, though not the whole truth.

Summer is a time which can make your children much more wholesomely natural—or make them self-conscious about their bodies.

Vionnet Disguises the Too Familiar Tweeds.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Madeleine Vionnet decided a short while back that tweeds had had their day, and a good long day it was. Like stockings in the ten cent store, tweeds palled on the fashionable appetite for something exclusive. Everybody wore 'em. So Vionnet hit on the idea of sending her tweed fabrics out to be dyed to one color in the piece. After they came back she made them up into her smartest coats of the summer season and nobody but the fabric expert, who understands the to of warp and fro of woof, recognized this material as the old, too-familiar tweed.

A new fashion was born, and the one-color tweed coat is the last word in Paris chic for topcoats. If you have a substantial tweed coat hanging around in your wardrobe, you can restore it to style glory by immersing it in the dyeing vat. If you are acquiring a new coat for practical wear, choose something in the same stuff.

The Vionnet topcoat shown here is the latest model of topcoat chic in plain smoke gray tweed, which, in one color, looks like a soft, velvety woolen of novel weave. The use of brown suede for the belt and for the buttons on the sleeves gives to this coat a really Parisian color scheme.

Vionnet's usual clever cutting is present. The raglan sleeves are raglan in front only and are in one piece with the back of the coat, which has its only seam down the center of the back from a pointed yoke. This seam becomes an inverted plait toward the bottom. The front of the coat has pointed seams at the waistline, and the small standing collar is cut in one with the yoke.

Food Talk.

Rosy cheeked, sun ripened, fine flavored peaches dripping with juice! There is no lusciousness like theirs. Sliced and served with sugar and cream they are equally welcome for breakfast, luncheon or supper.

Generously filled into a perfectly baked pie or cobbler they are a dessert fit for kings. Combined with a plain American or Philadelphia ice cream mixture they produce one of our choicest viands of summertime—fresh peach ice cream. Halved, pureed and simmered an hour or so with enough sugar they emerge two of our most popular sweetmeats—peach preserves and peach butter. Slowly cooked in a spiced vinegar sirup they become the most extraordinary of appetizers—sweet pickled peaches. Canned they are unequaled among tinned or bottled fruits. Rarely does a fruit fill as many noble rôles.

In whatever way peaches are to be used they should be selected with care. There is no fruit that calls for better market judgment. For this reason every housewife should make peaches a study to the extent that she is able to distinguish between those that have come to their moment of exquisite maturity and those which are green or have passed their prime. In addition to judging high quality one must also be able to choose fruit adapted to the particular use for which it is wanted. This brings us to types and varieties.

Peaches are classified as white and yellow fleshed and these are again divided into freestones with flesh pulling free from the stone and clingstones with flesh adhering to it. Clingstones are preferred for canning and spicing because of even color and firm fine texture. Freestones are preferred for slicing, making preserves and butter.

The peach is one of the most perishable of fruits and should be consumed or preserved as speedily as possible. And it should be peeled and sliced immediately before serving or using in cooked food because the flesh exposed to air discolors quickly. Unlike most other fruits, the peach is not improved by the addition of lemon juice, but vanilla when used with discretion enhances the flavor.

From a dietetic point of view, peaches are one of our most valuable fruits. They are easily digested. In fact, cooked peaches are so easily digested that they are one of the first fruits introduced in the child's diet. They are also nutritious. Three medium sized peaches weighing 10½ ounces yield a fuel value of 100 calories, 6 of which are protein, 3 fat and 91 carbohydrates. They contain vitamins A, B and C and are a fairly good source of minerals.

Fresh, Ripe Peaches Form Foundation of This Summer Sherbet

PEACH SHERBERT.

2 cups finely chopped peaches.
1 1-3 cups sugar.
1 cup water.
1 2-3 cups cream.
¼ teaspoon vanilla.

Select ripe, fine flavored peaches. Peel, seed and chop pulp fine. Add sugar and water to pulp, then cream and vanilla. Stir until well blended. Let stand in cold place ½ hour. Strain through a coarse sieve into ice cream can. [Almost all of the peaches should pass through the sieve.] Freeze.

Yield: 8 servings. One serving: Total, 240 calories; protein, 20 calories; fat 36 calories; carbohydrates, 184 calories.

Precautions: It is most important that this mixture be thoroughly chilled before freezing is started. This insures a much finer texture than would be produced if the mixture were frozen immediately after the ingredients are combined.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

One of the newest weeds advancing to pest prevalence and said to be increasing rapidly this year in Iowa in several sections of the state is called "goat beard," a perennial, according to Dr. L. H. Pammel, professor emeritus at Iowa State college at Ames. Yellow flowers followed by a fluffy top are are characteristics of the plant.

Its relatives are the vegetable oyster plant and the dandelion. Observation in Iowa have established the fact that it is spreading along roadsides and in alfalfa fields from Cherokee to Ames and is especially abundant in Linn and Clinton counties.

Cultivation is said to be an effective treatment in killing the weed with ease. The narrow-leaved plant formerly was considered exceedingly rare, according to Dr. Pammel, who remembers receiving a few specimens several years ago for purposes of identification. It is not expected the plant will become widespread to the proportions common with other weeds such as Canadian thistles, ragweed, dandelions, mustard, pigweed or redroot.

Living Summer to the Full Means a Better Complexion

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"If everybody in the world had perfect health, everybody would have a good complexion. Some would be better than others; but all would be normal." So says Dr. Oscar Levin, noted dermatologist.

The opportunity for complexion improvement during the warm weather season is simply amazing. To begin with, we all eat more fresh fruits and vegetables during this time. We drink much more water. We are outdoors more. We get about and exercise as we do not do in the cooler months. And the feature of easy perspiration is one to be credited with a deal of complexion clearing.

In fact, it is advisable for girls with those pesky little blackheads to do all of the things just attributed to summer opportunities. Especially, eat of the fruits and vegetables. The first step in complexion clearing is to clean up internal disorders, chiefly disturbances of digestion and elimination. We would ask them to drink water copiously. Do it as a complexion cure.

Then we would ask them to exercise. Play tennis. Golf. Swim. Ride horseback, if possible. But get out and do something active so that the blood will be sent scuttling through the veins and use its pressure to clear out of the pores the material that is clogging them.

If the skin is oily, as it usually is in blackhead cases, let the sun play on you more than a little bit. The sun rays offer the best of germicides. Don't overdo—but take sun baths for your complexion and see what an improvement it makes.

Then wash the face, not once but several times a day. In warm weather the oil glands are more active. Consequently there will be small danger of robbing the face of its natural oils with repeated face washings with soap and warm water. Use a soft face brush and scrub the face well if it is pitted with the annoying little disfigurations. Always finish off with a cold water rinse.

Wrong Fork.

There were not quite enough forks for all the courses of the dinner, so I informed Hulda, the young girl who was helping me, that she would have to wash some of the forks that had been used for the second course to serve with the dessert.

Everything was lovely until just before the dessert was to be served, and then Hulda whispered to me, just loud enough for every one to hear, "Some one has been using the wrong fork, and I don't have enough to go around now."

A SIMPLE STEP TOWARDS HEALTH

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a Daily Essential and Millions Know Its Effectiveness in Relief of Constipation

Perhaps the one simple thing you are not doing to guarantee permanent health is having sufficient roughage in your food. Absence of this roughage is the direct cause of constipation which results in so many other ills—headaches, listlessness, general depression, indigestion and, sometimes, serious disease.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is roughage. It is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or the purchase price will be refunded. Two tablespoons daily (in serious cases, with each meal) is the proper amount.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also helps you to health in other ways. It is rich in iron, practically all of which goes into the blood, bringing red, healthy color to the complexion. It helps prevent anemia. Be sure to include it in reducing diets.

Many eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with cream or milk added. It is a delicious addition to cereals, fruits and soups. In cooked foods, it is just as effective in the relief of constipation. Recommended by doctors. Ask your grocer for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BYRD PRAISES CHICAGO AIDS AS CITY HAILS HIM

Discloses Plans for New Eplorations.

Maypole, who presented to Admiral Byrd a gold key to the city; Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Chicago Century of Progress exposition; Col. T. A. Siqueland, who extended the congratulations of the Chicago Geographical society and the Chicago Adventurers' club; Maj. Reed G. Landis of the National Air Race committee, and Ople Read, the author. The banquet addresses were broadcast over W-G-N.

Other members of Admiral Byrd's party who spoke were Bernt Balchen, chief pilot of the expedition; Ensign Thomas Mulroy; Capt. Ashley McKinley, third in command of the expedition; and Chief Yeoman Charles Lofgren.

At noon Admiral Byrd spoke before 500 members of the Press club at the organization's quarters at 30 North Dearborn street. In his speech he complimented the Hunter brothers, who recently established a world's record endurance flight. He congratulated the directors of the National air races, which will be held here next fall, and expressed the opinion that they will be the occasion of the "greatest exhibition of aeronautics in history."

Plans New Expedition.

In a press interview given earlier the admiral disclosed that he is planning another expedition, but where and when he would not say.

"I do plan another expedition, but I shouldn't mention it at this time," he said. "There is still too much work to be done on the last one. For one thing, we came out of it with a $100,000 deficit and I have scientific data to compile and books to write. And there are 20 men who must be brought back into their normal place in society again."

Admiral Byrd and his party arrived at the Union station at 10 o'clock yesterday morning and were met by a group from the Press club, headed by Al Dunlap, its president. Others who greeted them were Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Century of Progress exposition; Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce; Rear Admiral Walter S. Crosely, commandant of the Great Lakes Naval Training station; and Maj. Reed G. Landis of the national air race committee.

Gun Salute Signals Parade.

The guests were taken to the Stevens hotel, and at noon a 13 gun admiral's salute was fired by naval gunners in Grant park, signaling the start of the parade. Led by the Chicago police band the parade proceeded to Jackson boulevard, while airplanes roared overhead. Making up the colorful parade were mounted police, sailors from Great Lakes, the Great Lakes naval band and companies of American Legion marchers.

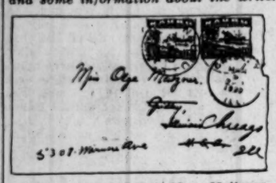
The marchers turned west in Jackson boulevard and as the parade passed the Board of Trade building bugles sounded. Ticker tape and waste paper piled up several inches deep in places along La Salle street where the parade passed. It continued on to Washington street and then went east to Dearborn street, stopping at the Press club.

During the afternoon Admiral Byrd rested, while several of his comrades went to the races. Late in the afternoon the admiral changed into civilian clothes, slipped out of the hotel unnoticed and walked alone in the street.

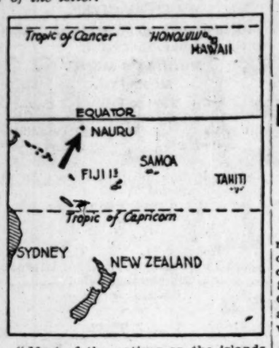
The admiral planned to leave by plane for St. Louis at 7:30 a. m. today.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.



Letter received by Olga Meitzner, 5308 Warner avenue, Chicago, Ill.



"This envelope inclosed a letter which I received several weeks ago from an educated native of the Island of Nauru," Miss Meitzner writes. "This young man, who is a teacher there, spent three years in the United States. I myself was a missionary on the island for several years. The teacher who wrote this letter corresponds with me regularly.

"It often takes three months for a letter to go from here to Nauru, as freight steamers from Sydney go to the island only once in three weeks.

"Nauru is 2,500 miles northeast of Australia and about 25 miles south of the equator. It is a coral island, only twelve miles in circumference. Nothing but cocoanut palms grow there. The island has a large wireless station. It is especially valuable on account of its large deposits of phosphate of lime. It is now under control of the British government.

"Most of the natives on the islands now use motorcycles, as the inclosed picture will show. The writer of this letter and his wife and child are seen in the motorcycle and side car on the left.

"The original foods of the natives of Nauru were cocoanut and fish. The people there were never cannibals; they resemble the Hawaiian people considerably. They are all civilized now and the majority of them have been converted to Christianity. I had the privilege of being there as a teacher with the pioneer missionaries."

GREETS SISTER FROM POLAND AFTER 40 YEARS

Forty years ago in Suwalk, Poland, a young man of 20 took leave of his family, with a last hug for his sister, Gertrude, aged 12, and set out for America. Yesterday afternoon those two bridged the gap of the last four decades. A short, wiry, little woman in a flowered crepe suit stepped off a train at the La Salle street station, made a few quick inquiries in German, and rushed into the arms of Harry Bloch, Maywood real estate man, whose home is at 147 Thatcher avenue, River Forest.

"Mein bruder! Mein bruder!" she cried, her eyes full of tears. Mrs. Bloch, her daughters, Mrs. P. A. Gorden of Maywood and Mrs. Joseph Fleischman of Clintonville, Wis.; Mr. Gorden, and Howard Bloch were kissed and hugged by the visitor.

Since he left Suwalk, just over the border from Germany, Harry Bloch had written to his sister, Mrs. Gertrude Freidman, nearly every week, but had never received a picture of her. This is her first trip to America.

FOREIGNERS BACK CHINESE REBELS' VICTORY CLAIMS

Declare Chiang's Armies Are Being Crushed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, China, July 11.—Foreign military observers today confirmed the claims of the northern rebel coalition of additional victories in Honan and Shantung which have placed Gen. Chiang Kai-shek on the defensive along the Lunghai and Pukow railways.

The Shansi armies have scattered Han Fu-chu's troops along the Tsingtao railway, compelling them to retreat to the south toward Haichow, and opening the way for a general advance of the Shansi armies along the Pukow railway toward Hsuchow, where Chiang Kai-shek is concentrating his attack.

Plan New Government.

Military successes have encouraged the movement for a new government at Peiping with Yen Hsi-shan as military head and Wang Ching-wei, left wing Kuomintang leader, as party head. Tai Yuan-fu declared northern leaders had sufficient resources to continue the civil war for another year if necessary, but desired to terminate it at the earliest date possible for the purpose of avoiding further civilian suffering.

With the communist menace in Fukien, Hunan, and Klangsi provinces growing daily, Gen. Chiang faces the constant threat of being attacked from the rear, which impedes farther offensives against the north, it is claimed here.

Unsafe for Americans.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Revolutionary disturbances have made four Chinese provinces unsafe for Americans, the state department was informed today by Frank P. Lockhart, American consul general at Hankow. As a result of conditions in Hunan, Honan, Hupeh, and Kiangsi, Mr. Lockhart said, warnings are to be sent to all Americans residing in the provinces. He declared the American government was unable to evacuate its nationals quickly from these regions in case of new bandit or communist uprisings.

LIGHTNING STARTS SIXTY FOREST FIRES IN THREE STATES

Missoula, Mont., July 11.—(AP)—Forests of Montana, northern Idaho, and Wyoming today were spotted with burned areas as the result of a terrific lightning storm which started more than 60 fires yesterday.

District forestry officials said that scouts and rangers had been able to control all of the blazes so far.

National Guard troops sent to the Laramie peak country succeeded in bringing under control two fires in that region which had burned over 1,000 acres of timber land. One hundred and twenty men fought the flames throughout the night.

WOMAN'S SLAYER, IN PRISON SINCE 1912, IS PAROLED

Henry Morris, 51 years old, sentenced in 1912 to life imprisonment for the murder of Stella Dumas, with whom he had been living in Plano, Ill., was freed from Joliet prison on parole to Charles Darnell, a Plano attorney, yesterday. The trial jury recommended that Morris should spend each anniversary of the murder in solitary confinement. In 1929, Gov. Small commuted his sentence to 45 years. Morris applied for a parole, to which he was entitled after serving one-third of that period. According to prison officials, Morris had a perfect conduct record.

GERMAN SCHOOLS FORBIDDEN TO USE 'KAISER' PRAYER

Supreme Court Rules It Might Offend Some.

LEIPZIG, Germany, July 11.—(AP)—An ultra Nationalist prayer devised by the Thuringian Fascist government for the schools of this German province must be altered in a manner that will not offend the different minded, the German Supreme court today decided.

In the form presented for insertion in the school books, the court held, the prayer is unconstitutional.

One section of the prayer in question reads: "I believe that thou wilt punish the betrayal of Germany and bless the actions of those who seek to free the Fatherland."

What Is Meant by "Betrayal."

By "betrayal" the Fascists mean the action of the German Socialists in supporting the revolution which ousted monarchism.

Another section to which the court objected speaks of the German people as "torn asunder and destroyed by ungodliness and high treason."

The Supreme court took action at the instigation of the federal government, which regarded the prayer as violating article 148 of the constitution. This article reads: "In public instruction, care must be taken not to offend the feelings of the different minded."

Accident Reveals Plot.

BERLIN, July 11.—(AP)—The collision of a motor car and a motorcycle, in which a man and a woman were killed, today led to discovery that the man was engaged in a military plot against the government, the police announced. They said the man's name was Doerre and the woman killed in the side car, Elizabeth Hanke. Doerre, it was said, was an active member of the National Sosialist party and had been engaged as a military instructor to members of that party.

Letters found on his body disclosed that a large number of weapons, including a machine gun, were hidden by the National Socialists. The police raided several houses and confiscated many weapons and a considerable quantity of ammunition. A dozen persons were arrested.

BOMBAY POLICE USE RUBBER WHIPS ON MOB OF NATIVES; 100 HURT

BOMBAY, Ind., July 11.—(AP)—Four attempts by civil disobedience volunteers to form a procession forbidden by the police resulted in clashes today between the authorities and the volunteers, in the course of which nearly one hundred Nationalists were injured.

The procession was designed to be a sympathetic demonstration for the eighteen gharwali soldiers who were court martialed at Peshawar when they disobeyed orders during the recent troubles.

The troubles began when some fifty volunteers attempted to form a procession on the edge of the Maidan esplanade, in a twelve acre irregular square in front of the municipal building. Police sergeants ordered their leader to disperse the crowd. When he refused the sergeants charged, using canes and rubber whips resembling black snakes.

He's Too Ardent Lover, So She Resigns Lead in Show

New York, July 11.—(AP)—It was Muriel Kirkland's task, as the demure but eager southern girl in "Strictly Dishonorable," to encourage her opera singer acquaintance, Tullio Carminati, to make ardent love to her. He became too ardent, Miss Kirkland said today, and she has resigned from the leading rôle of the comedy, ranking long run play of Broadway.

HORTON SMITH'S 142 TAKES LEAD IN OPEN GOLF

GALLANT FOX ODDS ON FAVORITE IN CLASSIC TODAY

50,000 TO VIEW RACE; STAKE IS WORTH $80,800

Who Can Beat the Fox? Fans Ask.

Whether you attend the running of the Arlington Classic at Arlington Park this afternoon or not, you'll want to know what the outstanding entries have done in the past. A table of their past performances is published on the following page.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Gallant Fox, America's greatest race horse since Man o' War, will parade to the post with ten more of the country's leading 3 year olds in the $70,000 added Classic at Arlington Park at about 5 o'clock this afternoon.

A crowd of 50,000 or more will watch him as he seeks his sixth, and what may prove his richest stake opportunity of 1930, when he flaunts the white and red dotted jacket of Belair stud of Maryland in the mile and a quarter combat.

Gallant Fox will be ridden by Earl Sande, the saddle idol of America. Overnight Gallant Fox was at 2 to 5 in the betting. When he starts running in the Classic he may be at 1 to 4, 1 to 10, or even 1 to 20, for the great turf crowd is going to see the Fox and Sande in action.

All to Bet on Fox.

Some persons in the record breaking assemblage may try to pick another horse to beat him. But nearly everybody will buy a ticket on the Fox, and it is possible he may be the shortest priced favorite that has gone to the post on any Chicago race course.

"Who can beat the Fox?" That was the question heard everywhere last night. Some said Gallant Knight, which was second to Gallant Fox in the Kentucky Derby and which has won renewals of the Fairmount Derby and the Latonia Derby. Others picked Snowflake, the 3 year old filly which has won the Belmont Coaching Club Oaks and the Illinois Oaks.

Others believed Harry Payne Whitney's filly Dustemall, if she should be in a running mood, might give the Fox the greatest fight he has been up against this year. Alcibiades, the Arlington Oaks winner, is another contender. So are High Foot, the Chicago colt, Dark Entry from Kentucky, and the William R. Coe entry of Cesare and Maya.

Classic Worth $80,800.

The Classic will be worth $80,800, and if Gallant Fox wins, the son of Sir Gallahad III. will be in position to overhaul Zev as the greatest money winning horse of all time in American racing. If victorious today, the Fox will remain over for another week and go against all the great older horses of the season—Misstep, Sun Beau, Petee Wrack and Blue Larkspur—in the $30,000 added Arlington cup to be run next Saturday.

Gallant Fox and Sande were on the Arlington track yesterday morning for a final tune up. The Fox turned a half in :48 handily and galloped out five furlongs in 1:00 4-5. This was the best training move he has made here, and it convinced even the most skeptical that he is a horse that can do anything better than any of the rivals of his age.

There was an air of confidence in the Gallant Fox camp. "We can't lose" was the way Trainer Fitzsimmons, Jockey Sande and even Gallant Fox impressed the visitors at their headquarters. Owner Woodward said he was on hand just to see how good a good colt can run over this track.

Gallant Knight Next Best.

Gallant Knight is receiving 3 pounds from Gallant Fox. He will carry 123, against 126 on the easterner. However both met in the Kentucky Derby and the Woodward colt demonstrated he was the master of the thoroughbred from Audley farm. Still the Kentuckian shapes up as the leading contender on 1930 form. Good judges believe he will be the second choice in the mutuel speculation. He was sent forth yesterday to breeze six furlongs in 1:16, while prior to that he did a mile and a quarter in 2:06 3-5, the first mile in 1:42 2-5. This was ample for a colt which had been racing since April.

Ned O. gained some new friends by his 7 furlong victory on Thursday. But he was aided by the "dead" track in that outing. The Campfire gelding had plenty of chances this season, and has yet to account for an important race. Maybe he will manage to pick up the $4,000 which goes to the third horse in the Classic, but it is doubtful.

Three Fillies Entered.

Three fillies are in the overnight nominations, with Snowflake's record saying she is decidedly the smartest of the trio. Dustemall turned in a much improved performance here this week, but on the Coaching Club form Snowflake holds her safe. Alcibiades, the other filly, will not go unless the track is muddy. On a dry track Hal Price Headley intends to rely on Dark Entry, a rather mediocre 3 year old.

Dustemall does not impress one as a good mile and a quarter filly. She can step along briskly for eight furlongs. In her last out, she whipped Lady Broadcast easily.

With Flaming out of it and Cesare and Alcibiades doubtful, it seems probable that eight will go to the post, provided the track remains fast.

ONWARD TO ANOTHER VICTORY?

Racing fans the country over will be watching the progress of this trio in today's $70,000 added Classic at Arlington Park. Gallant Fox, with Earl Sande up, has brought victory to his owner, William Woodward (inset), in the five races he has started in this year. A victory for the Fox today will bring his total earnings near the $300,000 mark.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

FEEDBOX DOPE.

WHEN The Wake interviewed Gallant Fox before the Kentucky Derby for the benefit of our readers, we found the son of Sir Galahad cordial enough but inclined to be condescending toward his opposition, an optimism merited by his performance in the blue grass event. Since then he has vanquished Whichone, his chief rival, in the Belmont, and cantered to victory in the Dwyer.

The Fox, now being compared to Man o' War, will start in the Arlington Classic today an odds-on choice. In view of his previous good opinion of himself, we wondered whether Gallant Fox' subsequent victories had enhanced that opinion to supreme egotism. Therefore, we wandered out to his quarters shortly after dawn yesterday for another talk. There was the colt which has won nearly $200,000 before today's race being groomed with the same meticulous care as to his toilet. He already had shaved and laved, and was in a morning lounging coat, dark blue in color with lighter blue trimmings and a bachelor button in the lapel, for the Fox still is a bachelor. We found him a changed fellow. Judge for yourself and the reasons he gave us.

As he spied us in the distance, Gallant Fox, about to breakfast, neighed "Hello, there, Wake; come right in. I feel you're an old friend. You came clear down to New York to see me trim Whichone in the Belmont, didn't you?"

As we started to protest, he interrupted with "Now, never mind; you'll say you also came for the Schmeling-Sharkey fight, but my groom has been reading me your stuff and I know you'd rather see a great horse race any time. Well, old pal, things HAVE happened since Louisville.

"You thought I was a bit conceited down there. Well, Wake, it wasn't that. I was so sure of myself and I wanted so much to prove it. Now I have proved it. By the way, won't you have a bite of breakfast?" We looked at his dish of strawberries, buttered toast, rolled oats, soft boiled eggs, and mineral water, but shook our head, as it was too early for us to be hungry, unaccustomed as we are to early rising.

"Then we'll keep right on talking as I finish this up," he continued. "As I was saying, I have proved my class. But it's strange how it affects one. I now feel responsibility. I suppose it's like a champion fighter, or tennis player, or Bobby Jones, or any one who has made good. It sort of sobers you to think you have a reputation and must keep on making good.

"Now in this Classic the public and experts make me an odds-on choice. Of course, I think they're right, but wouldn't you feel serious if you had all that responsibility? It's made a man of me, but not before my time, I hope," and the Fox gave a hearty horse laugh.

"You remember I called your attention to Gallant Knight at Louisville. He was pretty good, wasn't he? He is likely to give me the most trouble again if any one gives me trouble. He's run only one really bad race and that on a track not to his liking.

"Wake, they're all dangerous when you're a champion, for its the field against the favorite. I expect to win, and you'll see me trying, trying harder even than at Louisville, but, perhaps, not any harder than against Whichone, for that was one race I surely wanted to win."

"You'll surely have a cigar," said the Fox as he motioned to a groom. "Pardon me, but I'm not smoking until after the race." We accepted the perfecto as he continued. "Now, about this Mar. o' War thing. He was a RACE HORSE. I hope I'll be as great, even greater, but that remains to be proved.

"I'd like to throw a little party for you newspaper fellows who have been so nice to me, but if I win this Classic, Mr. Woodward, my owner, and Mr. Fitzsimmons, my trainer, will have some other chores for me here and I'm afraid I can't have a big night yet.

Thus ended our interview. We're sure Wake readers will be pleased, as we were, at the earnest, but, on the whole, good natured view of life now taken by Gallant Fox.

CARAWAY HOLDS BROWNS TO SEVEN HITS; SOX WIN, 5-3

Jeffries Helps Out with Home Run.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 11.—Pat Caraway, the southpaw with the funny windup, today answered Donie Bush's prayer for a winning pitcher. The young man folded and unfolded himself through nine innings made doubly perilous by a temperature well over the hundred mark, and at the conclusion presented his White Sox companions with a 5 to 3 victory over the Brownies. The customary crowd of less than 1,000 paid, augmented by 2,000 women guests, saw Pat stage his action.

Sox Make Fast Start.

There was only one time during the afternoon when it looked as if Caraway might be in a league beyond his class. Going into the home second he was in possession of a 3 to 0 lead but he promptly lost it. nI that half the Brownies became unruly enough to get three for themselves. However, it proved a flurry on Pat's part. With the coming of the next round, he began working in earnest and from then on to the finish yielded only three widely separated hits. The young fellow also had excellent control for a left hander.

The Sox, after getting a flying start, one piece of which was a homer contributed by Jeffries, who has stolen Kamm's job, went into retirement for quite a spell before bouncing back with two runs on which they won. This happened in the seventh. Tate led off with a single against Blaeholder, the Browns' starting hurler. Caraway cut into the rally by drawing a pass. Jeffries' bunt nudged the runners along and Mulleavy's fly scored Tate while Caraway was running to third. Then Reynolds beat out a hit to O'Rourke and Caraway ran home.

Lyons and Braxton will try to subdue the Yanks in the twin bill at Comiskey park tomorrow. Pipgras and Ruffing probably will oppose them.

Browns Tie Score.

The Sox needed three singles to get one run in the first inning. Mulleavy was given a hit on a roller to short. After Reynolds had fanned, Jolley sent a single to center. Watwood singled to the same spot and Mulleavy scored. Then they counted two runs on two hits in the second. One of these was a double by Clancy. He was sacrificed to third and went home while Kress was tossing out Caraway. A moment later Jeffries poled his home run into the seats in left, giving the Sox a 3 to 0 lead, which soon faded.

The three Brownie runs that tied it up in the home second started with Kress' double to right. Caraway then walked Farrell. Schulte immediately shoved both men home by smacking a two bagger down the left field foul line. Schulte hiked over to third on an infield out and Gullic rode him over the plate by singling to center. The score:

CADDY TELLS HOW BOB JONES BLEW UP AND TOOK 73

Old Man Par Better Look Out Today.

BY DONOVAN DALE.

[Caddy for Bobby Jones.]

Minneapolis, Minn., July 11.—(AP)—Bobby Jones ran into some tough breaks today and got a 73. Imagine calling a 73 a bad round. Most people would never stop talking if they made it; they make enough noise when they break a hundred.

Still, today's 18 holes were the worst Jones has had since he came to Interlachen, including the practice rounds when I carried his clubs, too. But Bobby—even if it is a 73—is entitled to a bad round. He'll make up for it tomorrow. In fact, he will win—I feel as sure of that as I did at the start.

Fans Seem Unruly.

While it was not as hot today as Thursday when Bobby got a 71, it was still uncomfortably warm and the galleries were bigger—and it seemed to me—more unmanageable.

Bobby shot the first nine in 34, two under par, but despite this good showing, better luck with his putter would have brought him even a lower score—probably a new first nine record, which I believe he will shoot before the tournament is over. His play up to the greens on the first half was about perfect—on the greens old lady luck made faces. But 34 is nothing to kick about, Boy!

On the ninth Bobby came through with a shot that reminded me of skipping a rock down on the crick. Just when he was going to shoot his second over the lake somebody stepped up. Bobby turned back, then went up to shoot. He topped the ball somewhat and it hit the water with tremendous speed and skipped through the lily pads like nobody's business, landing up on the grass not far from the green. He used his spoon on this shot and he made the hole in four, one under par.

Uses 15 Clubs Again.

Again Bobby used 15 of his 17 clubs today, and the same two got a rest, his No. 1 iron and the big niblick. Bobby had little to say as he marched along. I don't understand how anybody can think easily with that gang watching. But he apparently isn't bothered and appeared ready to play more when he finished the eighteenth.

Bobby has been behind before—half of the tournament is yet to be played. I pity Old Man Par for the rest of the way.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., July 11.—Horton Smith, the 22 year old professional from New York, came sweeping into the lead today in the second round of the national open golf championship at the Interlachen Country club.

After Tommy Armour and MacDonald Smith, the two leaders of yesterday, had faltered and fallen behind, Smith came marching down the fairways beating par all the way from the second hole to finish with a 70. This, together with his first round of 72, gave him a total of 142.

Bobby Jones, playing every stroke grimly now that his supremacy is challenged by so brilliant an array of professionals, remained within striking distance two strokes behind the leader. With him in second place stand Harry Cooper of Chicago and Charles Lacey, a hitherto almost unknown player from Pine Valley, N. J.

Only 69 Play Today.

Tomorrow the field will be limited to 69 players for the final 36 holes and late in the afternoon the champion will be crowned. Of the 17 Chicago players who started out in quest of the title, 10 have qualified for the last day's play, though Cooper alone seems to be within reach of victory.

Jock Hutchison of Glen View, who led the Chicagoans in the trials at Briergate last month, withdrew today on the 17th hole. He had taken an 84 yesterday and was out in 40 today. Just before the end came his drive landed in the rough. His next shot was into a trap, the next over the green, and the fourth back into the same trap. Jock grinned broadly and told his caddy to pick up the ball.

MacDonald Smith today dropped back to fifth place and Armour into sixth. Both were out in 37, as they were yesterday, but instead of repeating with a home nine of 33, Smith took a 38 and Armour a 39.

Keeps Just Ahead of Bobby.

Horton Smith started out just before Jones today and all through the round reports of Smith's brilliant progress kept drifting back to the defending champion. When Bobby shot par, word came that Smith had made a birdie, and on one hole where Bobby made a birdie, Smith achieved an eagle.

This occurred at the ninth, right beside the clubhouse. The 485 yard fairway is broken by the corner of a little lake and 100 yards beyond the water lies the green. Smith's 290 yard drive came to rest just short of the pond and his iron shot sped like a bullet toward the pin. He sank a 10 foot putt for an eagle three.

Right behind him came Bobby Jones. His drive also was just short of the lake and as he stood regarding the situation the hordes of spectators who were following Smith turned and waited to see what Jones would do.

Skips Ball Over Water.

Thousands more had been trailing Bobby all along and the hill upon which the clubhouse stands was swarming with watchers. Almost 12,000 had their eyes on this shot.

Bobby turned to his caddy, the canny Donovan Dale, and selected a light spoon. The watching thousands were silent as he swung. They groaned as he topped the ball, but the groan changed to a gasp and then to a cheer as the little white sphere skipped three times upon the surface of the lake and carried to the fairway beyond. Then

HORTON SMITH'S 142 TAKES LEAD IN NATIONAL OPEN

Jones, Cooper, Lacey Tied for Second Place.

Bobby laid his approach dead to the pin and sank the putt for a birdie 4.

Walter Hagen will be forced to make one of those finishes for which he is so famous if he is to grasp the crown tomorrow. He is five strokes behind the leader. Today he began to rally and was out in 35, one stroke under par, but three putts on the 10th, a brassie shot out of bounds on the 14th and a drive into the rough on the 15th temporarily spoiled his chances of improving his position and he finished with a 75 for a total of 147.

Wilfred Cox, who was tied with Jones for second place yesterday, dropped back to sixth, which he shares with Johnny Farrell and Tommy Armour. Their scores of 146 put them four strokes behind Horton Smith.

In the round which carried him to the front today Smith started with a par four, but holed a 10 foot putt for a birdie three on the next. He moved along in par to the ninth where he got his eagle, reaching the turn in 33.

He three-putted the tenth, but made a birdie on the eleventh by getting to the green in two and another on the twelfth by holing an 8 foot putt. He was in the rough on the 14th and took a five. A trapped shot on the 17th gave him a four against a par three. Par on the last gave him a 37 in and a total of 70 for the round.

Cooper Off Fairway Only Once.

In making his 72 Harry Cooper of Glen Oak hit nearly every shot straight as a die. Throughout his march down the undulating course between yawning traps and across difficult water holes, he was off the fairway only once.

He was over par on the 3d, where his approach was short, but he made a birdie on the long 4th by getting to the green in two and another on the 9th by holing a 15 foot putt, to reach the turn in 35.

On the 10th he overshot the green and took a five, but made up for it by getting squarely on the green in two for a birdie on the 11th. He was over par again on the 17th where his drive found a trap, and he finished with a par four on the 18th for a 72.

The Chicago district players, in addition to Cooper, who will continue in the running tomorrow are George Smith of Onwentsia, Jim Foulis of Ruth Lake, Alex Ayton of the Illini Country club, Chick Evans of Edgewater, Al Espinosa, Gus Novotny of Edgewood Valley, Sonny Rouse of Old Orchard, Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, and Richard Martin of Briergate.

TURF LEADERS TO SEE CLASSIC

The New York delegation arriving yesterday and last night for the running of the Classic included George Bull, president of the Saratoga association; Harry Payne Whitney, Walter J. Salmon, and Charles H. Thieriot, Wall street broker and racing patron.

Charles Amory of Baltimore got in yesterday and pronounced Arlington Park the finest racing plant he had ever seen. His wife's Sagamore stable is not represented in Arlington racing this year because of the breaking down of Balko and two or three other horses which began the season well and the failure of The Spare to train to the promise of her two year old form.

George Clark of Toronto and New York came on to see what his Rosedale stable horses can do about next week's racing. Clark owns a four year old of high promise in Live Oak, which was one of the smartest of last season's three year olds. Molteritto, Juggler, and Royal Play are other useful members of his stable.

Peter B. Kyne, the novelist, bought the two year old Kamalii yesterday from C. A. Hartwell. She is to bear his silks today in the Lassie Stakes revival, a $5,000 dash of five and a half furlongs for two years old fillies.

Kay Spence declined to predict that Gallant Knight would beat Gallant Fox in the Classic, but he warns all and sundry that the colt he will send after the champion tomorrow is better than the colt that finished second to Gallant Fox in the 56th Kentucky Derby. "Gallant Fox can't stub a toe and win," he declared emphatically.

Maj. L. A. Beard, manager of the Whitney breeding enterprises, arrived from Lexington to act as honorary steward for the second ten days of the Arlington meeting. He takes the place of Arthur B. Hancock. Admiral Cary T. Grayson will return from Europe in time to serve with C. J. Fitz Gerald and George Brown Jr. through the last ten days.

Buck Foreman believes he will beat the Fox with Ned O. If Gallant Fox is to lose, William Woodward would prefer that he lose to Ned O. For Ned O., son of Campfire and La Flambee, like Gallant Fox, is a product of his Belaire stud.

William Wrigley Jr., director of the various Wrigley corporations and owner of the Chicago National Baseball club, will attend the races tomorrow for the first time in his life.

The most impressive work at Arlington Park yesterday was Gallant Fox's five furlongs in 1:00 4-5. Edward Riley Bradley's Boys Howdy, a bay son of Bubbling Over and Battercake, turned five furlongs in 1:01 flat, the first three furlongs in :35 1-5.

Blue Larkspur, pointing for the inaugural of the Arlington cup a week from Saturday, in which he will gallop under weight for age with Gallant Fox, Gallant Knight, Sun Beau, Mistep, and Some Other stepped a mile in 1:42 2-5 yesterday morning.

16 YACHTS SAIL TONIGHT IN RACE TO SAUGATUCK

Sixteen yachts will set sail at 7 o'clock this evening at the Van Buren stret gap for the tenth annual dash to Saugatuck, Mich. The 89 mile race is sponsored by the Jackson Park Yacht club.

The race itself is only a small part of the cruise. At Saugatuck a program of stunts that includes spar climbing contest, jousting matches, and swimming and boat races on an inland lake has been arranged.

Blue Moon, owned by H. T. Simmons, winner of first prize in the racing division at Mackinac last year, will battle it out with Dunlop and Weston's schooner Fame for first place in that division.

KING LEVINSKY BEATS K. O. WHITE IN TEN ROUNDS

King Lavinsky pounded out a ten round victory over K. O. White last night at the Jones and Baumrucker stadium. The bell saved the colored fighter from a knockout in the fifth round. The bout drew 3,000.

Chicago Women Reach Southern Tennis Finals

Memphis, Tenn., July 11.—(AP)—As the Chicago contest in the finals for the southern women's doubles tennis title was assured today with the victory of Theodosia Smith and Jeanie Mason of Chicago over Mrs. Frank Hall and Nellie King of Memphis in two semi-finals, 6-2 and 6-3.

In the other semi-final yesterday Catherine Wolf of Indianapolis and Mrs. Herman Oelman of Cincinnati, represented the Chicago Allerton club, defeated Mrs. Mississippi entrants.

BRUINS BEHIND 1929 RECORD IN PENNANT RACE

Three Clubs Hold Edge on Cubs This Year.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 11.—The Cubs tomorrow will play the Boston Braves in the 79th game of the 1930 schedule—the second game of the "last half" of the current season. Bud Teachout will seek to win his second game and the Cubs' third victory of the present trip. The seven contests played on the road include one loss in the games in Pittsburgh and four straight lickings in Cincinnati.

Inasmuch as today is an off day in Boston, and the season is only one game over the half way point, an author may be permitted to wax statistical. It might be interesting to the bugs to reflect on what the Cubs will have to do in order to become as successful in 1930 as they were in 1929, at least in the matter of games won and lost. It is a reasonable, though not positive presumption, that if the Cubs win as many games this year as they did last, they will again win the National league pennant.

Pirates Held Edge in 1929.

Last year only one club in the National league whipped the Cubs in the season series—Pittsburgh triumphed in 13 of the 22 games played between the two clubs. The Giants, with 10 victories in 22 clashes, were next.

Right now there are three clubs who have won more games from the Cubs than they have lost to them. New York and St. Louis, of the first division clubs, have better than a .500 showing with the Chicagoans, and so has the seventh place Cincinnati club.

Figures Tell the Story.

Following are two tables. From these you can without too great expenditure of energy, figure out Cub victory quotas for the last half of the season.

1930 TO DATE.

	Played.	Chicago Won.	Chicago Lost.
Cubs vs.
Brooklyn	10	7	3
New York	10	4	6
St. Louis	15	7	8
Boston	10	8	2
Pittsburgh	12	7	5
Cincinnati	11	4	7
Philadelphia	10	8	2
Totals	78	45	33

1929 ALL SEASON.

Cubs vs.
Brooklyn	22	16	6
New York	22	12	10
St. Louis	20	15	5
Boston	22	15	7
Pittsburgh	22	9	13
Cincinnati	22	14	8
Philadelphia	22	17	5
Totals	152	98	54

The foregoing table reveals that the Cubs still have a chance, though remote in several instances, to make as good a showing this year as last against every club in the league except St. Louis. The Cards already have won three more games than they did all last season, with seven games still to be played this season.

What Cubs Must Do.

To equal their last year's tabulations the Cubs must win nine out of 12 from Brooklyn, eight out of 12 from New York, seven out of 12 from Boston, two out of 10 from Pittsburgh, 3 out of 11 from Cincinnati, and 9 out of 12 from Philadelphia.

Except in the matter of Pittsburgh and Boston it is apparent that the last half of the season holds some pretty heavy assignments for the Cubs if they are to approach their 1929 record, when they won the pennant with 98 victories. At their rate to date they have an indicated 90 victories for the season, which would have been enough to win the pennant by one game in 1926, but a total insufficient for pennant purposes in all other seasons of the twentieth century except the bobtailed war season of 1918.

BOXERS WATCH MANDELL DRILL FOR TITLE BOUT

Orangeburg, N. Y., July 11.—(AP)—Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, entertained a distinguished gathering today with six fast rounds of exercises, five rounds of shadow boxing and five rounds of exercises, Frank Bruen, head of Madison Square Garden, Tony Canzoneri, Victorio Campolo, and Jackie Kid Berg watched him drill for his 15 round title defense against Al Singer in the Yankee stadium next Thursday night. Mandell boxed neatly with Ralph Lenny, Bobby Risdon, and Pete Larotonda, but had trouble blocking left hooks to the body. Risdon hit Sammy with a heavy right to the head and was almost floored a moment later.

AIDAN ROARK OUT OF ENGLISH POLO TRIAL MATCH

(Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.)

LONDON, July 12.—Aidan Roak's name is not on the list of those who will play for England in the eighth international trial match at the Beaufort club, Willshire, tomorrow. It was officially announced tonight that England's team would be headed by Capt. Richard George of the Indian army, at No. 1, with Gerald Balding, No. 2; Capt. Pat Roark, No. 3, and Lewis Lacey at back.

There is a good indication, therefore, that rumors of trouble in the English camp have some foundation and that C. I. Roark, father of the young polo star, has so far been unsuccessful in his attempt to patch up a reconciliation with Capt. Charles Treymayne.

SCOUTS TO LEAVE TIPPECANOE FOR WABASH VALLEY

Rocks and Rapids Keep Paddlers Busy.

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Tippecanoe River, Ind., July 11.—THE TRIBUNE canoeists will soon bid good-bye to the beautiful Tippecanoe river and start their canoes into the valley of the Wabash.

The scouts paddled down the river this afternoon to a camp site approximately one-half mile above the mouth of the Tippecanoe. The boys pitched their tents on a level grove some 70 feet above the river.

In this parched month of July the water in the stream is low and the boys are having lots of fun dodging the boulders with their canoes and playing tag with the partially submerged rocks which dot the channel in the rapids. This afternoon there was more of this sport because of several riffles and rapids between here and the mouth of the Tippecanoe.

The tension around the camp was lessened considerably due to the outcome of this morning's ball game between the boys and a nine picked from a Y. M. C. A. camp about one-half mile down stream. Last night the TRIBUNE canoeists sallied forth to battle the other gang and were licked, 9 to 8. This morning a return engagement was secured. The scouts prepared for the scrap with many shifts in the lineup and the system worked. They knocked out two pitchers and scored a 34 to 9 victory. The lineup was as follows:

CHAMPION

Sue Wagner, 13, champion swimmer of Manley Junior High, has entered The Tribune 100 yard races July 27. She represents the Horan playground.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Versatile Sue Is Ready for Tribune Swim

BY WILFRID SMITH.

An all around athlete. That's what Sue Wagner's friends say of her at Horan playground, Van Buren and Albany streets.

Sue is 13 years old. She plays third base on the playground baseball team and when she isn't pounding out hits, she spends her time swimming. She was the school swimming champion at the Manley Junior High school and is a member of the junior life guard.

Paul Staff, who has been director at Horan for five years, and Miss Rose Opila, girls' instructor, believe Sue has a splendid chance to win the 12 and 13 year old championship in THE TRIBUNE races in Lincoln park lagoon July 27.

Enter Three Others.

They also have entered Lena Zullo and Jennie Passarelli in the 14 and 15 year old division and Frank Hanisch, who will compete with the junior boys.

Marie Wagner, physical director of the Victorian Athletic club, 3127 West Van Buren street, has submitted the names of eleven girls for the races. Miss Wagner writes from the club's summer camp at Lake Geneva: "We will return to Chicago July 18. Our girls are training every day and expect to be in the best of condition."

Miss Wagner has entered the following girls in the 12 and 13 year old class: Catherine Watts, Bernadette Connelly, Margaret Meany, Virginia Clare, Eileen Scanlan, and Peggy Watts. The senior swimmers are Jean O'Connor, Helen Sullivan, Mary Eileen Connelly, Mary Clare, and Anna Meany.

Name A. A. F. Winner.

Miss Wagner's letter concludes: "In the 12 and 13 year old division we are placing our hopes on Virginia Clare and Margaret Meany, who have made record progress in the swimming world, winning respectively the 40 yard junior swim for girls in the indoor A. A. F. this winter and placing second in the 20 yard junior swim. Virginia won the diamond medal in the lake marathon for the first youngster under 15 to finish. She was fifth.

"In the older division Virginia's sister, Mary, is expected to do good work. She finished seventh in the lake swim."

WestlandWins District Links Championship

Jack Westland of Sunset Ridge won the Chicago district amateur championship yesterday at Calumet, defeating Charles Becka Jr., 18 year old Calumet boy, in the 36 hole final, 3 and 2. It was Westland's second district championship, he having won in 1928 at Olympia Fields.

Westland and Becka played remarkable golf for a final round. In the morning Westland ended the 18 holes one up and was only one stroke over par. As he downed only one birdie, his game throughout was either par or near it.

Starts With Eagle.

Becka started out like a whirlwind, winning the first hole with an eagle and the third, to go two up. He was out in 36, even par, but skidded somewhat coming in, taking a 39, three over.

In the afternoon Becka kept up his good work, going out in 37. He was one over par coming in for the 7 holes played. Westland was even par going out, picking up on the 5th, and coming back he was two over.

A big gallery followed both morning and afternoon rounds, despite the intense heat. Becka was somewhat affected by the sun, complaining that he could hardly see the ball.

Both Putt Well.

Westland's generalship won for him. He played his match rounds against par, not against Becka, and seldom was far away from the pin. Both putted well, only two of the 34 greens played being 3-putted. The cards:

Firemen Split with Detroit to Take Series

The baseball teams of the Chicago and Detroit fire departments divided a double header at Wrigley field yesterday but by winning the final game, a six inning affair, 7 to 6, Chicago took the series, two games to one. Detroit won the curtain raiser, 6 to 5. More than 14,000 fans witnessed the contests.

Chicago won the first game of the series at Comiskey park, 12 to 3, on Thursday.

Moore hurled both games for Detroit, allowing nine hits in the first game and eight in the second. Gutcher performed on the mound for Chicago in the first and Tafel, a southpaw, worked in the second. Gutcher was touched for ten hits and Tafel for six.

The second game was scheduled for only five innings, but with Detroit leading, 5 to 4, Murphy hit a home run into the right field bleachers in the last of the fifth to tie the score. Two errors helped Detroit score another run in the sixth.

In the first game Chicago went into the ninth inning holding a 4 to 2 lead. A base on balls, a triple, a double and a single produced four runs for Detroit. The best the Chicago fire fighters could do was to retaliate with a run.

Lucas Pitches, Bats Reds to 5 to 3 Victory

Philadelphia, Pa., July 11.—(AP)—Red Lucas pitched superbly in the tight places today and aided his own cause with a home run in the ninth inning to give the Cincinnati Reds a 5 to 3 victory over the Phillies in the opening game of their eastern tour.

The Phillies had plenty of scoring chances, but Lucas bore down each time he was in danger. Philadelphia scored twice in the first inning on three solid hits, a walk and a sacrifice, but they could not count again until the seventh, when Davis hit a home run into the left field bleachers.

Both starting pitchers lasted to the end, Lucas giving eight hits, while the Reds collected eleven off Earl Collard. Score:

PIRATES, 6; CARDS, 2.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 11.—(AP)—The combination of hard hitting and effective pitching by Ervin Brame enabled the Pirates to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, 6 to 2, today and end the six game series on even terms.

The Pirates pounded three St. Louis pitchers, Hallahan, Haid, and Lindsey, for 16 hits, while Brame held the Cards to half that number. St. Louis made four errors.

ICELAND MAY GET U. S. CONSUL AS RESULT OF FETE

American Visitors Find Official Is Needed.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, June 25.—[By Mail.]—As a result of the visit of Senator Peter Norbeck of South Dakota, Congressman O. P. Burtness of North Dakota and numerous other Americans who attended the Althing millennial celebration, the United States may soon establish consular offices in Iceland, wehre there is no American representation at the present time.

Americans in trouble here have been forced to carry their woes to the British consul who, although he always responds when appealed to by an American, admits he doesn't see why he should be put to all that extra work just because America hasn't awakened to the fact that Iceland is an independent country.

Iceland Resents Situation.

If an Icelander wants a visa to go to America or to swear to a consular invoice for goods he wants shipped, he must go to the American consul at Copenhagen. That may have been all right before 1918, although even then it seemed hard to make the Icelander undertake a seven days' journey, but it is decidedly different now because Iceland's only connection with Denmark is a half share in a king.

According to observers here, America is losing trade because of the lack of consular representation and it is quite certain that Great Britain, which maintains an active and able consular staff in Reykjavik, is gaining considerable of this business.

Iceland's trade is by no means negligible. In 1929 her total foreign trade was about $35,000,000, about equally divided between exports and imports. Great Britain got about a quarter of the imports, with Denmark a close second, while the United States trailed along at the end of the list with about $500,000.

Like an American Town.

In spite of this neglect Reykjavik is more like an American than a European town. Its streets are full of American automobiles. Their high power and roominess make them suitable for the uncomfortable journeys over the rough roads of the interior, and as the roads are developed they are driving out the hardy little Icelandic ponies which used to be the chief mode of transport.

In other respects America is not getting her share of Iceland's trade. Most of the canned goods, jams and other specialties seen in the shop windows are British. Nearly all the textiles used in the country are British and even the gasoline and oil used in American cars are imported from Great Britain.

This situation is keenly felt by American Icelanders who, when they come home to visit, find themselves out of touch with their adopted country. Some thousands of them from North Dakota, Minnesota, and other Icelandic districts in the United States, who are now in Iceland, are loud in their complaint of America's official neglect of their homeland. Icelandic business men say that in a very few years a consulate in Reykjavik would pay for itself in the increase in trade between the two countries.

HAWKS HURT AS MYSTERY SPEED PLANE CRASHES

Landing Gear Strikes Wires at Field.

Wichita, Kas., July 11.—(AP)—Capt. Frank Hawks escaped with minor injuries here today when a new speed plane, the Mystery S., which he was testing in preparation for an attempt to lower his east-west transcontinental flight record, crashed to the ground while traveling between 80 and 90 miles an hour. Hawks suffered only slight cuts on the shoulders and neck.

The engine stalled as Hawks was returning to the Travelair field after a trial flight. The undercarriage of the plane struck telephone wires at the edge of the field, and the ship plunged nose first to the ground, turning over twice. Hawks remained with the plane, which was greatly damaged.

Delays Attempt at New Mark.

The flyer had planned to leave here tomorrow for New York to await the start of his record attempt, with stops scheduled at Indianapolis, Wichita and Albuquerque. He now holds the east-west nonstop record. Hawks said the mishap would delay his project about a month. After his injuries were treated at the airport he telephoned sponsors of his flight in New York and received authorization to have the plane repaired immediately.

Hawks has held several cross-country flight records. He has spent a month here testing the Mystery S.

Two Killed in Crash.

Dayton, O., July 11.—(AP)—Two men were killed in an airplane crash two miles south of here today. They were Earl Dietrich, pilot, and Peter Davis, a passenger.

Just before it fell, the plane was flying above a swimming pool in which many persons were bathing. The plane swooped low and had nosed up again when it plunged suddenly downward and crashed.

Dietrich was a student pilot. Both men lived in Dayton. The plane was demolished.

Two Army Airmen Killed as Plane Crashes in Hawaii

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, T. H., July 11.—Lieut. Ivan M. Atterbury of Roseburg, Ore., and Sergt. Ralph O. Mills of Sacorus, Ill., were killed today when an army plane crashed and burned while taking off from Luke field.

NO MOURNING AS CONAN DOYLE IS BURIED IN GARDEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 11.—With a simple tribute by his wife, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle was buried in the garden of his country home this afternoon while his family and thousands of friends carried out a strange ceremony more joyful than sad. There was no evidence of mourning. The women wore bright, frocks and the men had flowers in their buttonholes.

"We know that it is only the earthly body that we are committing to the ground," said the family's statement, which was read by the Rev. Charles Thomas, a Spiritualist minister. "The ethereal or spirit body lives on, and is able, when psychic conditions are attuned, to show itself."

The coffin stood near the grave, covered with bright flowers, and the family came from the house carrying roses. Two Spiritualist hymns, a scripture reading, and Lady Doyle's tribute to the "beautiful life" formed the only service. The coffin was lowered into the grave beside the summer house, where the writing materials of the famous spiritualist and creator of Sherlock Holmes still waits on his work table.

MOTORISTS FACE TWENTY DETOURS ON COUNTY ROADS

Detours continue to increase in the metropolitan area as the road construction season goes forward. In addition to seventeen detours previously listed by the central traffic bureau, three others will confront motorists planning week-end trips.

The new barricades and a summary of their marked detours follow:

Halsted street — Closed between Joe Orr road and 13th street, Chicago heights, go west in Joe Orr road to Dixie highway, south to 13th street, east to Halsted street.

Torrence avenue—Closed between 106th and 130th streets. Go east in 106th street to Green Bay avenue, south to 118th street, east to Burley avenue, south to 130th street, then east to Torrence avenue.

Harlem avenue—Closed at the Northwest highway. Go east on Northwest highway to Nickerson street, south to Hood street, then west to Harlem avenue.

Lincoln park has been resurfacing sections of Sheridan road and Lake Shore drive for the last two weeks. The lane for southbound traffic between North avenue and Division street was undergoing repairs yesterday, but Supt. Weege said the boulevard will be opened for traffic this noon.

3 YOUNG SISTERS FOUND DROWNED; ONE'S BABY NEAR

Escanaba, Mich., July 11.—[Special.]—Bodies of three young sisters, one a 16 year old mother, were found today clasped hand in hand in McDonald lake.

The victims, Mrs. Lawrence Grenier, 16; Genevieve Laberty, 11, and Leona Laberty, 13, were found in a deep hole after more than five hours' dragging by sheriff's deputies. Evidently the girls, holding hands, waded out in the lake through water 2½ feet deep and stepped into a hole 100 feet from shore.

With Mrs. Grenier's husband and their 1 year old baby, the sisters had driven to the lake yesterday from their home at Hunt's Spur. The sisters donned bathing suits while Grenier went fishing. When he returned he found the baby crying in the bottom of a beached rowboat. Thinking the girls had gone for a walk, Grenier made no report for several hours.

JOHNNY STANTON GETS AT LEAST A YEAR MORE IN U. S.

Johnny Pershing Stanton, 10 years old, who prefers the United States to France and doesn't care who knows it, is going to stay in this country for another year at least. Probably he will never have to leave it.

Johnny is the boy who, about to sail on the Ile de France for Cherbourg with his mother and stepfather on May 15, deliberately missed the boat and returned to Fox Lake, where he has made his home with Mrs. Elizabeth O'Boyle most of his life.

An agreement was made known yesterday between Johnny's mother, Mrs. Henrietta Stanton Berry, French war bride, whose marriage with an American doughboy ended in divorce in Chicago two years after the marriage, and Mrs. O'Boyle.

Top yesterday, $11.50; average, $10.75.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 1,000 cattle, 12,000 hogs, and 2,000 sheep.

The market for hogs reacted yesterday and fully 10@15c of the recent sharp loss was recovered. The clearance was the best in some time and only pen holders and a few lots of inferior grades remained at the close.

Outsiders bought more than third of the fresh receipts, leaving some of the local houses short. Light and underweights scored the sharpest gains, the top kinds selling at $9.85, within 15c of the highest paid for hogs since the middle of last month, while the general average at $8.90 is only 20c above the lowest point of the year.

Range of prices widened further, the extreme range from common rough "packers" to top sorted light hogs, covers $2.55. Early last week the range was only $1.55.

Hog Futures Are Steady.

Although trading in hog futures was slow again yesterday prices held firm at Thursday's quotations. September lightweights opened the market at $9.50. Five carloads of mediums for the same month sold at $9.55 directly before the close when bidding showed more life.

December lights were offered at $8.50, but $8.00 was the highest bid. Buyers were willing to take 210@310 lb averages at $8.25 for next December delivery, but $8.50 was the lowest offer. August mediums were bid $9.35 and heavy $9.00.

Yesterday's meager supply of 2,500 cattle cleared slowly at barely steady prices. Weighty beeves are 75c@1.00 lower than a week ago, while yearlings and light steers show gains of 50@75c for the week.

The few cows and heifers offered met narrow demand, and prices slumped 50c. Additional slight gains were scored in calves, which advanced in sympathy with the lamb market this week.

Lamb Supply Is Meager.

Offerings of lambs at all leading points were meager yesterday, resulting in a sharp advance. Gains of 25c were general and sorting was lightest in several weeks. Western range lambs sold readily at $11.50, the highest since Monday of last week, while $11.35 was paid for best natives, although bulk of the latter kinds sold around $11.00.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 1,000 cattle, 12,000 hogs and 2,000 sheep, against 695 cattle, 16,040 hogs and 5,585 sheep on the previous Saturday and 211 cattle, 6,781 hogs and 4,351 sheep a year ago.

Probable receipts of hogs at Chicago for next Monday are estimated from 38,000 to 52,000. J. M. Waters marked 38,000, W. T. Reneker 40,000, R. W. Thorne 41,000, H. C. Carlson, H. Pattison and F. W. Young, 42,000, F. M. Sherwood, 44,000; S. Lund, A. G. Welhener and H. Turner 45,000; H. Williams 47,000; G. Brittain, H. Elliott and F. B. Orb 48,000; W. C. White and R. B. Ellis 50,000; and J. T. Brown 52,000.

CHICAGO MERCANTILE EXCH.

Futures trading in butter and eggs was quiet yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, traders holding back for the government report expected today. November butter closed at 38¼c to 38¼c, up ½c, and July ended the week at 34c, up ¼c. November eggs dropped ⅝c to ½c at 26¾c to 26¾c.

November opened, up ½c. July's strength apparently was induced by the upward tone of the spot market. Some short pressure came into egg trading, causing a dip at midsession, but covering on the turn checked the fall. The trading was slow. Sales were butter, 68 cars; eggs, 113 cars. Receipts were butter, 12,063 tubs; eggs, 19,197 cases.

FOUNDATIONS FOR TRADE BOOM ARE BEING LAID

Last 6 Months May Show Upturn.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The second half of this year bids fair to be almost the exact opposite of last year's course in trade and industry. Whereas, last summer was an abnormally active period and was succeeded by a stock market crash and depression in the autumn and winter, this summer is starting with quiet business and prospects of improvement later in the year.

The weekly reviews differ considerably as to the current status of business, with some reporting a recovery under way and others finding little change from recent weeks. But they join in saying that the foundation is being laid for betterment, either imminent or not too far in the future.

"Characteristic signs of progress in business recovery appear more clearly this week," the Business Week says, "and the general trend is upward, with prospects favorable for an early recovery. The business index rose to 99.6 from 99.3 per cent last week. Basic industries farthest from the consumer, like steel and coal, which decline or rise last and farthest, continue more than seasonably slack.

Building Increases.

"Electric power production and primary distribution by railroads still are at lower levels, but begin to show slight improvement. Building construction has increased sharply. General trade has risen to relatively high levels. Bank credit is expanding. Commodity prices are firmer."

"Business in the first third of July has fulfilled earlier predictions of a full summer in trade and industry," Bradstreet's review says. "Except for an after-holiday rebound in steel capacity to about a two-thirds rating and for more activity in production of radio products by the principal interest, industry has perceptibly slowed down for a longer than normal vacation period. The price situation does not show much strength except for more steadiness in grains on crop impairment talk."

"With demands continuing mainly restricted and price declines still predominating," Dun's review says, "the essential characteristics of the general business situation are unaltered. Confidence in the longer outlook is supported by the operations of forces which are strengthening the basic structure, and prominent among these is the persistent trend toward a closer alignment between production and consumption.

"As results of semi-annual inventories are more fully disclosed, an encouraging point is found in the relatively moderate stocks of goods. The more favorable position of supplies is regarded as foreshadowing an ultimate resumption of buying on a large scale."

Bank Clearings Off.

Bank clearings for the country this week are placed at $8,201,854,000, a decline of 28.4 per cent from a year ago. Business failures for the week are reported at 428, compared with 435 for the five days last week and 490 for the six days two weeks ago.

Business in the Chicago district during the next three months will be only moderately less than last year. Estimates of the commodity committee of the Great Lakes regional advisory board place the number of freight cars needed in this region during the third quarter at 723,036, compared with 837,752 in the same period last year, making a decline of 13.7 per cent.

A slightly smaller percentage of decrease in building expenditures from a year ago, for June than for May, and the smallest decrease recorded for any month since last November, is shown in reports to Bradstreet's Journal.

Permits in the 215 cities for June totaled $152,806,518, a decrease of 12.2 per cent from $218,835,481 in June last year and the smallest decrease recorded for any month since last November. Building permits for the first half of 1930 compiled from reports from 215 cities totaled $886,924,763, compared with $1,773,620,273 in the same period last year.

OWENS ILLINOIS GLASS CUTS ANNUAL DIVIDEND RATE FROM $4 TO $3

Explaining that the directors desire to maintain a strong current position the Owens Illinois Glass company yesterday announced that the annual dividend rate on the common stock has been reduced from $4 to $3. The directors inaugurated the new rate by the declaration of a quarterly disbursement of 75 cents.

The announcement said that the reduction was due to general business conditions. The firm's business is continuing satisfactorily and compares favorably with the corresponding period last year, in view of present conditions, and justifies the present dividend, it was reported.

Directors of the Noma Electric corporation declared a quarterly dividend of 20 cents, payable Aug. 1 to stock of record July 21. Heretofore the company had been paying 40 cents quarterly.

In announcing that directors of the Empire Bond and Mortgage had decided to omit the quarterly dividend on the preferred and common stocks, E. L. Vanderveer, president, stated in New York yesterday that every effort had been made during recent months to build up a strong liquid position and a marked improvement has been effected since Dec. 31.

Tax Reforms Are Demanded by Realtors

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., July 11.—Two interesting investigations were launched and two important demands made upon state and federal governments for reforms in property taxation by the National Association of Real Estate Boards convention at closing day session here today. They are as follows:

The industrial property division instituted a special study of the community financing of industries as successfully operated in Baltimore. Home builders and subdividers division decided to strike off a committee to conduct research with a view to heading off the allegedly prevalent over subdividing of American cities.

The convention adopted a resolution asking that the state property tax be abolished in the various states. Also a resolution requesting that the federal revenue provision as to capital gains be changed so that the rate be reduced to half of the present 12½ per cent.

Community Financing.

The idea of community financing of industries took big with the thousand odd American and Canadian realtors, and all eager to encourage and facilitate the entry of new industries into their communities. It involves the creation of a civic fund from which the municipality concerned helps in the initial financing of a projected new industry of accepted standard and prospects.

The action taken by the home builders and subdividers division to check up on subdividing activities in relation to population and prospects in American centers is hailed as the first concrete action to correct over subdividing, which the realtors admit to be bad for their own business as well as for land purchasers and home builders. The chairman of the division will appoint a committee to make surveys in American cities and collect population and prospective population growth data; the amount of subdivided land in each city at present unutilized; and the probability of such lands being absorbed into use.

Cites Tax Burden.

The preamble to the resolution asking the abolition of the general property tax declares the financial burden of state and local government through the United States falls primarily upon property and mainly upon "real estate," and declares the tax irrespective of the type of administrative system under which it operates to be inequitable as between territorial jurisdiction between types of properties as between individuals. The resolution urges the abandonment of the tax as a major source of revenue for state and local governments and the substition therefore of a revenue source which will have the support of all interested in equitable taxation.

The fifteen hundred word resolution on capital gain tax approves the proposal of its general counsel that the rate be applied to capital gains and capital loses should be kept separate and distinct from the rates to be applied to ordinary income. It also approves the proposal that the rate on capital assets both as to gains and losses should decrease as the number of years the capital assets is held increases, until the fifteenth year, after which there should be no capital gain tax and capital losses should be deductible.

Chicagoans who addressed the various sections today were William H. Lyman, and Thomas J. Fleming in the property management division and Gen. Nathan William MacChesney in the license law officials. Sydney Middleton, Chicago, was today elected chairman of the mortgage and finance division of the association.

CUT ALL GRADES OF PENNSY OIL 15C A BARREL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 11.—Pennsylvania crude oil of all grades was reduced 15 cents a barrel today by the Joseph Seep purchasing agency of the South Penn Oil company. The reduction was due to the continued excess production of oil in these fields and was another in a series of reductions which have been made in this oil since last July.

The proration committee of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association has called a meeting of Oklahoma oil operators in Tulsa for July 15 to decide on plans for a further curtailment by 20 per cent of the present allowable proration production.

American International Reports Quarter Income

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 11.—The American International corporation, large investment trust, reported net earnings for the June quarter of $1,427,783, indicating a gain of about $250,000 over the corresponding period last year. This was equal to $1.37 a share on 1,040,152 capital shares and compared with $1,176,783 , or $1.13 a share, last year.

BUY WHEAT, IS CAPPER'S ADVICE TO FARM BOARD

Can't Lose at Price, but Can Help Farmer.

Washington, D. C., July 11.—(AP)—Purchase of 100,000,000 bushels of wheat by the farm board in an effort to stabilize this product was advocated today by Senator Capper [Rep., Kas.], who is close to the administration.

Senator Capper said "If the stabilization program of the new farm relief act is ever going to work now is the time for it and I think the government could well afford to buy wheat at the present prices."

"The government could not lose any money on wheat at these prices," he said, "and it would help to improve conditions, I believe. The farmer was never in a worse predicament."

Capper said he would take up the question with Chairman Legge of the farm board upon the return of the latter to the city.

Neither Capper nor Senator Allen of Kansas had received any demands for Legge's resignation.

Legge Asked to Resign.

Wichita, Kas., July 11.—(AP)—Max M. and Louis Levand, joint publishers of the Wichita Daily Beacon, today entered the wheat acreage reduction controversy by calling upon Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, for his resignation and an apology to Kansas.

They made public two telegrams which they said had been sent to Mr. Legge and to President Hoover. The message addressed to the President said:

"Alexander Legge, chairman of farm board, in his speech Thursday at Dodge City, made statement that 'biggest hog will always lie in trough. Kansas is now in the trough.' This is insult to 1,850,000 people and we ask apology from Mr. Legge and, since he says he has done all he can do to help farmer, we ask his resignation. Please be kind enough to reply to this telegram, as people of state of Kansas are awaiting answer."

In a similar telegram to Legge this sentence appears: "Since you say you are through and the best you can do is to advise farmers of Kansas to 'sit tight,' we ask you to resign."

Hyde Explains Policy.

Amarillo, Tex., July 11.—(AP)—The federal administration's proposals for wheat acreage reduction were clarified today by Secretary Arthur M. Hyde of the department of agriculture as not calling for the removal of this country's crop from foreign markets.

"We are not advocating abandonment of foreign markets," said the secretary, who arrived here today with Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, bringing to Texas growers their campaign for voluntary restriction of wheat production in the southwestern hard winter wheat area.

"We are advocating a curtailment of production to what domestic and foreign markets will take," Secretary Hyde said.

Floating Supply of U. S. Steel Stock 1,589,834 Shares

New York, July 11.—(AP)—The floating supply of United States Steel common stock on June 30, as indicated by stock brokers' names, was 1,589,834 shares, or 18.57 per cent of the total issue of 8,560,876 shares outstanding. The figures show a decrease of 293,827 shares since March 31 last, when 1,883,661 shares were held. The floating supply July 31 last year was 2,029,540 shares, or 25.27 per cent of the total issue of 8,030,307 shares then outstanding. Floating supply figures were not published June 30 last year because of an offering of additional common.

Survey Cites Economies in Production of Paper

New York, July 11.—(AP)—Standard Statistics company, in a survey of the paper industry, says: "Leading manufacturers have succeeded in effecting some operating economies to offset the poor prospects for an upward price revision on news grade paper and further savings in production costs are expected in the coming months. The current outlook, therefore, is that, while newsprint sales this year will fall somewhat below 1929 takings, producers' earnings, nevertheless, will probably exceed the disappointing showings recorded last year."

High Costs Seen Blow to New Building

BY SCRUTATOR.

Theorists and even practical men of affairs are constantly pointing out that in a world seemingly cursed with a capacity to produce more than all its population consumes there is an apparent broad necessity to get men and women to consume more.

The question which becomes uppermost next is: What things do people want hard enough and on a big enough scale to indicate that such consumption can be markedly increased?

It is not particularly difficult to find answers. If the airplane could be made as safe as the automobile and could land on a housetop most of the problem would be solved. At present this is beyond the power of engineering science. We know, too, that there is a great demand that is being felt for improved mechanical contrivances in the home and that sales of these are going along rapidly.

Housing Standards.

But the greatest field for increased consumption is in one of the fundamental needs—housing. There is ample evidence to indicate that the American public is not so well sheltered today as it was several years ago. It may appear an exaggeration to state that our standards of housing are lower than they were then; probably it is not true that people want nothing better or are satisfied with less; yet it seems to be certain they are getting along with poorer facilities in the way of residences.

The bureau of labor statistics, covering residential building in 257 cities with a population of about forty-three millions last year, estimates that $1,433,000,000 was spent for new construction. In 1928 the figure was four hundred and thirty million dollars larger. In every year since 1921 the amount of residential building was greater in dollars than in 1929, and in the banner year of 1925 it was greater by a billion dollars than last year.

Families provided with new homes last year were only fifty-six in 10,000 population, hardly half the ratio that prevailed in at least four of the past eight years. It cannot be argued that only half as many people want better homes as wanted them in 1925. Nor can it be said that 1930 will show, on the present record, any improvement over 1929.

"Strike Against Building."

The holdback in building is not psychological on the part of the consumer, or the prospective house owner, to give him another name. It is a matter of dollars and cents. Building is not attractive to him at the present cost levels. Building men call it a "strike against building." Authorities maintain that in St. Louis it costs more than twice as much to build a house as it did in 1913, while commodity prices are up only about 40 per cent.

The labor bureau has found that it cost more to house a single family in new quarters in 1929 than in any previous year.

It is undeniable that the building industry is the most potent force we have in direct effect on prosperity. At least twenty other industries employing millions of workers depend directly on it. It can be brought back to real vigor by adjusting its costs to other price levels; by making building as attractive financially as the purchase of a new automobile, for instance.

MIDLAND GAS PAYS $2,000,000 FOR OIL LEASES

Charleston, W. Va., July 11.—(AP)—Purchase of oil and gas leases to more than 23,000 acres of land in southwestern Pennsylvania, West Virginia and eastern Kentucky by the Midland Natural Gas company for a sum in excess of $2,000,000 was announced today by John Eoghan Kelly, vice president of the company.

The same company, which is controlled by interests affiliated with E. R. Riggs & Co., New York investment bankers, last May purchased 16,000 acres of oil and gas property in northern West Virginia and southwestern Pennsylvania. The consideration in that deal was $2,000,000.

Kelly said the properties purchased includes 181 producing wells and that the transaction increased the company's holdings to 38,000 acres and 356 wells.

WHEAT MAKES LOWEST FINISH OF THE SEASON

July Sells for 86½c at Close.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat made the lowest finish of the season yesterday, with a heavy undertone. Prices have been lower than the close of late, but when the real low levels were made there was a sharp rally. There was a pronounced bulge early in the day on better cables than were expected, with liberal buying.

At the top prices were up around 2c from the previous day's finish, followed by a break of around 3 to 4c and a finish at net losses of 1⅞ to 2¼c. July closed at 86½c, September 89⅝@89⅞, and December 95¼@95⅝c. All other American markets and Winnipeg had a sharp break at the last. It was one of the most disappointing markets the trade has experienced in a long time.

Hit Heavy Selling.

All strong spots ran into heavy selling on hedge accounts, as well as profit taking by holders. The theory was advanced by one close observer that the farm board was evidently selling out its cash wheat, as there has been too much pressure on every bulge of late, despite the fact that the heavy movement of wheat in the southwest, almost 3,000 cars at six points yesterday, were being hedged by sales of futures.

Top prices were made on buying induced by a report from Le Count, who claims damage in South Dakota by hot and dry weather. Donovan, another crop expert, sent unfavorable returns from southern North Dakota. There were complaints from Kansas. The government report was taken about as expected and it had little or no influence on wheat, but was considered as bullish on corn. Late weakness was created by reports of rain in the northwest, particularly in Montana, and a few scattered showers in Kansas.

Commission House Sales.

All the big commission houses, as a rule, had selling orders towards the last and, while there seemed to be a fairly good class of professional buying, they were swamped by the commission house sales. The week's exports of wheat and flour were larger, but the trade's impression is that they are too small to be of any help to holders of wheat in their effort to maintain a higher level of value.

Traders made bearish capital out of statements by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and Chairman Legge of the farm board, the latter announcing that the farm board will not buy any wheat and the market will have to take its natural course.

After the close there was a report that Senator Capper sent a request to Chairman Legge that the farm board buy 100,000,000 bu of wheat to stabilize the market.

Corn Firing in Nebraska.

Reports of corn firing in Nebraska, where temperatures have been 100 or more over a large part of the state for ten days, combined with hot and dry weather at numerous other points in the corn belt, made a stronger market and the close was ¼@¾c higher, with July 78½@78⅝c. September closed at 75⅞@76⅛c and December at 69⅜@69½c. Local traders in the main were bullish, although the government report was considered as bearish, from the standpoint of increased acreage and production. Country movement is light and shipping sales were 125,000 bu.

Active buying of December oats by cash interests here and in the northwest made for higher prices. The government report was not as favorable as expected. Nearby deliveries of oats were the strongest, gaining ¼c, with the close on July at 34⅜c. September was at 36½, while December, despite the good absorption, closed easy with considerable scattered selling pressure.

Rye was demoralized and finished around the lowest in a considerable time, with net losses of 1⅜@1½c. September was 50c, and December 55¼c.

Bohn Aluminum and Brass.

Please give me information about Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation. When are dividends payable? Do you consider the stock attractive at present price?—K. W.

About 40 per cent of Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation's revenue comes from the automotive industry, and the company's business is likely to fluctuate with conditions in the automobile and aircraft industries.

The lower earnings reported in 1929 resulted from adverse conditions during the last half of the year in the automotive business and also a transition within the company in the development of new lines.

Net profit in 1929 was $2,619,722, equal to $7.43 per share on 352,418 shares. Net profit in 1928 was $3,185,092, equal to $9.10 per share on 350,000 shares, against $1,181,606 in 1927.

The company has only one class of stock. As of December 31, 1929, bonded debt amounted to $1,901,900. Current assets were $6,450,256, and current liabilities were $1,374,810.

Net income for the first quarter of 1930 was $395,386, or $1.12 per share, against $1,019,753, or $2.91 per share in the first quarter of 1929.

Dividends in past years have been at varying rates. The present rate is $3 per year, payable quarterly, Jan. 2, etc.

The stock is medium grade.

Checker Cab Manufacturing.

Please give me your opinion of the Checker Cab Manufacturing corporation.—L. E.

Checker Cab Manufacturing corporation's earnings have increased sharply since the losses reported in the period from 1925 to 1927, but results for the first quarter of the current year were decidedly lower than those reported in the like period last year.

In 1929 net income was $4,280,416, equal to $11.41 per share on 375,000 shares, against $765,174 in 1928.

In the quarter ended March 31, 1930, net profit was $395,054, or $1.05 per share, against $1,791,767, or $4.77 per share, in the first 1929 quarter.

At the end of 1929 current assets were around four times current liabilities, and working capital amounted to $7,459,619.

Dividends of 35 cents monthly have been paid since Jan. 2, 1930. The stock is somewhat speculative.

Bond Prices Keep Right On Climbing

New York, July 11.—(AP)—Prices of investment issues continued their upward climb in the listed bond market today, although some which have profited greatly from the demand this week failed to hold their gains. On the whole the advances and the activity were less than on Thursday, the banner day since last March. Trading started at a brisk pace, but slowed down.

The investment demand, however, continued for high grade railroad, utility, and foreign bonds, and the average for utility issues reached the highest point in three years. Stock privilege issues were hesitant after early strength and some recessions occurred as equity issues weakened. At the close convertible bonds were irregularly higher. Trading in United States government bonds was dull and lower prices were the rule.

Bank and institutional buying held prime corporation issues on their upward course, although some declines followed early gains. Atchison general 4s touched a new high and then sold off ¼ in thin trading. Union Pacific refunding 4s, popular with banks and institutions, were strong, rising to a new 1930 high on a 1⅜ point gain, St. Louis, San Francisco, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey issues were steady. A large inquiry developed for Big Four 4½s, Nashville, Chattanooga, and St. Louis 4s, and Southern railway 4s.

A dozen or more rail issues established new high marks for the year. Among them were Chesapeake and Ohio 4½s, several Burlington issues, Elgin, Joliet and Eastern 5s, the new Great Northern 4½s, Illinois Central 5s, Nashville, Chattanooga, and St. Louis 4s, New York Connecting rail way 5s, and St. Louis Southwestern 5s.

By and large the utilities as a group made the best showing of the day. American Telephone 5s, Brooklyn Union Gas 5s, Laclede Gas Light 5½s, and Public Service Electric and Gas 4½s, were taken off the market at the highest prices of the year. Denver Gas and Electric 5s gained 2½ points on a small turnover.

Foreign government issues were well bought, and British 5½s, Canadian 5s, French 7s, Japan 5½s, Norway 6s, sold at the close to the highest levels on the year. Lautaro Nitrate warrant 6s soared 3½ points on reports that the Chilean senate had approved the nitrate combine.

STEEL MERGER TRIAL SETTLES TO DEPOSITIONS

Youngston, O., July 11.—(AP)—Trial of the injunction suit to halt merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company with Bethlehem Steel corporation settled to the dullnes of depositions today before adjourning over the week end.

Most of the depositions—read into the record by anti-merger attorneys representing the Cyrus S. Eaton interests—concerned the stock transactions which took place during the spring proxy battle over the merger. They were presented in an effort to show much of the stock was illegally voted at the stockholders' meeting last April 8.

It was at the April 8 meeting that sale of the Youngstown company to Bethlehem was approved by more than a two-thirds majority. In addition to the ground that some of the stock was voted illegally, dissenting stockholders claim the officers of the Youngstown company concealed information that would have shown the merger to be unfair to Sheet and Tube on the basis of one and one-third Bethlehem stock to one Youngstown stock.

Plaintiffs in the suit are Myron C. Wick Jr. of Cleveland and the International Share corporation, as stockholders. The latter concern is controlled by Eaton. When court opens Monday the trial will be in its seventh day. Two witnesses have been on the stand, Chairman James A. Campbell of the Youngstown company, and H. G. Dalton of Cleveland, who is a director in both Youngstown and Bethlehem and a partner of Pickands, Mather & Co., one firm, which, he testified, holds valuable ore contracts with both steel companies.

The depositions are presented in support of the anti-merger group's charge that stock was voted by persons not entitled to vote it. In the testimony preceding the depositions, the plaintiffs sought to show that Dalton, in negotiating for the merger, was actuated by his interest in Pickands, Mather & Co., and that Campbell worked for the deal because he had been promised a "position of dignity" with Bethlehem. Both charges were denied by the witnesses.

Tri-Continental Corp. Reports 6 Months' Profit

New York, July 11.—(AP)—Tri-Continental corporation, $80,000,000 investment trust sponsored by J. & W. Seligman & Co., reports net profit for the first half of the year of $4,381,912, equal after preferred dividends to $1.52 per common share. After allowing for the preferred stock at par, the liquidating value, with securities taken at market quotations, amounted to $15.45 per common share, a slight reduction from Jan. 1, when the liquidating value was $15.54. Total assets, with securities at market value, were $80,224,121, of which 44½ per cent consisted of cash, loans, bonds, and preferred stocks, and 53½ per cent, common stocks.

LOW PRICES OF COPPER BRING FOREIGN BUYING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 11.—Fair demand for copper by foreign buyers came into the market today as the price of the metal, which had been a half cent above domestic parity, was marked down to 11.80 cents a pound from 12.30. The cut followed a reduction by producers yesterday in domestic copper to 11½ cents from 12 cents, after some custom smelters had been selling at the lower price.

Domestic copper remained at 11½ cents and there was no great selling pressure at that level. However, the possibility of a further reduction was discussed in copper circles.

Domestic buying slackened as consumers marked time to see whether custom smelters would offer metal below 11½ cents. Some bids were placed at 11¼, and it was reported heavy tonnage could have been sold around 11 cents.

Evidence that some producers had been unloading the metal below market prices was seen in the report that $2,000,000 pounds of copper were sold for domestic account in the four business days ended Wednesday, most of which was said to have been speculative buying for September shipment.

Court Orders Sale of Gary (Ind.) K. of C. Building

Hammond, Ind., July 11.—(AP)—An order for the sale of the $1,000,000 Knights of Columbus club and hotel building in Gary, one of the finest in northern Indiana, was entered today by Judge Cleveland in Superior court to meet outstanding first mortgage bonds worth $225,000 held by the Fletcher American National bank of Indianapolis as trustee. Madison Walsh of Indianapolis is receiver for the Madison Realty company of Gary, owners of the building.

Estimate Milwaukee Road June Gross of $11,734,000

Gross revenues of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific railroad declined $2,819,000 in June from the corresponding month last year, according to preliminary estimates. Gross earnings for the month are estimated at $11,734,000. Net railway operating income will be about $547,000, a decrease of about $1,542,000 as compared with last year.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 11.—Tired out, probably by its four days of uphill plugging, the stock market began to wabble anew today. Profittakers fell upon it in the late dealings and professional bear traders did a little war dance at its expense in utter disregard to proprieties.

It was not a serious setback by any means. Indeed, losses of more than 2 points were rare among the leaders and there were enough plus signs in virtually every section of the list to save the day from being a rout. But the constructive crowd has been persuading itself—or trying to at any rate—that the advance was wound up for some steady going and the sudden upset must have filled some of them with downright alarm.

Trading Turns Dull.

It was obvious, however, that the bear leaders were not any too sure of their advantage. They were loath to press their operations very far in any direction and this backwardness together with the absence of any aggressive buying caused the market to turn extremely dull around midday and continue so through to the close. The turnover amounted to 1,525,700 shares as compared with yesterday's total of 2,167,050.

Neither side could find much inspiration in the day's news. Many of the second quarter earnings statements made public recently have not been as bad as many persons anticipated but there are others yet to come and no one doubts that some of them are not going to exactly sparkle with optimism. The drop of $16,000,000 in brokers' loans for the week was not much of a market factor nor was the cut in call money from 2½ to 2 per cent—the lowest rate in about a week.

A fresh break in wheat in the afternoon, coincident with the reports of rains where needed in the northwest and Canada also probably influenced some selling in the last hour, although the most of the liquidation undoubtedly came from those bent on skimming off the cream of their week's endeavors and getting out for the week-end.

Day's Feature.

The feature of the day's proceedings was the increasingly strong resistance shown to selling pressure. Opening prices were generally higher but offerings began to appear in growing volume and numerous issues eased off one to two points or more. Among the sometime stalwarts caught in the receding tide were United States Steel, Westinghouse, Air Reduction, American Telephone and Telegraph, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Warner Brothers, Paramount, Case, and National Cash Register. Most of these rallied later only to fall back in a midday reaction, start out afresh and give way again in the last hour selling flurry.

Vanadium was an outstanding performer, advancing to 84½ in the early trading as against yesterday's low of 78¼, later dropping back to 81⅜, which left it with a net loss of 1½ points on the day's operations. Trading in the issue at times was quite brisk.

Soft tendencies were manifest early in most of the rails which have been going along so nicely here of late and losses of 1 to 4 points were registered by Atchison, Norfolk and Western, Chesapeake and Ohio and others.

Silver Crisis Results in Failure of Chinese Bank

SHANGHAI, July 11.—(AP)—The Chinese Industrial and Commercial bank, with headquarters in Hongkong, and branches in Shanghai and Canton, failed today as the result of exchange operations growing out of the present silver price slump. Losses were estimated at $600,000 gold. Many foreign depositers were involved. The failure gave rise to rumors many other Chinese banks were shaky because of alleged losses from exchange speculations.

CHICAGO STOCKS MAKE A FAIRLY GOOD SHOWING

North American Car Runs Up 2½ Points.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Except in a few spots where pressure was directed, the Chicago stock list was reasonably steady yesterday. Trading was dull with transactions for the session barely exceeding 125,000 shares. The market's behavior was on the whole satisfying to most observers, who had looked for something of a let down following the upswing on the previous day.

The buoyancy of the market on Thursday was attributed largely to short covering and a renewal of selling by the shorts when the market began to ease was not unexpected. But when prices started to slip yesterday the selling dried up and the list was able to make a fairly creditable showing at the close.

Majestic Declines.

There were one or two stocks, however, that were subject to rather heavy selling. Majestic Household was one of these, which sold off 2 points on transactions of approximately 11,000 shares. Grigsby was more stubborn, easing only a fraction on lighter turnover.

Among the miscellaneous stocks good gains were made by Great Lakes Dredge, U. S. Radio, and North American Car. The latter ran up 2½ points, while the others registered lesser gains.

Motor and accessory shares displayed uniform weakness, but the recessions in no instance were sharp. Auburn, which had enjoyed an 8 point run up on the previous day in anticipation of its earnings report, settled back a point following publication of the statement. Bendix and Borg Warner each declined a fraction.

Utilities Steady.

The utility stocks showed more steadiness than any other section of the list. Changes in the group were largely fractional, and in the majority of cases on the credit side. Middle West with the heaviest sales volume of the day advanced to 28, then settled back a fraction to close with a small net gain.

Cities Service closed unchanged after 2,000 shares changed hands, and Missouri Kansas edged up a fraction. North American Light was down around a point at the end of the day.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

The week close in wheat was taken by most traders as indicating the belief that uncertainty as to rains in the northwest makes the bull position unfavorable at present. Sharp declines are expected to follow every good bulge until there is a broader speculative buying from commission houses.

A point was made at the close that despite the increase in the government crop report of 26,000,000 bu of winter wheat, the figures on yields in the southwest and middle west are still too low.

Referring to cables saying that import requirements of European countries would be heavier, a bear leader says, "We have been told that repeatedly, but we have not shared this view because financial conditions in Europe are such that they are only buying from hand to mouth, and no doubt their consumption is also curtailed."

CHICAGO CURB EXCHANGE STOCKS

Further signs of returning confidence and activity on the Chicago curb exchange were seen yesterday in a well diversified fractional advance in which oil and gas issues were prominent. Trading at 10½ marked the initial appearance of Midwest Consolidated Utilities no par class A stock.

SPICE COMPANY BUYS SIX STORY BUILDING ON 17TH

Cosmopolitan State Bank Enlarges Quarters.

The Wixon Spice company, importer and grinder of spices, has purchased from Arthur H. Swett and others the 99 year leasehold estate and six story building on the south side of 17th street, extending from Clark street to Federal street, for a reported $100,000. The spice company plans to spend about $25,000 on alterations and to occupy the building May 1, 1931.

Fronting 100 feet on 17th street, the property extends south 127 feet on both Clark and Federal. Mrs. Irene Karcher and others own the fee and the lease has 56 years yet to run. The Wixon Spice company was organized in 1898 and its present quarters are at 33 West Austin avenue. James B. Bond is president of the firm. Castle, Williams, Long & Castle were attorneys for the Swett interests and Charles R. Glass acted for the spice company.

Bank Enlarges Building.

Construction is under way on a $50,000 addition to the building of the Cosmopolitan State bank at the northeast corner of Chicago avenue and Clark street, in which will be housed the Cosmopolitan Bond and Mortgage company and the trust department of the bank. The addition, which will be at 807-11 North Clark, will be one story high and will harmonize architecturally with the main bank building.

The new structure will measure 60 x159 feet. A part of the foundation under it will be sufficiently strong to carry a much taller structure. The Cosmopolitan bank some time ago announced that eventually it would build a tall edifice at the corner. Schmidt, Garden & Erikson are architects for the addition. Gustave F. Fischer is president of the bank and chairman of the board of the mortgage company which is now located at 1822 West Chicago avenue.

Sees Building Gain.

A. E. Dickinson, president of the Indiana Limestone company, sees in figures compiled in a national construction survey conducted by his company evidence of a slight upward trend in certain types of buildings. Mr. Dickinson believes that this activity should gain momentum in the next 60 days, with prospects for better progress during the latter part of the year.

Goodson & Wilson have sold to a syndicate headed by L. L. O'Bryan the property at the southwest corner of Devon and Kedvale avenues, 82x100 feet, for a reported $30,450. The syndicate recently purchased property at the corner of Touhy and Cicero and a parcel of apartment lots near Crawford and Lincoln. E. E. Manning of Goodson & Wilson represented all parties.

REPOSSESSED USED CARS OFFERED AT REMARKABLE BARGAIN PRICES!

YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO OVERLOOK THIS MONEY-SAVING EVENT

THE STUDEBAKER SALES CO. OF CHICAGO had agreed to act as seller of all the foreclosed cars of the Michigan Federal Finance Co. These cars will be disposed of regardless of original cost, and at prices that will enable you to make a sensational saving.

PIERCE-ARROW LIMOUSINE, Model 33, that was chauffeur driven. It's in marvelous condition considering our low price. $95.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN, Std. Six. The performance is very smooth and the appearance is unusually clean. $125.

DODGE COUPE. Has thousands of miles of unused transportation. This is an ideal vacation car and will be sold at once at our special price of $125.

OLDSMOBILE COACH. The motor runs smoothly and quietly and the appearance is attractive. Has trunk, 5 good tires, bumpers, etc. $175.

PACKARD SEDAN. We recommend this as one of our best buys. It's exceptionally clean throughout and must be seen to be appreciated. Has a sweet running motor. $185.

ESSEX COUPE. It's finished an attractive tan and the equipment includes shutter fronts, spare tire, bumpers, etc. It's a late model, and the motor, finish, and tires are in dandy condition. $195.

STUDEBAKER ROADSTER. This snappy car runs like clockwork and the appearance is very attractive. Has windshield wings, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $195.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN, 1927 Commander finished a smart color. This car was chauffeur driven and the result is it's in topnotch condition today. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $285.

PONTIAC COACH. A demonstration and inspection will convince you that this car is in splendid running condition and very attractive in appearance. Many valuable extras. $345.

CHEVROLET SEDAN, 1929 Six, actually used only 5¼ mos. It's in wonderful condition now as it will be sold at once at our price of $395.

OAKLAND ROADSTER. This car must be seen to be appreciated. Stone guard on rumble seat. The finish is bright and shiny and the upholstery and interior unworn. 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $295. Also a 1928 OAKLAND COACH, like new, for $369.

HUDSON SEDAN. A late model with a wealth of extras. This car certainly looks and runs as though it were direct from the factory, and it will not remain long at our price of $395.

CADILLAC LIMOUSINE. Was given unusual care by the original owner, so it will please you in every particular today. Has 4 whl. brakes and a wealth of extra equipment. Special for $425.

ERSKINE CLUB SEDAN, 1929, that you will be proud to own. It's A-1 mechanically and very detail of the interior appears new. 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, 5 new tires, bumpers, etc. $445.

CHRYSLER COUPE. Late model, equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Has a sweet running motor. Rumble seat. $445.

MARMON SEDAN. Late model little 8 that your neighbors could not tell from brand new car. The finish, upholstery and tires are A-1 in every respect. Motor is very efficient. $445.

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT, 1927 Big Six 7 pass. Sedan that will please the most exacting buyer. Oiled and greased every 500 miles by the original owner, and in wonderful condition today. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $485.

BUICK SEDAN. This late Mast. 6 was owned by a prominent manufacturer. The finish, upholstery and tires are in the original new condition and the motor runs very smoothly and quietly. With 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $845.

AUBURN CLUB SEDAN. Late model 8-88 with very low mileage. This is a low-slung car with a world of power and pep. Has hundreds of dollars' worth of valuable equipment. $545.

WILLYS-KNIGHT SEDAN, 1928 that was driven on Sundays and evenings for pleasure purposes, so it's in marvelous condition today. This car is the last word for sparkling performance and attractive appearance. Special for $550.

GRAHAM-PAIGE CABRIOLET, 1929 conv. model. We defy anybody to tell this from a brand new car. It has an unusually smart paint job, wire wheels, side mounts, trunk, driving light, shock absorbers, and other extras. Roomy rumble seat. This car is a beauty and it's a real bargain at our price of $595

STUDEBAKER 8 SEDAN, 1929 President that was carefully checked over by expert Studebaker mechanics, and now it carries a 30 day free service guarantee. Every feature is absolutely in brand new condition. $895.

BIRD-SYKES OFFERS BETTER CARS AT LOWER PRICES

In addition, we offer a larger selection of better cars than you will find in any other store in Chicago. The trade-ins on the Graham motor car come from people who do not "drive their cars to pieces." Bird-Sykes Golden Rule Guarantee, an unbroken policy for 27 years, goes with every car we sell. We have closed our outlying used car departments for the remainder of the year and centered our entire stock at our Main Stores:

2211 MICHIGAN-AV.

125 EAST 22D-ST.

This surplus stock of used cars is considerably greater than our facilities can accommodate, consequently we have made drastic price cuts on everything. Your goodwill is a distinct asset with us—that is why you can rely on any Bird-Sykes statement to the letter.
